For sewer, water improvement

FHA approves loans for village projects

BLOOMINGBURG — The Farmers Home Administration has approved two loans totaling $472,000 for the village of Bloomingburg for utility improvement projects.

The village council received bids on four projects totaling nearly $1 million Jan. 22, and the loans will provide funds for the portion of the improvement projects which are not federally funded. The programs call for improvement of the water treatment plant, purchase and installation of water meters, construction of a sewage treatment plant, and installation of a sewage collection system.

A federal grant will provide 75 per cent of the cost of the two sewer projects. Approval of a grant up to $745,725 has already been awarded to the village. The remaining 25 per cent of the sewer programs and all of the cost of the two water projects will be financed by the FHA loans.

Seeing the final stages of the programs approaching has been a personally rewarding experience for Bloomingburg Mayor Max E. Grim. Obtaining the FHA loans marked the passing of the last major obstacle blocking actual construction, a project the mayor initiated shortly after taking office eight years ago. Grim, who is beginning his third term as the village mayor, said his desire to see the project through to its completion was one of the factors which prompted him to see reelection last November.

The village council will meet Tuesday night to consider accepting four of the 48 bids submitted on the projects. M.M. Schirtzinger, of Chillicothe, project engineer, has been reviewing each of the three lowest bids on each project to verify that they meet the specifications of the contract for which they were submitted. He has approved the lowest bid for each contract and recommends their acceptance by council, Grim said.

If the lowest bids are accepted, the cost of the two sewer projects would total $823,822. The cost of the water contracts would be $117,295. Total construction costs would be $941,117. Even after adding engineers fees and other costs, the total project cost should fall well below the $1,156,300 estimate.

The sum of the sewer grant and the FHA loans is more than $1,200,000, and the cost should fall well below the limit of funds which the village has provided.

Grim said the loan approval is for all of the water project cost plus 25 per cent of the sewer project "up to" $472,000. The actual amount borrowed will be only what is necessary to cover costs.

The water project will increase the filtering capacity of the plant. Originally designed to filter only 60,000 gallons of water per day, the system has been providing 100,000 gallons per day, and the result is water which is very high in iron content.

In addition to expanding the filtering capabilities, the village will sink a second well to meet future needs and to provide an emergency water supply if difficulty is encountered in the present well.

The installation of meters will allow the village to bill residents according to their water usage rather than abiding by a fixed rate. The sewage charge will also be based on the amount of water consumed.

Construction on each of the projects is expected to range from one year to 18 months.

The FHA loans will be repaid over a 30-year period from sewer and water revenues. The interest rate on the loans is five per cent.

The mayor said the only direct cost to the homeowner will be installing sewer lines from his home to the trunk lines in front of their residences.

The mayor also noted that the functional stages of a $12,000 water tower repair project have been completed. The tower has been welded and refilled with water. The tower still needs a coat of paint, but crews will wait until spring to begin that portion of the work. He added that the cost of repairs is being paid directly from the water fund.

POLICE AWARENESS was praised by a Sabina resident in a letter read by Washington C.H. City Manager George H. Shapter at Wednesday's Council meeting . . .

The author of the letter was changing the rear wheels of his truck one night in an area of the Washington Square Shopping Center which has a reputation for being a hangout for wayward juveniles when approached by a Washington C.H. police officer . . .

The Sabina man was pleased that the officer had been alert to the fact that "suspicious" is a mild understatement for someone loading tires and wheels into the back of a truck in the middle of the night . . .

The writer was also pleased that the policeman (whom he could not identify) found the unusual story of how he had come to be in this predicament too strange to be anything but the truth . . .

He found the officer who turned out to be Pt. Larry Mongold both alert to the potential for theft and gracious in his handling of the situation, and he felt obliged to convey his feelings to the city manager . . .

WHILE CLOSING its doors to customers in the Washington C.H. area, the Borden Burger on Columbus Avenue has left out-patient children at Fayette County Memorial Hospital a parting gift . . .

The restaurant donated to the hospital a collection of toys which presumably had been used as gifts for patrons . . . Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz said the toys will be given to out-patients to brighten their hospital encounters . . . He expressed his gratitude to Borden Burger officials for their kindness . . .

For city in traffic light program

Time running out

BY GEORGE MALEK

Six years ago a federal law required changes in traffic signal devices nationwide, and time will run out before Washington C.H. complies.

According to engineer Donald L. Conley, the city's traffic lights will become invalid long before Washington C.H. will be able to comply with the "stop light" regulations.

Conley's assessment of the current situation was presented Wednesday night during the City Council meeting. Conley also discussed the status of the city's application for federal community development funds.

Conley stated that state and federal law required that all signal-controlled intersections have two sets of lights facing each approach by Dec. 31, 1976. To this point, the city has taken very little positive action to change traffic signals in Washington C.H. in order to comply, and he estimates the project will require at least 18 months before erection of additional lights could even begin.

Due to its late start, the city is in jeopardy of losing some federal funding which is available and will undoubtedly have invalid traffic lights. It should, however, be able to preserve state revenue from gasoline and license plate taxes which might also be lost if some affirmative action is not taken in the near future.

The city's position is still a long way from admirable. The cost of complying in the downtown business district alone has been estimated as high as $311,000, of which some $93,000 must come from the city coffers.

The reasons for the duplication of traffic signals is so that traffic can be controlled when one light malfunctions and so that motorists can view one light when a truck or obstacle blocks the other. The change was mandated in 1970, and cities across the county were given six years to comply.

In order to ease the financial hardships brought about by the requirement, the federal government will fund 70 per cent of the cost of the improvement. Money has been set aside for that purpose, but a portion of the monies which remain unclaimed by June 30, 1977 will be returned to the government for use elsewhere.

Conley's estimate predicted that Washington C.H. would not be in a position to request its funds until after that date, and this might cause the city to lose part of its program funds, he said.

The reason for the tremendous expense of adding just 15 traffic signals, Conley explained, is that the downtown area has a synchronized system. All the lights are timed from a central unit, and the new lights would have to be compatible with their mates. He added that he had tried to include every conceivable expense, and if anything, the estimate should be high.

Conley said the city would have to hire an engineering firm to draw detailed plans of the proposed system which would then be submitted to the Ohio Department of Transportation for approval. However, the city's choice of engineers must be approved by the Ohio Department of Transportation and that alone could take six to nine months.

Four more months would be required to draw the plans, and the transportation department would then tie the proposal in bureaucratic tape for several months before reviewing the drawings. They are eventually returned to the engineer for modification and then must be resubmitted to the state transportation department and that alone could take six to nine months.

Four more months would be required to draw the plans, and the transportation department would then tie the proposal in bureaucratic tape for several months before reviewing the drawings. They are eventually returned to the engineer for modification and then must be resubmitted to the state transportation department again. The transportation department then advertises for bids, and finally the city can claim its grant money.

Council was anything but pleased to learn that $93,000 in street funds would be needed for the city's share—especially when the downtown area account for only about half the city's traffic lights.

Although it appears Council will have no choice but to find the money somewhere, members refrained from taking any action until they could investigate possible sources of revenue.

Conley as well as Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott urged action in the very near future. Scott said that when the lights become invalid at the end of the year, no one can "crash" a red light. The red, green and yellow lights will, under the law, become meaningless. It will definitely create a problem for law enforcement officers, he said.

Viewing the situation from a slightly different angle,

All legislation unanimously approved

Council sets budget work session

Washington C. H. City Council members Wednesday night encountered no difficulty agreeing of five pieces of legislature, but found it hard to schedule a meeting for the next budget work session.

Council members unanimously approved the first reading of appropriations bill, approved resolutions lauding two police department retirees and named an appointee to the library board in addition to submitting an application for free street painting.

When finance committee chairman Mrs. Bertha McCullough sought to have a work session established for further work on budget, however, unity was lost.

Council members Ralph Cook and Eddie Fisher were both absent from the meeting. Cook is vacationing, and Fisher is recovering from surgery on his foot. The first suggestion for a budget meeting was Feb. 9, a date by which both absent Council members are expected to return.

Mrs. McCullough urged more rapid action on the budget and recommended Feb. 2, a week earlier. She said it was likely that Fisher would be able to attend a meeting on that date and stressed the importance of resolving the budget deficit quickly. Each day the city operates on an uncut budget, she said, the more drastic the eventual reductions will have to be.

Council member James Ward echoed similar sentiments. He said that while he would prefer having all Council members present for such a meeting, he thought it was more important that Council reach agreement on the matter as soon as possible.

Council member John Morris, however, said the budget question was too immense for consideration by less than a full compliment of the city's legislators. He said he would be unable to attend any work session until Cook and Fisher were available.

Council member Billie Wilson said the matter could be handled in a regular Council session and added that he was considering a boycott of any "special" meetings on the topic.

The possibility of a morning meeting was suggested by Ward. He noted that two other meetings had been approximately two hours each, and Council was still far from completing its task. The first-term Council member recommended an early start and adjournment only after some method of meeting the budget deficit of approximately $130,000 had been rectified.

Since it was apparent that a quorum of City Council was unlikely on any date prior to Feb. 9, that date obtained reluctant consent from Ward and Mrs. McCullough. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m., "and (let's) work on through," said the finance chairman.

Council chairman Joseph O'Brien noted that Cook might not be back in time for the meeting and it might have to be shifted to the following day.

THE ORDINANCE placed on its first reading appropriates $197,539 of general fund and sewer grant monies for payment of bills which are due. Almost all of that amount, $195,012, has been received by the city from the federal government for payment to the C.F. Bird and R. J. Bull, Ltd., engineering firm of Worthington for work on the first phase of the sewer project.

The remainder of the money includes payment of $1,027 to the state of Ohio as reimbursement of unemployment compensation paid to a former city

Hearst jury selection secret

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery, described by the judge at the start as the "most fully covered case in the country," has gone behind closed doors while the jury is picked.

A critical preliminary phase — the questioning of prospective jurors about the effects of massive publicity given Miss Hearst between her 1974 kidnapping and her arrest last Sept. 18 — is being conducted in private.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter left more than 100 reporters representing newspapers from many parts of the world outside in a corridor Wednesday as he questioned prospective jurors.

Four women were tentatively seated on the panel and three dismissed. Carter, who had hoped to seat a jury Wednesday, told attorneys he anticipates completing the selection by Friday.

The four tentative jurors selected Wednesday, subject to peremptory challenge later, were Carol Waller of San Francisco, wife of a loan officer at the Wells Fargo Bank; Barbara Lawson, an employee of the San Mateo Heart Association; Jean Witte, a Danville housewife and mother of three; and Marilyn Wentz of Hayward, a dental assistant with four children.

It appeared likely the defense would challenge the seating of Mrs. Waller because of her husband's employment in a bank.

Deaths, Funerals

Paul L. Johns

Paul L. Johns, 55, of 624 Grace St., died Thursday morning in Veterans Administration Hospital, Cincinnati, where he had been a patient two weeks.

A retired truck driver, he had been ill for one year. He was a World War II U.S. Army veteran, a member of the Homer Lawson Post, American Legion, and the Disabled American Veterans.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Halthcock; two sons, Ronald Eugene of 310 Bereman St., and David L., at home; two grandchildren; three brothers, Robert, William and Jackie Johns, all of Washington C. H.; and four sisters, Mrs. Mary Jo Tyree, 1028 E. Paint St., Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Delaware St., Mrs. Patricia Lawson of Englewood, Calif., and Mrs. Martha Franklin of Columbus.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in the Gertsner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. H. Porter of Dayton officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 9 p.m. Sunday.

Harold E. Acton

FRANKFORT — Services for Harold E. Acton, 77, of Frankfort, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Frankfort United Methodist Church with the Rev. David White officiating. Burial will be in Greenlawn Cemetery, Frankfort, under the direction of the Fisher Funeral Home, Frankfort.

Mr. Acton, a retired employe of the record department at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute, died at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in Fort Meyers, Fla. He was born at Frankfort, and was a member of the United Methodist Church, Frankfort Lodge No. 309, F&AM, and Concord Chapter No. 520, Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, the former Irene Miller; two sisters, Mrs. Everett (Lulu) Baird, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., and Mrs. Walter (Helen) Schweitzer of Chillicothe; and a brother, Roger C. Acton of Gahanna. He was preceded in death by two brothers and a sister.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 9 p.m. and until noon on Saturday, then at the United Methodist Church until time for the service. Friends, if they wish, may contribute to the church or to their favorite charity.

Masonic services will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

J. Willard Harley

CHILLICOTHE — J. Willard (Bill) Harley, 65, Rt. 1, Chillicothe, died at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe, following an extended illness.

A native of Washington C. H., Mr. Harley had been employed as a nursing aide in Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital for 29 years prior to his retirement in 1972. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, the former Opal Wilson, whom he married in 1945; three brothers, Howard of Washington C. H., Robert of Gelina, and Otis of Cucamonga, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Jack (Ruth) Ferree of Columbus and Mrs. Evelyn Wilson of Chillicothe. One sister preceded him in death.

Private services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Fawcett-Oliver-Glass Funeral Home, Chillicothe. Burial will be in Twin Township Cemetery, and there will be no calling hours.

J. Robert Murphy

COLUMBUS — Mass will be sung at 10 a.m. Friday in Immaculate Conception Church, Columbus, for J. Robert Murphy, 85, of 76 W. Pacemont Road, Columbus, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Riverside Hospital Tuesday of smoke inhalation. His home was gutted from flames, Columbus firemen said.

Mr. Murphy, the brother-in-law of Miss Mary Francis Snider and Mrs. Stella Murphy, both of Washington C. H., was a former employe of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and Cudahy's in Washington C. H., and also a retired electrical engineer of Children's Hospital. He was a member of Immaculate Conception Church.

He is survived by two sons, Frank Murphy of Columbus, and Joseph Murphy of Delaware; and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Van Dusem of Michigan and Mrs. John Bacus of Columbus; 11 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Southwick Funeral Chapel, 3100 N. High St., from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in St. Colman Cemetery, Washington C.H.

Westinghouse recalls workers

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Westinghouse has recalled 90 workers at its small motors plant here, bringing the number of hourly employees to 600, with another 35 workers yet to be called back from furloughs.

I would like to thank all my many friends and neighbors for their kindness and concern during our loss of loved ones, Jeffery and James Rinehart.

Especially Martha and Ned Kinzer, the ambulance drivers for their kindness shown to us at our time of need. Also, Rev. Toler, Rev. Orihood, Dean Manns, the pallbearers, Dr. Gebhart and Dr. Shaw, Fayette Memorial Hospital and the nurses in the 400 wing.

May God bless you all.

City Manager George H. Shapter pointed out that the city might be held liable if someone was injured in an intersection. The city manager will attempt to research possible funding as well as city liability and report at the next Council meeting.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT plans were also presented by Conley. These plans are essentially unchanged from 1975 when they were prepared by another engineering firm for submission with an application for federal community development funds. The application was rejected last year.

The application had sought approximately $300,000 in federal funds to make community improvements in 11 different categories. The thrust of the project administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is to assist the elderly, the handicapped and low-income groups. No city funds of any kind would be required because HUD funds approved programs 100 per cent.

Among the projects proposed in the community development plan are establishing a revolving fund for demolition of condemned housing, cutting of curbs in the downtown area to assist the handicapped and elderly, curb and gutter construction in low-income areas, a study of urban traffic flow, creation of a new park and improvement of parks along Paint Creek, residential cleanup, and a study of the financial status of city residents as well as the tax base.

Conley stated that the plans appeared sound, and indicated the reason for the previous rejection may have been that copies were sent to the wrong places. He stated that the plans, with minor revisions, had already been approved by the state clearing house. This means that they are not in violation of any state guidelines or regulations, he explained. The next step is to submit them to HUD, and he hoped Council would give its approval.

After Conley answered a few questions on the proposal, Council voted quickly to have the plans submitted.

As the discussions came to a close, Conley said that if the community development grant was approved, some of the monies might be used to pay costs connected with the traffic lighting project. One of the areas for which a grant is sought is traffic control.

He added that any part or parts of the proposal could be rejected by HUD without having the entire application dismissed. Any part or parts of the plan could be approved on its own merit.

Program tied to Ohio's tax income

Unvoted bond issues eyed in General Assembly plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unvoted bond issues for capital improvements projects would be allowed under the terms of a constitutional amendment recommended for passage by a House committee on Wednesday.

The House Ways and Means Committee gave its blessings to a bill drafted by the Constitutional Revision Commission setting a floating ceiling on state debt.

The ceiling would be determined by the amount of tax revenues the state collects.

Rep. Marcus Roberto, D-62 Ravenna, House sponsor said the measure would allow a more orderly and responsible method of financing state projects.

"It is intended to provide a more rational capital improvements program based on a state plan, on a basis of need rather than depending entirely on the political climate for voting on economic issues," Roberto said.

Under the constitution, multimillion dollar bond issues for construction projects must be approved by a vote of the people.

The proposed amendment would alter that provision, substituting a ceiling based on a percentage of the average tax revenues available for appropriation.

Debt could be used only for capital improvements. Any bond issues above the limit still would require a vote of the people.

The ceiling would change from year to year depending on tax revenues. But a rough figure of $300 million is usually taken as representative.

The limit would be either six per cent of tax revenues, for debt service, or eight per cent of tax revenues, for outstanding principal, whichever is lower.

Roberto said he does not plan to push for quick consideration of the proposal on the House floor.

"The only hope the resolution has is for bipartisan support of legislators who are interested in resolving the capital improvements problems we face biannually," he said.

He said he will try to explain the measure thoroughly to House members before bringing it to a vote.

If approved by the House and Senate, the measure would have to be approved by a vote of the people before it became effective.

employe and $1,500 to Ralph Woolpert and Co. of Cincinnati for work completed on an application for federal community development grant in 1975. The latter bill which was due last year was misplaced by both the city and the engineering firm and was never paid.

A resolution appointing Mrs. Helen Reed, 619 Fairway Drive, to the Carnegie Public Library board of trustees was approved by City Council. It was noted at the same time that Paul A. Hays, another member of the board of trustees, had submitted his resignation, and Council will have to make another appointment.

Council members passed a resolution of cooperation which will enable the city to apply for free painting of street markings. The Ohio Department of Transportation would provide all materials and labor for painting streets with thermal plastic markings if application is approved.

City officials are optimistic that such approval will be granted. Similar programs have been utilized to replace signs, sign posts, and to repair railroad crossings in the city during the past several years.

It was noted that a great deal of time and effort on the project had been spent by city inspector Glenn Tatman in preparing required diagrams of the existing street markings.

Separate resolutions recognizing outstanding service to the city on the part of Capt. Charles Foster and Sgt. Virgil Harris of the Washington C. H. Police Dept. were unanimously approved by Council. The two officers who served in local law enforcement for a total of more than 50 years.

They will be honored at a retirement party at the Terrace Lounge tonight.

Stock list edges up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged upward today, struggling to regain its upward momentum after two sessions dominated by profit taking.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was just slightly ahead of its closing level Wednesday, and gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market was getting some support from a continued downturn in short term money rates.

But they noted that it still seemed to be caught between the opposing forces of profit taking and buying to join in the dramatic rally of the past several weeks.

Today's early prices included Kennecott Copper, up 1/4 at 32 1/4; Ryder System, ahead 3/4 at 10 3/4; Caterpillar Tractor, 3/4 higher at 80, and Ford Motor, down 3/4 at 48 3/4.

Windshield spree proves costly

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati high school students told police they went on a car damaging rampage out of frustration because girls would not dance with them in bars they frequented.

Police said 27 cars were involved for an estimated total of $5,000. Police said most of the car windshields were smashed with a baseball bat extended from a moving car while others were smashed by thrown bricks.

A hearing for William L. Crawford, 18, was continued in Criminal Court to Feb. 4. A 16-year-old companion was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Now playing at La Comedia:

"Mary, Mary"- a must to see!

Editor's note: Today's arts page features a guest writer, Norma Lynn Matthews, who is an actress in the Cleveland area. I met her in a gas station in 1969 and hadn't really seen her since - until she blew into town over the weekend for a visit. I figured it would be good to take an actress along to help me do a play review and then decided to make her write-up the whole thing. Below is her interpretation of "Mary, Mary" now playing at La Comedia Dinner Theater in Springboro through Feb. 28. She liked it: I did too. Try and see it!

by Norma Lynn Matthews

What a great introduction to southern Ohio and what it has to offer I've had this weekend. Being from Cleveland, a real city in every sense of the word, I can really enjoy the relative peacefulness of this part of the state. It's nice to be here and I feel very excited about writing this article for you, my readers.

Friday night, Mark invited me to go with him to see "Mary, Mary" at the La Comedia dinner theatre in Springboro—the opening night of the show. What a fine performance it was! Written by Jean Kerr, an author of novels by fame and directed by Dorothy Robinson, the play was hilariously funny. The show is produced by Joseph B. Mitchell and Mark Halpin designed the set.

The story is about Bob McKellaway (played by Ray Lloyd, a recently-divorced publisher in New York City and his ex-wife Mary, (played by Ivett Ashley) a bouyant, saucy woman who you like immediately. Bob is now engaged to a wealthy socialite named Tiffany Richards, (played by Kate Schaefer) while Mary is being wooed by one of Bob's movie star clients, Dirk Winston (Logan Pope). Old loves and renewed jealousies weave into the tangled relationships as Attorney and friend Oscar Nelson (John L. Fitzgerald), arrives to clear up Bob's financial matters. The government says he owes $6,000 in back taxes! When by coincidence, these five characters are thrown together for one long, winter weekend, hilarious situations develop and numerous complications arise.

The actors emitted incredible energy onstage and I grew to love their characters as the play went on. From the audience reaction, I'd say I wasn't alone—they loved it too.

COMMUNICATION — That was the main problem in Mary and Bob McKellaway's marriage which eventually led to their divorce. Brought together by their tax lawyer to work on the books right before the marriage is dissolved, the couple realizes they've never really communicated and begin to - after five years of marriage! The McKellaway's, portrayed by Ivett Ashley and Ray Lloyd (pictured), appear in the comedy "Mary, Mary" at La Comedia Dinner Theater.

After the show, we were able to meet the cast, the director and actually talk with them in person. I understand this is a common event at La Comedia—it's great! How lucky you are to have a chance to meet the performers of each show—they're beautiful people and they love talking personally to the audience.

Even in Cleveland the chance is rare the audience gets to meet the actors, but at La Comedia the atmosphere is so warm and friendly that it feels good to be able to walk up to an actor and say, "Hey, you were really good," or "It's too bad you didn't get the girl, in the end" or just talk to them and find they are real people after all, pretty much like you and me. It's a good feeling.

Living in Cleveland, where there are so many major and minor theaters performing and being in theatre myself, I have experienced many plays and performers. I was really excited to find such a good show this far from a major theatrical center. You are fortunate to have La Comedia so close.

This all-New York cast did such a fine job and were such great people to talk to afterwards that you really should see this show. Of course, the fantastic dinner menu by Chef Dan Daniels also helps make the evening very special, along with his wife, Frieda's organ playing.

I'm glad I had the chance to come and visit Washington Court House and to see this fine show. I will come again—for sure—and I'll be certain to tell everyone in Cleveland what a lovely area you have here.

And in honor of La Comedia's first anniversary this month, if your birthday falls on any evening in January or February (except Saturdays, previews and matinees), you will receive one-half off the regular price. The theater is located one-half mile from I-75 on Route 73. Call 513-746-4554 for reservations.

FIRST KISS — First kiss of a new relationship, that is. Mary McKellaway (played by Ivett Ashley) and husband Bob are finalizing their divorce in the play "Mary, Mary" at La Comedia Dinner Theater and Bob's friend, Dirk Winston (played by Logan Pope) seems to have hit it off with Mary — judging from the photo. However, the ending is different than what you'd expect and makes for good comedy!

A nasty song for a nice friend

AP Newsfeatures Writer

A new Simon and Garfunkel single, "My Little Town," is on the charts — jumping on at No. 69 on the best-selling list the very week it was released. It's the first Simon and Garfunkel single in five years, since "Bridge over Troubled Water." By its second week it was No. 36.

However, it doesn't mean the old team is back together. It means that Paul Simon wrote a song for Art Garfunkel and Garfunkel suggested they both sing on it.

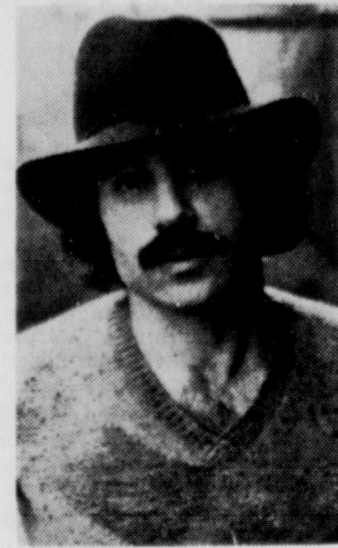

Simon says: "He was singing a lot of very sweet songs. I said to him, 'I'm going to write a really nasty song for you so you will have something nasty to say.' That's this song. It's about somebody who hates the town he grew up in. It's in no sense autobiographical. The town I grew up in is New York City, which hardly qualifies as a little town, and I don't hate it.

"When we sang the song together, it came out so good and we thought of the attention a Simon and Garfunkel record would get, so we thought it would be better to put it on both albums." It's on Garfunkel's new "Breakaway" and Simon's new "Still Crazy after All These Years," both of which are on Columbia.

The last Paul Simon single, "Gone at Last," which was on the best-selling charts in September and October, getting to 20 on Sept. 27, he sings with Phoebe Snow and the Jessy Dixon Singers. He started writing that song about two years ago for a tour he was to do with Aretha Franklin, which never came off, then thought he'd sing it with Bette Midler, but that couldn't be worked out between their two record companies. He met Phoebe Snow when Phil Ramone, his record's coproducer, was producing an LP by her and they were alternating use of the same recording studio. "I made the last changes on the song with Phoebe in the studio. I would prefer to do it with her than either of the other two. I think she's a great singer."

Simon agreed to be the host of the second "Saturday Night Live" TV show, on Oct. 18, because he knew the producer. "I haven't been on TV in years. I don't want to be a regular TV host; I'm not a TV personality." He filmed a one-on-one basketball game with Tommy Hawkins of the Atlanta Hawks who is 6 feet 8 and for the rest of the show invited Garfunkel, Miss Snow and Randy Newman.

"Randy I'd never met. I just admire his work and called him up and asked him to come on the show. He lives in Los Angeles and is very happy there and that's how I am about New York. I don't hang out too much and he doesn't hang out too much. Our paths just never crossed."

PAUL SIMON

At present Simon is getting ready to tour, from late October to the middle of December. "I'm going to end up the tour in England. My passport has run out. That's how long it has been since I was there."

"I'm taking most of the musicians who played on the album and Jessy and the group with me, altogether about 11 musicians and four singers. I've never done anything this big before. I always did everything with solo guitar. I'm trying to make a departure for the sake of interest — to do something different. Now I'm rehearsing for the first time, really."

"It used to be, all I had to do was sit down and review my songs with myself. Now I have to come in and work every night for three weeks in rehearsal."

Simon has developed calcium deposits on his guitar-playing index finger so he no longer takes lessons in classical guitar. "I have to be very sparing on how much I play guitar. I use it to compose. I have to go get cortisone shots when it gets bad. At one point, until they discovered what was wrong, I couldn't bend my finger and couldn't play, period. It was a really terrible time. Now, if that happens, I know how to fix it. Eventually, the doctor says, I'm going to lose mobility in the finger. Hopefully that won't be for 20 or 30 or 40 years from now."

Simon says he's going to study piano, partly because he is curious about learning it and partly to see if he can learn to compose on it. "It is very good for arranging; you can voice things better on a piano than a guitar. But I play the guitar so easily now — I do what I want so easily on it. I don't know if I could learn to play piano with enough skill to compose on it. I started playing guitar when I was 13; that's 20 years."

He has been reading some poetry lately, Simon says, the first he has read since college. "I think there are some songs on the new album that are closer to poetry than what I've done previously. I think good poetry is based on sharp and startling and revealing imagery. A few songs on the album use good images. 'Night Games' is about a baseball player who died in a game. It comes out of the thought that in the Roman days they had gladiators and brought in lions and people were killed, which had a cathartic effect upon viewers. It occurred to me that sports spectacles today are derived from that. Nobody gets killed but there's a winner and loser and it's supposed to have the same effect. The audience is vicariously involved in a struggle. Here in this song I made the loser really lose. It is really a song about death."

After he tours, Simon says he would like to take a couple of months for reading — "My escapism fantasies are what will I read?"—then embark on another show project of some kind. The movie "The Graduate," for which he did the songs, came out in 1967. He is thinking that he'd like to write the songs for an off-Broadway show, learning the ropes before trying to write a Broadway musical.

When it's time to make another album, Simon says, he writes 10 songs. "This is my 11th album. When I started, I never thought I would ever get up to 11 albums. Maybe writing a show isn't too dissimilar to writing a theme album. I feel all my albums are loosely theme albums. One of them was created to be a theme album, 'Bookends.' I don't know if that was the most effective. They're usually a collection of songs about what I've been thinking in the last year; sometimes it takes me a few months to realize what that was."

Writing songs, he says, "is always a challenge that you set yourself. You can always call off the struggle any time you want and settle. It depends on how you want to raise your standards. It is as tough as you want to make it. "I try to keep my standards just below the point of total frustration."

DOBIE GRAY

Just about the time you think you've got Dobie Gray pegged into a musical niche, he rears back, busts out, and springs forward.

In the mid Sixties, Dobie was the one person who managed to encapsulate those terrible teen longings and peer ambitions in song: "I'm in with the in crowd; I go where the in crowd goes."

Then in the early Seventies, amidst some magical albums that sadly were overlooked in the madness of the record industry, Dobie Gray struck again. This time giving us what may well be remembered as a classic piece of rock, perhaps the quintessential song on the subject: "Give me the beat boys and free my soul. I want to get lost in your rock and roll."

And now, with help from his co-writer-co-producer Troy Seals and the best of Nashville's session men and backup singers, Dobie Gray makes his debut on Capricorn Records, the Georgia-based wonderchild of the business.

Dobie Gray, a tall man with a quick sense of humor, an unsarcastic wit and warm, laughing eyes, strives to be the complete performer, a singer, a comedian, an actor, a showman.

During a recent tour of Australia, Dobie secured old fans and gained new believers by offering a different brand of concert. He had the good humor and the good ear for what would please the crowd when he did the Aussie favorite

"Waltzing Matilda" in pantomime, fully-rigged in a costume. The crowd loved it every place he played.

"I've often wanted to do something like that," he'll tell you, briefly mentioning that he has done some acting.

That's an understatement. For almost two years, Dobie was one of the leading characters in the highly acclaimed Los Angeles production of "Hair."

Dobie's music is as outgoing and positive as he is. Even at the end of a long day of over-dubbing and interviews and meetings, he keeps his mood pleasant, warm and always-curious.

He appears to be delighted at joining the Capricorn family. "I think for the first time, I'm going to get the kind of personalized attention that it takes to make the kind of artist I'd like to be. I think it's going to be a good association."

By 1963, Dobie was a fledgling performer, finding the breaks slow in coming. It was in 1967 that he moved further West — all the way to California (he now lives in L.A.) and by 1968, he had established himself as a musical heavyweight.

Ironically, his first gold record came before full-scale national attention. A single called "Look At Me" bounced from market to market, gaining hit status despite a dearth of promotion. It first broke in 1965. Within a few years, it topped the million-seller mark.

That likelihood of many million-sellers looms in front of Dobie now.

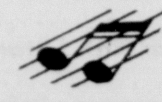

Asked how his family feels about the prodigal son, Dobie smiles quietly and says: "They're elated. They're very happy now."

And judging by his attitude and his music and his positive feelings about his new label, so is Dobie Gray.

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 6

'Blue Jacket-Shawnee War Chief' topic at BPW Club meeting

Mrs. Richard Rankin was guest speaker for the January dinner-meeting of the Washington C. H. Business and Professional Women's Club when they met in the Washington Country Club. Mrs. Rankin spoke about "Blue Jacket — War Chief of the Shawnees." By relating stories and tracing genealogical facts about the famous Indian war chief, who was actually a white man, Mrs. Rankin told his life story from the time he was taken captive by the Shawnees as a child, through his adult life. Her commentary was most interesting.

Special music for the evening was furnished by the Harmony Seekers of Washington Senior High School, under the direction of Emily Rowe King. They sang several numbers from musical shows and ended their program with a group of songs from "Fiddler on the Roof."

Mrs. Nathan Bolton opened the meeting with all repeating the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Club Collect. Mrs. Donald Long gave the invocation preceding the dinner.

A Bicentennial theme of red, white and blue was used in table decorations and throughout the club room. Many members carried the theme further by wearing old-fashioned dresses.

The two "girls-of-the-month," seniors from Miami Trace High School, were introduced by Mrs. Robert Lewis. They were Tammy West and Diane Burke. Each girl gave a resume of her school activities and plans for the future.

Mrs. Bolton presided during the business meeting, when reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, and standing committee chairmen. A special report was given by Mrs. Mary Lou Joseph of the Bicentennial committee. Two donations of $200 were given to assist the Jaycees parade fund and the project to restore the fountain at the Washington Cemetery. Further plans were made to participate in Bicentennial projects.

Guests present were Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, Mrs. Ben Pitzer and Shirley Frieschman. The meeting was planned by the public relations committee with Mrs. Mildred Rogers and Miss Mary Sauer, co-chairmen, along with Mrs. Lewis Elliott, Miss Norma Dodd, Mrs. Donald Long, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Russell Oberschlake and Miss Helen Slavens.

Dance queen to be named at Feb. 7 dance

The Xi Iota Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Jim Aleshire.

The Sweetheart Dance, with the theme "Let Heritage Ring," to be held Feb. 7 at Mahan Hall was discussed. The dance is a joint project with Zeta Upsilon Chapter.

Members voted on the chapter queen, who will be announced at the dance. Mrs. B. Chaney presented the program, "This Is Our Country."

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Dawne Warner on Jan. 29.

Maple Grove Women hold all-day meeting

Maple Grove United Methodist Women met Wednesday for an all-day meeting with Mrs. John Louis. Dr. Louis gave the invocation preceding the carry-in dinner. Mrs. Neil Rowland, the new president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Harold Craven gave devotions with a prayer for the New Year. She also told all to share their bread and Bible more in 1976.

Mrs. Roy Gilmerr gave a prayer for missionaries having birthdays within the month. Miss Jacquie Craven showed slides of young teenagers when they attended a Retreat at Camp Miami, near Dayton, last July. She is the youth leader and counselor. Rev. Mr. Earl J. Russell is the pastor-teacher. This year, they will attend a Retreat in February at Lancaster Campgrounds.

Prayer partners of the past year were revealed and new ones chosen. Reports were interesting, and for roll call, all responded with an answer for "How do you think our New Year's outlook compares to that of the Pilgrim?"

Mrs. Louis explained the worship table which had a Bicentennial theme of "In God We Trust." The table held an open Bible to Psalm 37-3, and a pamphlet which contained Faith of our Fathers and This is an American.

Members spent the remainder of the time knotting comforts. Those present were Mrs. Quinn Clarke, Mrs. Gilmerr, Mrs. Clyde Carman, Mrs. Harold Craven, Miss Jacquie Craven, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. Otis Huff, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Marion Dawson, Mrs. Rowland, and Dr. and Mrs. John Louis.

Marriage announced

Miss Phillis Marie Thomas became the bride of Gary Lee Jackson Tuesday evening in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, 1310 N. North St. The Rev. Luther McCarty performed the ceremony.

Mrs. C. Jackson, mother of the groom of New Martinsburg, his sister, and the bride's sister, Lisa, along with Mrs. Luther McCarty were present also for the marriage ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SCHILLER

50th wedding anniversary observed by Schillers

Mr. and Mrs. John Schiller of 412 W. Elm St., were honored at a family get-together and dinner at their home recently, the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Schiller is a retired employee of the State Highway Department.

Mr. Schiller and the former Florence Robinett were married in Fayette

County. They are the parents of Mrs. Francis Morrison (Marjorie) of Circleville; Mrs. Edwin Elliott (Virginia), Mrs. Argus Holbrook (Mildred, Willard Schiller, Mrs. Ronald (Barbara) Palmer, and Mrs. Ed. (Marilyn) Knisley all of Washington C. H., and they have 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

AFS Dominique Blancke tells DKG more about Belgium

Delta Kappa Gamma members assembled Monday evening at the Terrace Lounge for a dinner meeting. Mrs. Roger Miller gave the invocation for the 43 present.

The guest speaker was Dominique Blancke, American foreign exchange student at Miami Trace High School this year. She was introduced by Leora Burdge, her American sister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Burdge of New Holland. Miss Blancke is the 18-year-old daughter of Simone and Andre Blancke. Her family lives in a suburb of Brussels, Belgium and her father works for the state unemployment agency.

Dominique showed beautiful slides of her homeland, and described and compared her country with Ohio which she says is three and half times as large as Belgium. She attended the Institute des Dames De Marie in Belgium, an all-girls' Catholic school, where about 700 students are enrolled. The students are grouped into classes of about 25 or 30. She thinks the schools in Belgium are more difficult than at MTHS, and much depends on their exam results as to their future education, she said.

They wear blue uniforms at the schools there.

Dominique says she really likes school here, and her favorite classes are gymnastics and swimming. She enjoys people. There are no extra curricular activities in schools in Belgium.

When asked about her first impressions of America, she said the vastness, the big cars, and the school spirit at sport events. When asked about her favorite foods, she stated she liked cake and hamburgers. She hopes to attend college upon her return home to study architecture and learn more about the history of art.

Dominique was accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Dowler who is the AFS adviser for student chapters. Mrs. Dowler is also Guidance Counselor at MTHS.

Mrs. Karl Harper, president of Delta Kappa Gamma, conducted a short business meeting, when reports were presented. Mrs. Leonard Watts made the membership report, and Mrs. Keith Rex, chairman of Professional Affairs, presented each member with a copy of her committee's report.

Dear Abby:

Teenage farmhand
unfeminine

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 14. Almost 15. My parents won't let me smoke. My brother got to smoke when he was 15, but when I ask my parents if I can smoke, they, say, "No, it's not feminine."

Abby, I milk cows, bale hay and even clean cow gutters, and you sure can't say THAT'S feminine.

All my girl friends get to smoke in front of their parents, so why don't they let me run my own life?

MYSELF

DEAR MYSELF: Because they don't want you to run it in a way that may be damaging to your health. I'm with them. The best advice I can give nonsmokers is DON'T START!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a dinner party at the home of a very high-class, prominent society leader who has a reputation for entertaining beautifully.

My husband's widowed sister came to town unexpectedly, so I phoned my hostess and asked if we could bring our houseguest.

She asked, "Is your houseguest a male or female?"

I said, "She's my husband's sister." And would you believe this so-called high-class society lady replied, "That's too bad. We already have three extra women. If you could bring a man, I'd be delighted, but we don't need any more women."

Have you ever heard of anything to top this?

SPEECHLESS.

DEAR SPEECHLESS: No. And I thought I'd heard everything.

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't help but smile when I read your comment about people who run ads in the classified section to meet a partner. Agreed, they must be desperately lonely, and they do run a risk of meeting some creepy characters that way, but did you know that this practice is entirely accepted in Europe, specifically in Germany?

Believe me, I have run into creepy characters in the U.S.A. and Canada in distinguished public places where a lady would think she is safe from

Miss Moore hostess for Arts & Crafts Club

Miss Marian Moore was hostess for the January meeting of the Arts and Crafts Club. The brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, in which she read thank you notes from shutin members and named a nominating committee composed of Miss Moore, chairman, with Mrs. Bart Mahoney and Mrs. Joseph Herbert assisting.

A discussion regarding the Bicentennial ensued, with Mrs. Robert Brubaker telling the group of the many projects that are being undertaken. Members voted to help in any way they could.

Members were then invited to the workroom where Miss Moore instructed them in the various stitches of crewel embroidery, each one working on her own initial. The remainder of the afternoon was spent visting and viewing the many articles and handwork in which Miss Moore excels. Refreshments were served. It was announced that the next meeting, Feb. 17, will be in the home of Mrs. Carl Elberfeld with Mrs. Louis Baer the assisting hostess.

Decorating seminar attracts 34 for winter meeting

The winter meeting of the Fayette County Professional Home Economics Club was held Wednesday at Kaufman's Decorating Centre. J.O. Garringar welcomed the 34 home economists and their guests and introduced John Breen, Representative of the Martin-Senour Paint Company, and Brian Finney, Charles Drake and Mrs. Becky Griffith of Kaufman's who conducted a Decorating Seminar.

In a presentation of 'Basics', Mr. Breen described various paint products and gave guidelines for purchasing materials to fit the job. Techniques and products used for finishing wood furniture and the variety of wallcoverings available and how to apply them brought many questions from the audience.

Mr. Finney used carpet samples to illustrate trends in colors for 1976 and Mr. Drake suggested drapery and wall coverings to coordinate and create attractive rooms. Richer, deeper, jewel, and earth tones were well received by those present. The evening concluded with door prizes presented to Sherryll Sowers and Nancy Black.

Cecilians to meet Feb. 10

Ohio Perspective

Conflict of interest seen possible

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One-tenth of the state's legislators have a direct financial interest in state utilities as a bill is considered to change the way telephone, gas and electric rates are set.

Most own stock in utility firms or their parent companies. Two, however, work for utilities and two others own part of gas wells which sell products to utilities.

Legislative committees are considering a bill to replace the present Reconstruction Cost New (RCN) formula, under which utilities base their rates partly on what it would cost to rebuild their physical plant today, minus depreciation.

Financial disclosure statements filed under the 1973 ethics law and examined by the Akron Beacon-Journal show 13 of Ohio's 132 legislators have financial interests in Ohio utilities. One of the 13 said he might abstain from voting on the issue.

"If I see a conflict of interest, I might ask the president of the Senate for

The other utility employee, Rep. Lawrence E. Hughes, R-66 Columbus, said he would be "inclined to do what is fair for the public, not necessarily the company." Hughes is manager of the southwestern area directory department of Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

"I'm not that kind of legislator," replied Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79

Judge's gag rule lifted

"There is no order that I know of that can be more limited than this one," he said.

Norman S. Carr, representing the Akron Beacon Journal which asked to void the order, said, "There is no single authority anywhere in any of the 50 states that allows a court to prohibit discussion of what goes on there."

Kainrad, who will hear the Feb. 9 trial of Ralph Garduno, 38, of Youngstown on charges of murder and attempted murder, banned publication by attorneys, witnesses and news media representatives of certain testimony about Garduno in another trial.

Old silent film star Warner Baxter was born in Columbus; star Paul Muni, born in Austria, lived as a boy in Cleveland under his true name of Muni Weissenfreund.

Bryan, when asked whether his thinking might be swayed by his financial holdings. His interests are in Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. and American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., parent of Ohio Bell.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, thought it was insulting when asked about payments of from $30 to $50 a month he receives from Columbia Gas Transmission Co. for gas from a well on his farm. Speck noted he was chief sponsor of a strip-mining reclamation bill strongly opposed by Ohio Power Co. and other utilities.

Several legislators have suggested that the political muscle of utility lobbyists likely will have more impact on the bill's future than legislators' holdings.

Other legislators and investments they listed in disclosure filings were Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., D-25 Cleveland, slightly more than 100 shares of Ohio Bell; Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, about $5,000 in the parent of Canton's Ohio Power Co.; Rep. Scribner L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria, AT&T debentures earning a family trust about $500 a year; Rep. Robert E. Freeman, D-29 Canton, about $1,100 in a Tuscarawas County well supplying East Ohio Gas Co.; Rep. Irma L. Karmol, R-44 Toledo, and her husband, 100 shares Toledo Edison; Rep. A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, a portfolio containing shares of Columbia gas and Dayton Power & Light; Rep. Mack Pemberton, R-33 Columbus, investments in Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric and Dayton Power and Light; Rep. Robert A. Nader, D-55 Warren, less than 100 shares of Ohio Edison; an Rep. Iene B. Smart, D-49 Canton, whose husband owns about 25 shares of AT&T.

From the city manager

In his report to Washington C. H. City Council Wednesday night, City Manager George H. Shapter discussed U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approval of a 45-unit apartment complex on Glenn Avenue, the annual fire department report, progress on the community development project and several other matters.

Shapter noted that Council had earlier received four proposals for housing projects in Washington C. H. which sought to comply with federal Housing and Urban Development rent assistance guidelines. These had been referred by Council to the City Planning Commission for review.

He stated that a letter had been received from HUD announcing that one of the projects proposed by the Wallick Construction Co., Columbus, had been approved. The plans call for construction of a 45-unit apartment complex to be located on Glenn Avenue. The new facility will be built adjacent to an existing 45-unit complex.

The city manager called attention to the annual report of activities submitted by fire chief Maynard (Joe) Denen. It showed that 45 of 176 fire runs during 1975 were made to properties located in Union Township, not the city of Washington C. H. This represents 25.6 per cent of all department responses.

He noted that Union Township has contracted with the city for fire protection at a cost of $36,000 per year (which is only 18 per cent of the city's operating budget for 1976). If the township were paying 25 per cent of the fire department operating costs, he said, the contract figure should be approximately $50,000 per year. Even this amount would not include a percentage of the equipment purchase prices, and he suggested Council consider these facts when discussing its next contract with the township.

Shapter called on engineer Donald L. Conley to discuss progress on the preparation of materials for a community development federal grant and a complete revamping of the downtown business district traffic signal system. Conley's presentation is discussed in detail on page one of today's edition.

At a previous Council meeting, some concern was expressed over the obstruction of traffic along W. Elm Street by trucks loading and unloading at Batjak, Inc., docks. The trucks frequently impede traffic in the westbound lane of the road, creating a hazard.

The city manager said he had discussed the problem with Lyle Ranson, company president, who has agreed to place warning flashers near the trucks when they block the traffic lane.

Council considered the action adequate at least temporarily. The city manager and city solicitor Gary Smith will investigate the legal obligations which the action might create for Council or the firm if an accident were to result from the obstruction of traffic. Their findings will be aired at the next meeting.

Council members noted that while they did not want to injure any businessman, they were concerned about the possible hazards. The question of how an action would be applied to other businesses which utilize public thoroughfares will also be an important consideration.

Fleet insurance quotes on city vehicles were received from three firms. The lowest bid was more than $800 less than the next lowest bid, and Council voted to accept it. The bid accepted was $3,219.50, and it was submitted by Sheridan Insurance, the city's present agent.

The city manager noted that an ordinance presented late last year which proposed regulations for persons licensed to make sewer taps has never been voted upon. Council members had recommended that the bill be reviewed by local contractors for their evaluation, and Shapter suggested that a revised ordinance be presented in the near future.

Also available to Council members was the annual report from Washington C. H. Municipal Court. The city manager pointed out the high volume of cases (largest in the court's history) and noted that each case required a great deal of paperwork. His comments were apparently prompted by questions presented by Council members at earlier meeting about the number of clerks working for the court.

Receipt of an award from the Fayette County Automobile Club was acknowledged by the city manager. It lauded the city for having had no pedestrian traffic fatalities for six consecutive years. Shapter said the city should be proud of this accomplishment and strive to add several more years without such a fatality.

It was noted that two changes in personnel had taken place within the Citizens Study Committee since the last regular Council meeting. He said James R. Wilson, who moved from the city after 35 years of residence, had submitted his resignation from the panel. The city manager had named Jack Balahitsis, 238 Kathryn Court, to serve on the committee. He also noted that one of the persons contracted as a potential member had declined because "... Members of Council are the elected officials of this community and as such are charged with the responsibility of running the city of Washington, I will both respect and support their programs."

Although there was some objection to the application of Sounds Unlimited, 131 S. Fayette St., for a D-5 (liquor by the glass until 2:30 a.m.) permit, Council concluded it was futile to seek a hearing on the matter. Councilmember John Morris summarized the heart of Council's feeling when he stated that "The state is in the liquor business, and you can't beat 'em."

Shapter read a letter from students in the Washington Senior High School government class which thanked city officials who graciously gave of their time to assist the students. As part of a "We the People" government project, the students attempted to learn more of how their local government functions.

The city manager apologized before-the-fact for any current legislation concerning city government with which he was unacquainted. He said the U.S. Department of Commerce projects that in the coming year nearly 60,000 new publications will be presented by some 350 federal agencies. Shapter said, "Pardon me if you come across an item with which I am not familiar, I can't read that fast."

Proctor & Gamble earnings increase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Procter & Gamble Co. reported a 10 per cent gain in net earnings for the second quarter compared to the same period last year and an 11 per cent increase for the first six months of the fiscal year.

Sales were up $18.5 million to $191.9 million for the six month period. Earnings per share were $2.33 compared to $2.11 for the previous period.

Worldwide company sales were $3.1 billion, an increase of five per cent for the six month period.

Between City Council, township officials

Cemetery trustees named at joint meeting

A brief joint meeting of Washington C. H. City Council members and the Union Township Board of Trustees preceded the regular Council meeting Wednesday.

The purpose of the meeting was to appoint a Washington Cemetery board of trustees. Research by City Manager George H. Shapter had disclosed that the appointment of former board members had been conducted in compliance with Ohio law. However, the same individuals who had been serving on the three-person board were reappointed.

The cemetery board is responsible for establishing rates for plots and related work, preparing the budget and overseeing all cemetery operations.

According to the Ohio Revised Code, one member of the cemetery board is to be appointed each May to begin serving a three-year term the following January. The board was composed of Council member Joseph O'Brien and Union Township trustee Jack Cabbage, who were both appointed in February, 1974, and Sam Parrett, whose term had apparently expired Dec. 31, 1975. Annual meetings had not been held each May.

Rhodes makes appointments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced appointments to various positions. They were:

—Charles O. Hosterman, an attorney in Circleville, as judge of the Circleville Municipal Court. He replaces Sterling M. Lamb, who died Jan. 13.

—Charles E. Call, 54, Stow; Norma O. Jacob, 52, Marion, and Robert N. Switalski, 56, Portsmouth, to new terms of the Ohio Parks and Recreation Council.

—Gordon L. Pataky, 39, Upper Arlington, to the Development Financing Commission.

—Theodore A. Rice, 29, Grove City, to the War Orphans Scholarship Board.

—Richard E. Moseley Jr., 34, Columbus, to the Ohio Historical Site Preservation Advisory Board.

Grants awarded to OU college

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Osteopathic Foundation has awarded two grants totalling $103,000 to the new Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine.

The grants include $53,000 for the purchase of laboratory equipment and $50,000 for the purchase of scientific books, journals and reference publications for the university library. The Foundation also has established a scholarship program.

In order to correct the apparent difficulty, the joint panel appointed one member whose term would end Dec. 31, 1976, another whose term would end the last day of 1977, and another who would serve through 1978.

One member was to be chosen from the ranks of City Council, one from the board of trustees and the other at-large. The city manager noted the at-large representative is usually someone who is not a member of either legislative body.

A member of the cemetery board for more years that he is likely to want to recall, Parrett was named as the at-large trustee. He was named to the term expiring in 1978.

The township representative chosen was Cabbage, who will serve through 1977.

Council's voice on the cemetery board will be O'Brien. He will serve the remainder of this year.

The three cemetery trustees will convene for their regular meeting Feb. 11 in the cemetery office to select a chairman.

Council and the Union Township trustees will gather for a joint meeting in May to select an appointee to succeed O'Brien. Their choice will begin serving in January, 1977, and meetings will then be held each May to choose a successor for the trustee who retires at the conclusion of the year.

It was noted that any appointee may succeed himself, and any member of a legislative body whose term on that body expires must resign his post on the cemetery board. In such a case, a replacement will be named from the same legislative body to fulfill the unexpired cemetery board term of the former member.

Council members attending the joint meeting were O'Brien, Mrs. Bertha McCullough, James Ward and John Morris. All three township trustees were present. They are Cabbage, Ronald Campbell and Delbert Haines.

CAC reviews various programs at meeting

The Fayette County Community Action Commission board of trustees held its monthly meeting on Tuesday to review the balance of accounts statement and program progress reports.

The remaining funds in the Headstart program and elderly supporting services were $4,556.92 and $2,741.67 respectively. Both amounts are sufficient to see the particular programs through February, the end of the program year, officials said. The Comprehensive Employment Training Act fund, which has a balance of $4197.82, is to be extended by the federal government from February to June during which time additional money will be granted.

Funds for the administration of Community Action Commission were $6,345 while outreach and job development areas listed $14,947 as their combined current balance. Both departments also begin a new program year after February, with additional funds being granted.

Family planning, a service administered by the Fayette County Health Department, and funded in monthly amounts shows a balance of $2,343. The two manpower job training programs for school age youths and adults have $8,000 and $23,000 in their respective accounts. The manpower project is currently funded only until June 30, but is expected to be extended.

The Community Action Commission's home winterization program which currently has a balance of $2,300, has been helping to insulate homes of the elderly or handicapped in the area, but has not been able to provide such services to about 20 residences. These particular homes are rented, and the funds may only be used to help homeowners maintain their own residences.

A total of $1,750 has been obtained from the Eymann Fund for the purpose of sending area children to summer camp. This amount will be twice matched by equal monies from the Community Action Commission and community groups.

The senior nutrition program has just started a new calendar year, which began on Jan. 1. Currently there is $15,672 in the account to serve the program for the rest of the year.

Concerning the question of the sources of revenue for various community service organizations, chairman Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said that the Meals on Wheels program receives no federal support, though the senior nutrition program held at the First Presbyterian Church does. A recent article in the Record-Herald had mistakenly stated that the Meals on Wheels program was a recipient of federal funds.

In the program progress sector, two matters pertaining to the instigation of the hoped-for project of housing for persons of low income are under consideration. A site for the renovation or building of intended housing must be decided upon, as well as from what source the necessary funds will come. A special Community Action Commission group will be going to Columbus soon to confer with a builder, determine the feasibility of seeking funds from HUD and FHA, and then make a report on their findings with suggestions for approval by the commission.

Director Jack Hagerty noted two problems that the commission has faced concerning the manpower program's attempt to find jobs for youths who dropped out of high school. The objectives are to find proper training for each individual, and to motivate the particular person into leaving the community to undertake training in the region that offers the necessary teaching facilities. Starting next week, the approximately 15 youths will be contacted and encouraged to participate in upcoming training offers.

The nomination of officers for the positions of chairman, vice-chairman, treasurer, and secretary were made, with elections being scheduled for next month's meeting.

New business included the recognition of Mrs. Irene Grim, recently appointed by Bloomingburg Mayor Max E. Grim to represent the village on the commission.

Legionnaires attend meet

Charles Harris and John D. Jackson of Homer Lawson American Legion Post 653, were among the 1500 Legionnaires and auxiliary members who attended the Ohio American Legion's annual mid-winter conference at the Rhodes Center in Columbus recently.

During the meeting American Legion National Commander Harry G. Wiles of Topeka, Kan. spoke on the programs and policies of the American Legion which have national significance.

Other speakers at the conference included Joe Lis of the Cleveland Indians, Ohio Highway Patrol Superintendent Frank R. Blackstone and John S. Ely, vice president of the Ohio American Cancer Society.

The Worthington Legion Post 239 baseball team was honored at the conference. The team won the Ohio American Legion state and regional tournaments last year.

Chess played via phone

CLEVELAND (AP) — Knowing the right telephone area code will be an essential factor in chess as played by the new National Chess League.

The teams in the league plan to telephone their chess moves to their opponents.

The Cleveland Knights matched wits with Boston Wednesday night and team members said the phone bill will be about $600. "That's cheaper than the cost of transporting an entire team of six players to Boston," said Sri Srikantia, a team organizer.

"Another big advantage is that players won't be able to argue with opponents. Sometimes when you play a man face-to-face you get the idea that he's trying to destroy your concentration by coughing too much or by shaking his leg," he added.

Srikantia said the United States Chess Federation will pay for the phone tabs for the teams in the nine-city league that also has teams in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Miami, Houston and Washington.

League officials say the telephone-chess concept has never been tried before.

Waverly Republican seeks seat on state committee

WAVERLY — A Waverly area Republican has announced his intention to seek the Sixth Congressional District committeeman's seat on the Ohio Republican Central Committee.

James A. Murray, 25, of Waverly, states his qualifications of the office as experience in party organizational matters, past activity as a campaigner and a past candidate for elective office.

The young Republican is proud of his showing in the 89th Ohio House District race even though he was defeated. His opponent in the 1972 campaign was Vernal G. Fiffe Jr., of New Boston, who has since become the speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives. Murray said he drew a larger percentage of votes against the veteran Democrat than any prior Republican candidate.

He has served on the Pike County Central Committee, is a past state officer of the Ohio Young Republicans and has worked as an aide in the office of Congressman William H. Harsha. Murray plans to enter the Republican

Bridge open at Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two-lane traffic has been opened over the $22 million I-471 Ohio River Bridge connecting Cincinnati to Newport, Ky. and officials are hopeful the move will help ease congestion during morning and evening rush hours on other area bridges.

Transportation officials said an adjacent three-lane span upstream will be opened later. It will carry northbound traffic only while the downstream span will be southbound only.

Construction on the bridge began in 1970.

Traffic using the I-471 span will enter from Cincinnati from Fort Washington Wasy eastbound or Eggleston Avenue, exiting on Eggleston Avenue. In Newport, traffic will enter from Riverside Drive (Ky. 8) and exit at Third Street and Park Avenue.

The average wage of farm hands per month, with board, in Ohio in 1987 was $15.75; without board, $21.35.

Improved services stressed

Fayette County Bank holds annual meeting

Improved banking services was keynoted in a report issued by Fayette County Bank president James R. Wilson at the annual shareholders meeting held Wednesday in the Fayette Center office.

"Prospects for 1976 are unpredictable, but the economy appears to be swinging upward," Wilson said. "I'm in hopes that the inflation rate will level and that we can continue to keep earnings on the increase."

"I believe with continued effort and support of our shareholders we can keep our individuality as an independent bank and continue to serve the citizens of Fayette County in our own distinct way," he noted.

"We are emphasizing serving our customers in a personal manner and provide the community with the best possible banking services and continue to treat each of our customers as individuals so that they may retain their personal identity with us," the bank president said.

"I believe the trend in the banking industry for many years has been an over concern with the size of the bank. The 'biggest is the best' theory is no longer the case. I feel the best bank is one that performs best in maximizing earning and minimizing losses."

"I feel the Fayette County Bank is putting its best effort forth in this direction," Wilson added.

The report presented to the shareholders by Wilson disclosed $5.96 per share earnings for 1975. It also showed an increase of undivided profits of $148,965.59 which is equal to $5.96 per share.

During the reorganizational meeting, all directors were re-elected.

Frank B. Sollars, a Fayette County farmer and a member of the board of directors of the Nationwide Insurance Co., was re-elected to chairman of the board of the Fayette County Bank. Dr. Joseph M. Herbert, a Washington C.H. physician, was re-elected secretary.

Other directors re-elected were Howard R. Burnett, owner of the Colonial Stair Co. in Jeffersonville; Dr. Ned D. Abbott, a Washington C.H. area veterinarian; Elroy Bourgraf, president of Ferno-Washington, Inc., in Wilmington, and Wilson, president and chief executive officer.

Two promotions of officers were announced during the meeting. L. Lester Bower was promoted from assistant vice president to vice president, and Ernest D. Wilson was promoted from cashier to vice president and cashier.

Other officers are Gary McMurray, vice president and security officer; Helen Porter, assistant cashier, and Roberta Bowers, assistant cashier.

Four committee appointments were also made during the meeting.

Sollars, Dr. Herbert and James Wilson were appointed to the executive committee; Burnett, Bourgraf and Dr. Abbott to the auditing committee; Burnett, Dr. Herbert, Bourgraf James and Wilson to the employee benefit committee; and James Wilson, McMurray, Ernest Wilson, Bower and Mrs. Bowers to the loan management advisory committee.

Solving arithmetic problems

'Dear teacher, dear class'

By LEWIS PARRETT
City Elementary Coordinator
Featured this week in "Dear Teacher — Dear Class" is Miss Mary Blazer and her class of 23 third graders at Belle Aire Elementary School.

Miss Blazer has lived in many different places which adds depth to her teaching. She was born in Johnson City, Tennessee and grew up in various places in Ohio including Alexandria, Findlay, suburban Cleveland and Chillicothe.

She graduated from Chillicothe High School and then earned her bachelor of arts degree at Marion College in Indiana. Her post graduate credits have been from Miami University. While at Marion College, she was in their traveling choir and the Messiah choir. Each Easter the choir went on tour to various places in North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Kentucky. Her entire five years of teaching experience have been with the third grade at both Eastside and Belle Aire elementary schools.

Miss Blazer resides at 704 Yeoman

Street with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Blazer, and her sister who is now in college.

Her hobbies include sewing, cooking, playing the piano and autoharp, reading, traveling, making her own clothes, and formulating new recipes with vegetables and meat.

Her favorite colors are blue and red. Her favorite food is not limited to one thing but to all foods, and her favorite place is Canada where she hopes to visit this summer. Each summer she enjoys camping and relaxing. In addition, she likes to visit interesting places such as the Western Natural Museum at Phoenix, Arizona.

During the remainder of the school year, the class will find their time highlighted with patriotic songs, reading various books, learning about air and sound, letter writing, doing a play entitled "Benjamin Franklin," and sending a birthday card to America. The class has on its bulletin board a reply from President Ford in recognition of its participation in our bicentennial.

Next week, during visitation, the class will be studying sound and will be singing on WCHO on Wednesday, February 4 at 1 p.m.

Miss Blazer commented about her class: "Children bring me great pleasure and great responsibility." Billy Ward, one of the members of the class, summed up his feelings and those of his friends by saying, "This is a good classroom."

The host will be Ronnie Sever and the hostess will be Kathy Sparkman. Miss Blazer and her class invite you to visit their classroom during the coming week and enjoy becoming a part of their third grade class. Any day of the week except Friday afternoon is a fine time to come.

Senior citizen show, sale set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The largest all-senior citizen art show and sale ever held in Ohio runs March 2-March 7 in the rotunda of the Statehouse, said Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Between 1,000 and 1,500 paintings, all by Ohio artists over age 60 are expected to be shown.

NOTICE TO OWNER OF LAND AFFECTED BY THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENT, OF DATE OF FINAL HEARING AND OF FILING CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION OR DAMAGES
Office of County Commissioners, Fayette County, Ohio.

In the Matter of the R. C. Hunt Single County Ditch.

Petition for by John A. Bryant, agent for the Lowell Kaufman Trust and Anna Kaufman Trust and others.

TO LAND OWNERS AFFECTED
You are hereby notified that the County Engineer filed in this office on the 29th day of December, 1975 the maps, profiles, plans, schedules and reports in the above named improvement, and that the assessment on each tract of land owned by you, as estimated and described in said schedule, is as follows:

PER ENGINEER'S SCHEDULE and you are further notified that the Board of County Commissioners of said County has fixed the 17th day of February, 1976, at 1:30 o'clock p.m., at the office of said Board, as the time and place of the final hearing by the Commissioners on the report of the Engineer, and on the proceedings for the improvement, and that all claims for compensation or damages must be filed with the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners before that date; and that if bonds are to be issued for said improvement, you must give notice within ten days after said final hearing of your intention to pay in cash and if you do not give such notice, of your intention to pay in cash within ten days the installments will be payable with interest added at the same rate that bonds bear interest.

Fire loss $500,000

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — Firemen battled for seven hours Wednesday to contain a blaze that damaged a dozen major waterfront buildings in the downtown area of this Ohio River community of 3,000.

Three structures were gutted and the rest damaged by fire, smoke or water. Fire Chief Charles Legar estimated damage at at least $500,000.

The main road through the county seat was blocked by firefighting equipment that came from eight towns, including Nelsonville 50 miles away and Ripley, W. Va., 20 miles away.

One fireman was treated for smoke inhalation.

The fire began near dawn in the basement of a three-story department store on the main route through the city, authorities said. It spread to adjacent structures which stretch a block wide.

Letters from readers of The Record-Herald

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I want to make some constructive comments regarding the reluctance of the Fayette County Commissioners to accept money from the federal government (Record-Herald, Jan. 27, 1976, "Commissioners Express Reluctance Over Accepting Federal Funding" by George Malek).

I can understand Mr. J. Herbert Perrill's opposition to federal handouts, Mr. Robert Mace's cautious approach, and Mr. Ray Warner's comment regarding the eventual curtailment of many of the federal programs, also Mr. Perrill's concern about the burden being placed on the citizen who is bearing the tax burden.

Consider, the elderly are taxpayers. They have probably paid more taxes than the rest of us who are still working. It is their money also. Denying the elderly this opportunity is not a direct way to change the system.

We should tell elected representatives. The money has been authorized for the program. It is too late to say we are against it. What will happen if we persist? The money will be spent elsewhere. Certainly the elderly deserve help. The elderly are the least likely to be asking for help, while generally they deserve it the most.

The county did not want to accept CETA money, and as I recall, the reason was given that the county did not have the people to administer the CETA-PSE program. Could not unemployed people have been hired as CETA workers to administer the program?

Well, that is under the bridge now. The city is doing the job of administering the CETA program. The tax money for this program for the elderly doesn't come out of the commissioners' pockets any more so than it does mine or yours.

Would it not be logical to have the program administered by one of your tax paid agencies trained for such a program and staffed with trained professionals? Exactly what kind of help would be possible? The main point that I would like to make is that the taxes have been paid by all of us.

The federal government made the money available to help the elderly. If we don't like federal programs, it seems unfair and discriminatory to react by refusing to participate. I empathize with the county commissioners. They could be placed in a position to be criticized for participation in a program they find disagreeable due to the method of funding. They can be criticized for being too frugal, or for spending too much.

I think most of us would agree that we often tend to ignore the elderly. They have much to contribute to our community. It would be good for them and certainly good for us if they were more actively involved. Could not we more actively solicit their help with our current problems?

The pendulum has swung to excessive concern for youth. Let's put it back in perspective and be concerned for all people. Elderly people don't want pity or charity. They are in need of knowing they can participate.

They would need fewer pills if they were made to feel welcome in our total community affairs. They could help each other. They could administer the program. They could know of every person living alone. They could enrich their lives and ours by their organizing and our cooperation.

Who checks on people living alone to see if they need help? Who offers to help them with a multitude of simple problems that we enjoy, transportation, eating, etc.? Each generation feels that their problems are unique. We feel that older people cannot cope with our problems and are best ignored.

They have weathered more storms than we have. The problem is ours, not theirs. We are successful to the extent that we involve all our citizens in the total affairs of our community. No one segment is so self sufficient that they cannot benefit from interaction with all people. Our local retired elderly could organize with a director and work miracles. They just might do that. We would be blessed.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

As many of us are aware, there has been a convocation of the World Council of Churches in Nairobi, Kenya in Africa. The thing about it all that might have puzzled you is the lack of anti-western hostility and, especially, invective against our own country which has failed to come forth from this meeting. In the first part of this letter, I want to tell you why.

In a most brazen and, as far as I know, completely unauthorized manner a U.S. clergyman, Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown stood before the

Pros enter bingo world

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A constitutional amendment, aimed at clarifying the legality of legitimate charitable bingo games, has encouraged professional gamblers to enter the market, legislators have been told.

The amendment, approved by voters in November, authorized the General Assembly to define what is charitable, and set guidelines for regulation of bingo games.

Three bills, designed to accomplish that task, were considered Wednesday by a joint House-Senate judiciary subcommittee.

In the meantime, according to David J. Young of the Catholic Conference of Ohio, the amendment, standing alone, has "invited more professionals to come in."

body to confess the "sins" of our nation.

"I love my country, and I am deeply ashamed of it", said Brown. "I am ashamed for what it has done and continues to do to so many of your countries".

He apparently very supinely overlooks our efforts to stem the tide of communist aggression in many countries of the world — All of which has been largely nullified by the professional liberal give-away artists here at home.

Brown further states that many in the so-called Third World starve because, "American businesses exploit them economically" which, of course bears no resemblance to the truth. Without markets for their exports in industrialized countries, developing nations would be in much worse shape than they are now.

As a leading southern newspaper asks editorially, "What right does Brown or any other clergyman have to assume such authority as a spokesman for the U.S.? The spectacle of an American standing before representatives of countries seething with envy at what our country has achieved for its people and capitulating so easily to this ideological hatred is disgusting beyond words." I agree.

Let me tell you a couple of things our state legislature did for us lately. As you have heard they passed a malpractice law which was directly responsible for increasing hospital costs to you. The insurance (liability) increased from $2300 per year to over $46,000 per year for the same insurance. This, of necessity, was passed on to the general public. In the same law they neatly and obscurely tucked away a statement removing the doctrine of "sovereign immunity". This effectively exposed all county officials to all sorts of suits, making it necessary for us to take out additional liability insurance. How many thousands this will cost us, I don't know yet.

They also "helped" us by passing a Public Defender law. This law sets up provisions which supposedly will give indigents more and better defense — at public expense, of course. How many more thousands this will cost us, I don't know yet. It will probably double, maybe quadruple the cost.

On top of all this we will have our revaluation of real property which will increase the evaluation of your residential property by an estimated 50 per cent and agricultural by possibly two or two and a half times.

We're embarking on another session of our legislature. Let us all keep our fingers crossed and hope we come out of it with at least a 50-50 chance of maintaining our fiscal solvency on the local level and voting for and electing our local officials. It's an election year and several (not all by any means) of the politicians get pretty starry-eyed.

Snow flurries will continue over the northeastern section of Ohio tonight, with partial clearing elsewhere and lows in the teens.

Another low pressure system is moving southeastward from the Canadian plains and could produce snow Friday over much of Ohio.

A cold front moving through Ohio was expected to produce light snow or flurries over much of the state today, with up to an inch of new snow likely over northeastern counties. Morning temperatures ranged mostly in the 30s, with little change likely this afternoon because of colder air behind the front.

A chance of snow flurries Saturday through Monday. Highs in the 20s and 30s. Lows mostly in the teens.

Enjoy fast, economical cooking at a surprisingly low price with this Frigidaire Microwave Oven.

You can warm leftovers, cook snacks or prepare many complete meals in up to 75% less time with 50-75% less energy than conventional cooking. For example, a beef roast takes just minutes instead of hours, hot party canapés are done in about a minute. And the oven, oven walls and your kitchen stay cooler, thanks to the fact that microwaves heat only the food and eliminate heat buildup.

WINTER BARGAIN DAYS

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.
FRIDAY, JANUARY 30

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
Consolidate your financial position: Expand where it is warranted, retrench where necessary. Evaluate others' opinions carefully.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
You will do well to follow your own schedule and not become involved in affairs which do not essentially concern you. This is no time to go off on tangents.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Weighty matters will require much thought now; also a great deal of patience. Don't try to rush things through. Neither fear failure. Stress your innate optimism.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
A thoughtful review before beginning a day's program will speed up its fine potentialities for success. Especially favored: teachers, students, all engaged in the medical professions.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Careful deliberation will keep you from making unwise decisions, moves. Varied opinions on the same subject indicate a need for more study, investigation of facts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Do not be upset by criticism. If constructive, it could actually show you new ways to capitalize on your inventiveness and skills.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
If you do not understand a situation, seek counsel from more experienced heads. Do not rely on guesswork. It could only lead to confusion.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Mixed influences. In all endeavors, be selective and stress quality rather than quantity of effort. News from afar may surprise - pleasantly.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Consider all new propositions and suggestions carefully before accepting, some deceptive influences, now prevalent, could lead to unpleasant involvements unless you are alert.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Do not let overoptimism lead you into making dubious investments. In fact, it would be a mistake to make any drastic changes in your financial set-up at the moment.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Do not let yourself be "thrown" by certain distractions. The well-developed Aquarian has unusual ability to concentrate on his objectives, so put it to use NOW.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Mixed influences. Special care needed in handling the affairs of others, in study, science, research, maritime affairs.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually independent, reliable, a striver always - and normally in an intelligent way. You may at times be given to useless ventures, though the whole life's picture of Aquarian shows so much ability and ceaseless energy that important accomplishments easily outweighs the hapless attempts. You may follow someone else's idea that is not quite right for success and eventually mold it into a workable, highly acceptable one

Wrong man spends 19 days in jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Los Angeles men named Ramon Flores were born the same day, closely resemble each other, have nearly identical Social Security numbers and each is married with five children.

But one of them — the wrong one — spent Christmas and New Year's in jail.

The wrong Flores, 36, a factory worker, was at home napping last Dec. 19 when police knocked on the front door of his modest apartment. He was told a warrant charging him with murder had been issued for his arrest in connection with the death of a 17-year-old boy in Fresno.

He was read his rights, handcuffed and led away just as his pregnant wife and children, aged 2 to 12, were returning from a church function.

Flores told investigators he had never been to Fresno and that on the day of the killing he was at work.

Police said if he was telling the truth, he would soon be released.

But Flores was taken to Fresno on Dec. 22. He was arraigned Christmas

Eve and a public defender was appointed. A preliminary hearing was not scheduled until Jan. 7, and his own attorney did not even interview Flores in depth until New Year's Eve.

On Jan. 6, after witnesses said they did not recognize photos of the man in custody, police compared his fingerprints with those they had on file from the previous arrest record of a man named Ramon Flores. The next day, authorities admitted their error.

After 19 days in jail, one Ramon Flores was free.

Some Demos seeking two jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, Robert C. Byrd, Henry M. Jackson and Rep. Morris C. Udall have something in common besides their desire to be the Democratic presidential nominee: all are up for re-election to Congress this year.

All have said they expect to seek re-election to their current seats should they fail to win the nomination. For some it may be more difficult than others.

Byrd, according to campaign aides, is even considering erecting split billboards in his home state of West Virginia — one side urging voters to return him to the Senate, the other urging them to send him to the White House.

And Bentsen spent several days last week traveling around his home state of Texas holding news conferences announcing his decision to seek re-election.

In both West Virginia and Texas, the presidential primary falls on the same day as the Senate primary (May 1 for Texas, May 11 for West Virginia).

"It has become a logistical problem," said Bentsen press secretary Jack Devore. "It's been hard to get everything organized and to keep the campaigns separated."

A Federal Election Commission ruling requires candidates in such dual campaigns to set up separate finance committees and to maintain separate accounts.

"Sometimes, it's impossible to separate the two campaigns when he's physically in Texas campaigning," Devore conceded.

Bentsen has one Democratic opponent in his re-election bid, Texas A&M University economics professor Philip Gramm. As might be expected, Gramm has made the fact that Bentsen is campaigning for two offices at the same time a campaign issue.

Byrd thus far has no primary opposition in his re-election bid, although the filing deadline for West Virginia is not until Feb. 7.

"We don't anticipate there will be any serious opposition," said Allen Montgomery, Byrd's presidential campaign coordinator. "And after all, Bob Byrd is a pretty popular candidate in West Virginia."

Neither Jackson nor Udall has to file for re-election until after the July Democratic primaries, although both have indicated they plan to seek re-election should they fail to win the presidential nomination.

"Right now Udall is running for the presidency and the presidency alone," said Udall aide Bob Neuman. "He thinks he'll win the nomination, and that will make the question moot." Udall is from Arizona.

CAREER SALES OPPORTUNITY

Would you like to earn $10,000 to $25,000 a year (and more) as a salesman? You can do it here in your own hometown. No overnight travel is required. We offer a comprehensive three year training program. You will receive excellent fringe benefits. There is an opportunity for rapid advancement.

Of the 20 individuals in sales positions in our various Ohio offices for two or more years, 8 earn in excess of $25,000 a year and 9 others earn between $10,000 and $25,000 a year. In recent years our top salespersons and their spouses have qualified for all expenses paid meetings in Caracas, Venezuela; Honolulu, Hawaii; the Costa del Sol, Spain; Rome, Italy; and Acapulco, Mexico.

We pay a starting income of up to $1,000 a month. A bonus plan makes it possible to earn in excess of $18,000 in your first year and in excess of $25,000 in the second year. We can prove this has been done. After the initial three year training period, our men and women are self-employed and completely independent.

A sales background and a college degree are desirable, but certainly not essential. Twelve of our salespersons are college graduates of whom 6 have Master's degrees. Others are high school graduates. We have successful individuals under 30 years of age. Other successful persons in our organization are grandparents.

We have no particular requirements — we are looking for honest, hard-working men and women who meet people well and who will work very hard and follow our proved sales system exactly.

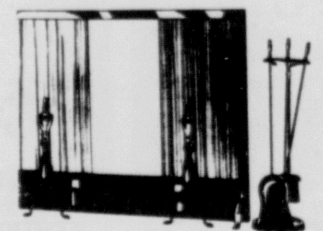

Take five minutes to investigate this challenging and rewarding career with a 65-year-old organization. Call our central office in Columbus (614) 224-1291 on Friday, January 30, between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m. and on Saturday morning, January 31, between 9:00 and 12:00 and ask for Mr. Richard Tice.

Blue Lions set for McClain rematch

BY MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

The Washington C.H. Blue Lions and the Greenfield McClain Tigers are making their way toward each other from opposite paths.

Last week, the Tigers spent their time trying to corral the Circleville Tigers and didn't have any success as they lost 58-52. Circleville was, and still is, in first place in the SCOL.

Last week, the Lions completely wasted a hapless Unioto team while improving everybody's scoring averages and crushing them 117-45.

Western Michigan perfect in MAC

Miller's Broncos glide by Miami

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan Coach Eldon Miller says a change in strategy in the second half was a key to the Bronco's surprisingly easy 82-68 basketball triumph over Miami Wednesday night.

The victory gave Western undisputed possession of first place in the Mid-American Conference with a 7-0 record and was the team's 15th straight this season.

"We went to last year's offense—going to the middle first," Miller said. That opened up the corner offense. We also got more out of (Tom) Cutter and (Paul) Griffin that way."

Cutter scored 20 points and pulled down 11 rebounds while Griffin tallied 10 points and blocked five Miami shots as the Broncos handed Miami its first loss in seven league games.

In other Mid-American Conference action, Toledo defeated Ohio University 79-75. Central Michigan edged Ball State 66-64 and Eastern Michigan whipped Northern Illinois 83-70.

Playing outside the league, Bowling Green trounced Cleveland State 101-66 and Kent State was victimized by South Carolina 75-61.

Western Michigan led Miami nearly the entire game and held a 39-32 advantage at halftime. The Redskins never got closer than five points in the second period.

"Our defense played very well," Miller said. "We went to a lot of people in the first half who played exceptionally well. We couldn't afford to go into the second half with people having a lot of fouls, especially with Miami's depth."

Miami, led by Paul Shoemaker with 20 points, managed to hit only 38 per cent of its shots from the field, while Western scored on a respectable 57 per cent.

Toledo took over third place in the MAC standings with a 5-2 record by beating the Bobcats, who dropped to fourth at 4-2. The Rockets shot a hot 61 per cent from the field and were paced by Larry Cole with 22 points.

Central Michigan fought back from a 13-point deficit in the second half and beat Ball State on Denny Parks' layup with 16 seconds remaining in the game. Central now is 3-4 in the conference, while Ball State recorded its sixth loss in seven games.

Eastern Michigan, paced by Bill Weaver, went on a 14-point scoring spree in the second half for a come-from-behind conquest of Northern Illinois. Weaver led all scorers with 20 points as Eastern notched its first MAC triumph in seven games. Northern is 0-7.

Bowling Green racked up its biggest score of the season in beating Cleveland State—but it was a costly victory. Starting junior guard Dan Hipsher suffered a broken bone in his left foot and team officials said he will be out of action for four to six weeks.

Guard Tommy Harris scored 26 points for the Falcons.

Kent State rallied late in the game,

Unioto was, and still is, in last place in the SCOL.

When they meet at McClain's new gym Friday night, Washington C.H. has everything to gain or lose and Greenfield has nothing to gain or lose. Court House, at 6-3 in the league, still has a remote chance at the crown chasing Circleville's 8-1 mark. The Tigers will have to wait until next year with their 4-5 record.

Nevertheless, this game will not be an easy win for either team. Greenfield, as well as Washington, has men who can put the ball through the hoop and men who can rebound.

Senior Steve Harvey, the mainstay of the Tiger offense for the past three years, anchors the scoring with a hefty 15.7 average. He also leads the team in rebounding by a large margin. Comparing statistics, it would seem that Harvey is almost all Greenfield has to offer in the way of talent. However, there are others who help in the offensive departments.

Chris Nelson, a 6-1 senior, averages 11.9 points a game. Eric Dunson, a junior guard with a good out-side shot, scores 10.3 points a game. Also starting for Greenfield will be guards Tim Dreher and Jim Jones. Dreher averages 8.8 a game while Jones throws in 6.6 every game and scored 14 against Circleville.

While McClain has only Harvey in scoring and rebounding, Washington C.H. offers two players that compliment each other. Sophomore and senior sensations John Denen and Doug Phillips constantly score in double figures and bring down the rebounds in double figures to match.

Denen averages 15.2 points a game and Phillips carries a 15.1 average with him. A team can consider that they have had a victory when they limit Phillips and Denen to under 10 rebounds each.

Senior Chuck Byrd, the 5-10 playmaker, also averages in double figures for the Lions with a 13-2 mean. Ken Upthegrove will be in the pivot once again for the Blue Lions and he carries an average near eight points. Also starting will be Dee Hart Foster who averages nearly five tallies a game.

Sizing up the game, Harvey and Denen should counteract each other. But even if that should happen, McClain will still have to contend with Phillips and Byrd in the scoring department and Phillips and Upthegrove in the rebounding department. Although only playing one game last year and the league preview this year, Washington C.H. has never won on the Tigers' new multi-purpose floor.

There are a lot of question marks in this game and whoever gets the breaks will probably come out ahead.

closing to within four points of South Carolina, but its top scorer, Cortez Brown, with 20 points, fouled out and South Carolina extended its lead again.

In other major Ohio college basketball action, Dayton fell to Louisville 83-74 after having led almost the entire first half and holding a 38-36 margin at intermission. Louisville had a slim 75-74 lead with 3:02 remaining before it scored the final eight points of the game.

In Ohio Conference play, Ohio Northern took over sole possession of the Northern Division lead with a 64-63 victory over Heidelberg, while Otterbein tightened its grip on first place in the Southern Division by beating Ohio Wesleyan 92-83.

Northern and Heidelberg had shared the North lead with 4-1 records going into their game, won with two seconds to play on Al Donhoff's jump shot.

Otterbein improved its record in the South to 6-0 as Dave Bromley led the attack with 25 points.

Marietta trimmed Capital 61-60 in another Ohio Conference contest as Jeff Faloba poured in 28 points and hit the winning basket with 11 seconds remaining on the clock.

Bluffton sailed to a 92-77 victory over Hanover in a Hoosier-Buckeye Conference game.

Trace Biddy cage league underway

The seven-team Miami Trace Biddy Basketball League completed its second week of action Saturday.

Wilson leads the league with a perfect 2-0 mark and Madison Mills, which drew a bye last Saturday, is in second with a 1-0 mark.

Wayne, New Holland and Bloomingburg all sport 1-1 records and the Jeffersonville Sixth Grade and Fifth Grade teams are both winless.

This Saturday, Wayne meets Wilson, Bloomingburg meets Madison Mills, Jeff Sixth Grade faces Jeff Fifth Grade and New Holland draws a bye. Game time is 10 a.m. at Miami Trace High School.

Sparky's clubhouse meeting lit fire under champion Reds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sparky Anderson says he's not the type of baseball manager who thrives on clubhouse meetings.

But it was such a session, described by the easy-going Cincinnati Reds skipper as volatile, that turned the Reds around in 1975 and propelled them to baseball's World Series championship.

"I was hostile that night. And I don't like to do it. I have maybe one clubhouse meeting all season," said Anderson of an early season session with his players in Montreal.

The Reds, favored to win the National League West, had fallen 5½ games behind Los Angeles.

"We went 41-9 after that," said a chuckling Anderson during Cincinnati's winter press caravan Wednesday night.

"The Dodgers just disappeared. They had hit a bad streak at the same time. They won't be that way this year. They'll start strong. Tommy John is back," said the Reds' manager.

Anderson forecasts no Cincinnati weaknesses in 1976, but is concerned about getting hardhitting reserve Danny Driessen playing time.

"Danny's not happy. I don't blame him. He's probably the third best hitter on our club. But Tony (Perez) is a pretty hard guy to move out of there at first base," he said.

North Carolina tops Deacons

Wake Forest in tailspin

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Will the real Wake Forest basketball team please stand up?

At the beginning of the season, the Demon Deacons couldn't lose for winning. Now they can't win for losing.

"Right now, we just need a victory more than anything else to bring out the best in the team and get us back where we were in the beginning," Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy said Wednesday night following an 88-85 overtime loss to fourth-ranked North Carolina.

The loss was the fifth straight and sixth in the last seven games for Wake Forest, an enigmatic team that at one time had a 10-0 record and a place in the nation's Top Ten.

The Demon Deacons included North Carolina, North Carolina State and Maryland, three formidable Atlantic Coast Conference colleagues, among their victims earlier in the year.

But unfortunately two of the games did not count in the league standings and as a result, the onetime giant killers are saddled with a 1-5 ACC record and a dismal outlook for the near future.

"I think when you're in a winning rather than a losing streak like we've been in, you have a better chance of pulling out a game like we had tonight," Tacy said. "I think the team gave it everything they had and played well."

In other games involving ranked teams, seventh-ranked Maryland beat eighth-ranked North Carolina State 102-84; 10th-ranked Notre Dame routed DePaul 89-68 and No. 20 Virginia Tech crushed William and Mary 105-79.

Mitch Kupchak scored 26 points and Tom LaGarde added 19 to help North Carolina squeeze the life out of Wake Forest. Kupchak and LaGarde combined for five vital points in the overtime period as the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons 11-8.

The regulation game ended with the

Elk hoop shoot to continue

The Washington C. H. Elks Club will continue with its hoop shoot contest this Saturday for Fayette County youths.

Last Saturday, 8 and 9-year-olds competed at the Washington Middle School, and winners from two schools were announced. Jeff Shaw, who hit 14 of 25 freethrows, Rod Morgan and Jeff Cooper finished in the top three for Rose Avenue School while Phil Carter, Steve Leach and Roy Mustine were the top three shooters from Belle Aire School.

These six boys along with winners from Eastside and other area elementary schools will compete in the hoop shoot finals next month at Washington Senior High School.

This Saturday, boys and girls between 10-11 years of age will have a chance to qualify at the Middle School. Contestants, who have not signed up at their schools, can register before the hoop shoot at 9 a.m.

Early in the season, with a sprinkling of open dates, Anderson will use a pitching Big Four of right-handers Jack Billingham and Gary Nolan and lefties Don Gullett and Fred Norman.

"When we start playing every day," he said, "I'll go with five starting pitchers. Pat Darcy right now is the fifth starter. But he's got to hold that in spring training."

The switch of Pete Rose from left field to third base will remain permanent in 1976. Anderson moved the peppery Rose to the infield after the season started last year and the strategy helped turn the Reds into runaway division winners.

And the bullpen, anchored by youngsters Rawly Eastwick and Will McEnaney, remains one of the club's strong points despite the trade of veteran mainstay Clay Carroll to the Chicago White Sox.

"The Reds started training Will and me for this," Eastwick said of his relief specialty. "Nobody else was doing that in the minor leagues. They deserve the credit for the innovation."

The two bullpen stars combined for a 10-5 record. McEnaney, a free-spirited lefthander, posted a 2.47 earned run average. Eastwick, a hardthrowing right-hander, owned a 2.60 ERA after his recall from Indianapolis.

score tied at 77 as Wake Forest's Skip Brown missed what could have been the winning basket in the last two seconds. The victory gave North Carolina an ACC-leading 6-1 record and a 14-2 record overall.

Guards John Lucas and Mo Howard combined for 59 points, with Lucas equalling his career high with 34, as Maryland beat North Carolina State.

"This is a particular good win for us coming off two straight losses," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driessel. "I think it proves we still have an excellent team."

Adrian Dantley moved into second place on the all-time Notre Dame scoring list with 31 points to lead the Fighting Irish past DePaul. Russell Davis converted 19 free throws and scored 27 points to pace Virginia Tech past William and Mary.

Celtic pride tops Atlanta

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics have won 12 National Basketball Association championships with a basketful of talent, but their biggest asset through the years has been something intangible.

It's called "pride" — and that's what the Celtics used to beat the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night, according to Cotton Fitzsimmons.

"Celtics pride turned it around," said the Atlanta coach after losing a 110-99 decision at the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

"They were ripe for a beating. We had a tough game in New York Tuesday night, but I felt if we could control the tempo we had a good chance. We did — right up to the third period.

"They broke our patterns with their pushing and shoving. The difference in the game was Celtics' pride. They won. It's no reflection on our team. We are young and don't have a history like the Celtics."

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn was less romantic in his assessment of the game.

"Paul Silas and John Havlicek

For Presidential Classroom program

WSHS seniors Washington-bound

Have you ever watched one of those news conferences on television and wished that you could be there to ask the question nobody else dared to ask?

Three Washington Senior High School seniors will have the opportunity in just a couple of weeks and as they have been selected to go to Washington, D.C., joining other high school students from throughout the nation in the week-long "Presidential Classroom for Young Americans."

Washington Senior High School Principal Fred Jones announced that Sue A. Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Moore, 178 Eastview Drive, Daniel C. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester V. Dean, 507 Frank St., and Thomas U. Anderson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert U. Anderson, 16 Hali Drive, will be participating the "Presidential Classroom for Young Americans" during the month of February.

Miss Moore will be attending Feb. 21-28; Dean, Feb. 7-14 and Anderson, Feb. 14-21.

Since its inception in 1968, the non-profit, non-partisan Presidential Classroom has hosted over 11,000 students in the nation's capital. The classroom program is designed to promote a greater understanding of the federal government through personal contact with its institutions and leaders. Students live in a Washington area hotel, and attend seminars and discussions led by key Washington officials.

The three Washington Senior High School students will have the opportunity to study all three branches of the federal government, in depth, and to gain an increased understanding of the issues and personalities which directly influence the conduct of political affairs on the national level.

But, says Presidential Classroom executive director Angie Whitaker, that's not all as "the meetings with prominent people in the Washington community are only part of the classroom experience. According to the students themselves, equally important is the opportunity to exchange ideas and points of view with their peers from distant areas of the country."

Ms. Whitaker also stresses that a student's participation will often involve not only the student and his school, but the entire community as well. Upon their return home, many students are asked to be guest speakers before local community organizations, and share their Washington experience with others.

Enrollment for the 1976 high school program has already closed; all available spaces have been filled. However, classroom officials recently announced that applications for the Presidential classroom summer program are now being accepted. The summer program is designed to meet the specific needs of a different population — educators, administrators, government employees, employees of government-related programs, graduate students and undergraduates majoring in political science or government.

While the summer program's curriculum format closely parallels that of the high school program, there are some basic differences. First, each of three classes in the summer program runs for two weeks instead of one; second, participants may elect to enroll in the program for three hours of either graduate or undergraduate credit from the University of Virginia; and third, workshops are added to the daily schedule to complement the regular seminar sessions.

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED TO SCHOOLS
NEW YORK (AP) — Four U.S. colleges and conservatories have been selected to receive $8,000 in the 1975 Raymond Hubbell Scholarships, according to Stanley Adams, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The institutions, to receive $2,000 each to assist young composers, performers and future teachers, are Appalachia State University, Boone, N.C., the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music of the University of Cincinnati in Ohio, the University of Nevada in Las Vegas and Middle Tennessee State University at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The scholarships draw their income from the estates of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hubbell. Hubbell, who died in 1954, was a founding member of ASCAP in 1914 and composed "Poor Butterfly."

Whalen running for 6th term

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, has announced he will seek reelection to a sixth term in the House.

Whalen, who was unopposed in 1974, was re-elected in each of his last three contested races by approximately 75 per cent of the vote.

The Whalen for Congress Committee will limit itself to contributions no larger than $100, he said.

NOTICE TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Pursuant to Section 711.25 of the Ohio Revised Code, Ora C. Burdge and Frances E. Family loses contents of home in rural fire

A Fayette County family lost the contents of their Miami Trace Road home in an early morning fire Thursday.

The blaze broke out at 6:20 a.m. around a wood burning stove and spread to the rest of the house occupied by the Robert Taylor family located on the Robert Coffman farm. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies on the scene reported Taylor attempted to subdue the fire with water but it had too much of a head start. Concord-Green Township firefighters were summoned but by the time the fire was put out, the home's contents had been consumed and the home itself severely gutted.

Sheriff's deputies reported no insurance on the contents and no injuries to Taylor, his wife, nor their five children.

A gas explosion rocked Clark's Cardinal food store, 747 W. Elm St. at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday. Washington C.H. Fire Lt. William Smith and fireman Ronnie Cox were dispatched to the scene, but found no fire. Lt. Smith stated they were able to locate the gas leak and Dayton Power and Light Co. workers were contacted to shut the gas off until repairs could be made. There was no fire and apparently little damage from the explosion.

Team candidacy plan slated for June 6 ballot in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans probably will be asked on the June 8 ballot if they want to elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team, instead of under the existing system that elected men of opposite political parties.

The House revived Wednesday an embattled constitutional resolution that had languished in a joint conference committee for months. It was approved 61-36—just one vote more than the three-fifths majority required in the 99-member House.

Although the Senate still must act on the conference committee report, the six-member panel agreed on it unanimously, indicating Senate approval is likely. If approved by voters, the first governor-lieutenant governor team would appear on the November 1978 ballot.

In other action, the Senate added its approval to a House measure that creates 28 new judgeships in Ohio—including three each in the 1st and 8th District Courts of Appeals, in Cincinnati and Cleveland, respectively.

The other 20 judgeships would be created in existing courts of common pleas in the following manner: Geauga, Hancock, Lawrence, Marion, Ross, and Trumbull Counties would get one new judge each. Cuyahoga would get six new judges, Franklin, three; Montgomery, three, and Lucas, two.

Sponsors predicted the House will go along with Senate changes in the measure, sending it to Gov. James A. Rhodes. It carries an emergency clause, giving it immediate effect.

In other developments, the Democratic chairmen of the legislature's two finance committees introduced a revised budget for the commerce department.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said the bill will increase funding to enable the financially troubled department to carry out inspections and examinations required by the various divisions, including savings and loans and the state fire marshal's office.

However, the chairmen—who want to transfer consumer protection activities into the office of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat, said they will provide no funds to continue the department's consumer protection division for the remainder of the biennium.

Community Ed. report

By HANK SHAFFER
Program Director

We are going to start out this week's article with a couple of statements on what the Community Education advisory council feel are the goals of Community Education here in the Washington C. H. area. Our goals are:

- (1) To identify the needs, wants and desires of individuals and groups through communication with them.
- (2) To identify the human and physical resources of the community.
- (3) To help with the development of community-initiated programs and services by appropriate agencies to provide for unmet needs.
- (4) Full utilization of the public schools as well as other public facilities of the community.
- (5) The involvement of the total community toward individual and group self-sufficiency, and development of skills to meet that goal.

We feel that these are realistic goals and we will continue to strive toward attaining them.

This past Monday and Tuesday evenings, we held our open house registration for the classes to start next week. More than 220 people signed up for the various classes including cake decorating, knitting, quilting, ceramics, guitar lessons, sewing, crochet, photography, bookkeeping, typing, speed reading, and Fayette County history. These classes will begin this coming week and can still be gotten into by calling us at the Community Education office, 335-6621. Cake decorating, and sewing are the only two classes that are closed at this time. The charge for the classes is between $4.50 and $10 depending upon how many instructional hours are involved.

Last Saturday morning, the local Elks Lodge No. 129 held their "hoop shoot" for eight and nine year olds throughout the county. Many schools are having their own shoot and are sending their winners to the finals on February 14 at the Middle School gym. Those participating at the Middle School last Saturday were from Rose Avenue and Belle Aire. The winners advancing to the finals of that age group were: Rose Avenue — Jeff Shaw, Rod Morgan and Jeff Cooper; and Belle Aire — Phil Carter, Steve Leach and Roy Mustain.

This week at the Middle School gym, the 10 and 11 year olds are eligible to participate. There is no charge for the contest and those interested should meet at the Middle School gym at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

WSHS grad recognized in university's magazine

DELAWARE, O. — William Junk, a senior majoring in politics and government at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, has received recognition in the Student Scholar magazine for his paper on "A Critical Analysis of the G.A.O. as an Effective Arm of Congress." The paper was submitted to the politics and government department as a summary of a term spent in Washington, D. C. for research.

The Student Scholar magazine, an annual compilation of scholarly works by students from every university department, contains papers of superior quality recommended for inclusion by supervising professors.

Junk, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Junk, 107 E. Circle Ave.

G.A.O., Junk points out, is supposed to serve Congress as an auditor and accountant. The four-chapter paper examines the history, organization and work of G.O.A. The final chapter consists of interviews with G.A.O. officials about how G.A.O. could be more effective.

Most officials felt the G.A.O. was used effectively by Congress, but could be used alot more. Junk concludes, "If the G.A.O. could be expanded in the future, it is my belief that Congress would be more efficient."

Driver critically injured

A Dayton man is listed in critical condition at University Hospital in Columbus from a head-on collision he was involved in early Thursday morning.

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported a car driven by Douglas Richardson, 38, Dayton, traveled left of center on U.S. 35 in Paint Township and struck a semi-truck driven by Carl Penwell, 62, of 506 W. Elm St., head-on. Richardson, who was pinned in the wreckage, suffered facial lacerations and other injuries not yet diagnosed. His car was demolished.

Penwell was not injured, but the front of his semi-truck incurred severe damage. The mishap is still under investigation by highway patrol officers.

Democrats override Ford veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats who overrode President Ford's veto of a $45-billion spending bill now are moving toward a new confrontation over a $6.1-billion public works measure that backers claim would create some 800,000 jobs.

Beside authorizing money for projects designed to create jobs, the public works bill before the House today would grant federal funds during times of high unemployment to state and local governments faced with the alternatives of firing employees or raising taxes.

The Ford administration opposes the measure, and House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona described it as a prime target for a veto if it is passed.

The measure comes up for floor action a day after the Democratic-controlled Congress overrode Ford's veto of a bill funding politically popular health, welfare and job programs at a level almost $1 billion above the President's budget.

Ford lost his first spending battle of the election-year session Wednesday when the Senate voted 70 to 24 to override the veto. The margin was seven more than the two-thirds vote needed to override. The House voted Tuesday to override, 310 to 113.

Ford, in vetoing the measure, said it would "contribute to excessive deficits and needless inflationary pressures." He said the measure would add 8,000 people to the federal payroll, saying, "I find it difficult to believe the majority of the American people favor increasing the number of employees on the federal payroll."

Arrests

POLICE
TUESDAY — Ervin W. Carrier, 75, Hillsboro, failure to yield right of way.
WEDNESDAY — Carter Wilson, 31, of 909½ E. Temple St., warrant from Richland County, Olney, Ill., for indecent solicitation of a child and unlawful restraint; Gregory T. Shirin, 47, Columbus, reckless operation.

For sewer, water improvement

FHA approves loans for village projects

BLOOMINGBURG — The Farmers Home Administration has approved two loans totaling $472,000 for the village of Bloomingburg for utility improvement projects.

The village council received bids on four projects totaling nearly $1 million Jan. 22, and the loans will provide funds for the portion of the improvement projects which are not federally funded. The programs call for improvement of the water treatment plant, purchase and installation of water meters, construction of a sewage treatment plant, and installation of a sewage collection system.

A federal grant will provide 75 per cent of the cost of the two sewer projects. Approval of a grant up to $745,725 has already been awarded to the village. The remaining 25 per cent of the sewer programs and all of the cost of the two water projects will be financed by the FHA loans.

Seeing the final stages of the programs approaching has been a personally rewarding experience for Bloomingburg Mayor Max E. Grim. Obtaining the FHA loans marked the passing of the last major obstacle blocking actual construction, a project the mayor initiated shortly after taking office eight years ago. Grim, who is beginning his third term as the village mayor, said his desire to see the project through to its completion was one of the factors which prompted him to see re-election last November.

The village council will meet Tuesday night to consider accepting four of the 48 bids submitted on the projects. M.M. Schirtzinger, of Chillicothe, project engineer, has been reviewing each of the three lowest bids on each project to verify that they meet the specifications of the contract for which they were submitted. He has approved the lowest bid for each contract and recommends their acceptance by council, Grim said.

If the lowest bids are accepted, the cost of the two sewer projects would total $823,822. The cost of the water contracts would be $117,295. Total construction costs would be $941,117. Even after adding engineers fees and other costs, the total project cost should fall well below the $1,156,300 estimate.

The sum of the sewer grant and the FHA loans is more than $1,200,000, and the cost should fall well below the limit of funds which the village has provided.

Grim said the loan approval is for all of the water project cost plus 25 per cent of the sewer project "up to" $472,000. The actual amount borrowed will be only what is necessary to cover costs.

The water project will increase the filtering capacity of the plant. Originally designed to filter only 60,000 gallons of water per day, the system has been providing 100,000 gallons per day, and the result is water which is very high in iron content.

In addition to expanding the filtering capabilities, the village will sink a second well to meet future needs and to provide an emergency water supply if difficulty is encountered in the present well.

The installation of meters will allow the village to bill residents according to their water usage rather than abiding by a fixed rate. The sewage charge will also be based on the amount of water consumed.

Construction on each of the projects is expected to range from one year to 18 months.

The FHA loans will be repaid over a 30-year period from sewer and water revenues. The interest rate on the loans is five per cent.

The mayor said the only direct cost to the homeowner will be installing sewer lines from his home to the trunk lines in front of their residences.

The mayor also noted that the functional stages of a $12,000 water tower repair project have been completed. The tower has been welded and refilled with water. The tower still needs a coat of paint, but crews will wait until spring to begin that portion of the work. He added that the cost of repairs is being paid directly from the water fund.

Coffee Break . . .

POLICE AWARENESS was praised by a Sabina resident in a letter read by Washington C.H. City Manager George H. Shapter at Wednesday's Council meeting . . .

The author of the letter was changing the rear wheels of his truck one night in an area of the Washington Square Shopping Center which has a reputation for being a hangout for wayward juveniles when approached by a Washington C.H. police officer . . .

The Sabina man was pleased that the officer had been alert to the fact that "suspicious" is a mild understatement for someone loading tires and wheels into the back of a truck in the middle of the night . . .

The writer was also pleased that the policeman (whom he could not identify) found the unusual story of how he had come to be in this predicament too strange to be anything but the truth . . .

He found the officer who turned out to be Pt. Larry Mongold both alert to the potential for theft and gracious in his handling of the situation, and he felt obliged to convey his feelings to the city manager . . .

WHILE CLOSING its doors to customers in the Washington C.H. area, the Borden Burger on Columbus Avenue has left out-patient children at Fayette County Memorial Hospital a parting gift . . .

The restaurant donated to the hospital a collection of toys which presumably had been used as gifts for patrons . . . Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz said the toys will be given to out-patients to brighten their hospital encounters . . . He expressed his gratitude to Borden Burger officials for their kindness . . .

For city in traffic light program

Time running out

BY GEORGE MALEK

Six years ago a federal law required changes in traffic signal devices nationwide, and time will run out before Washington C.H. complies.

According to engineer Donald L. Conley, the city's traffic lights will become invalid long before Washington C.H. will be able to comply with the "stop light" regulations.

Conley's assessment of the current situation was presented Wednesday night during the City Council meeting. Conley also discussed the status of the city's application for federal community development funds.

Conley stated that state and federal law required that all signal-controlled intersections have two sets of lights facing each approach by Dec. 31, 1976. To this point, the city has taken very little positive action to change traffic signals in Washington C.H. in order to comply, and he estimates the project will require at least 18 months before erection of additional lights could even begin.

Due to its late start, the city is in jeopardy of losing some federal funding which is available and will undoubtedly have invalid traffic lights. It should, however, be able to preserve state revenue from gasoline and license plate taxes which might also be lost if some affirmative action is not taken in the near future.

The city's position is still a long way from admirable. The cost of complying in the downtown business district alone has been estimated as high as $311,000, of which some $93,000 must come from the city coffers.

The reasons for the duplication of traffic signals is so that traffic can be controlled when one light malfunctions and so that motorists can view one light when a truck or obstacle blocks the other. The change was mandated in 1970, and cities across the county were given six years to comply.

In order to ease the financial hardships brought about by the requirement, the federal government will fund 70 per cent of the cost of the improvement. Money has been set aside for that purpose, but a portion of the monies which remain unclaimed by June 30, 1977 will be returned to the government for use elsewhere.

Conley's estimate predicted that Washington C.H. would not be in a position to request its funds until after that date, and this might cause the city to lose part of its program funds, he said.

The reason for the tremendous expense of adding just 15 traffic signals, Conley explained, is that the downtown area has a synchronized system. All the lights are timed from a central unit, and the new lights would have to be compatible with their mates. He added that he had tried to include every conceivable expense, and if anything, the estimate should be high.

Conley said the city would have to hire an engineering firm to draw detailed plans of the proposed system which would then be submitted to the Ohio Department of Transportation for approval. However, the city's choice of engineers must be approved by the Ohio Department of Transportation and that alone could take six to nine months.

Four more months would be required to draw the plans, and the transportation department would then tie the proposal in bureaucratic tape for several months before reviewing the drawings. They are eventually returned to the engineer for modification and then must be resubmitted to the state transportation and that alone could take six to nine months.

Four more months would be required to draw the plans, and the transportation department would then tie the proposal in bureaucratic tape for several months before reviewing the drawings. They are eventually returned to the engineer for modification and then must be resubmitted to the state transportation department again. The transportation department then advertises for bids, and finally the city can claim its grant money.

Council was anything but pleased to learn that $93,000 in street funds would be needed for the city's share—especially when the downtown area account for only about half the city's traffic lights.

Although it appears Council will have no choice but to find the money somewhere, members refrained from taking any action until they could investigate possible sources of revenue.

Conley as well as Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott urged action in the very near future. Scott said that when the lights become invalid at the end of the year, no one can "crash" a red light. The red, green and yellow lights will, under the law, become meaningless. It will definitely create a problem for law enforcement officers, he said.

Viewing the situation from a slightly different angle,

All legislation unanimously approved

Council sets budget work session

Washington C. H. City Council members Wednesday night encountered no difficulty agreeing of five pieces of legislation, but found it hard to schedule a meeting for the next budget work session.

Council members unanimously approved the first reading of appropriations bill, approved resolutions lauding two police department retirees and named an appointee to the library board in addition to submitting an application for free street painting.

When finance committee chairman Mrs. Bertha McCullough sought to have a work session established for further work on budget, however, unity was lost.

Council members Ralph Cook and Eddie Fisher were both absent from the meeting. Cook is vacationing, and Fisher is recovering from surgery on his foot. The first suggestion for a budget meeting was Feb. 9, a date by which both absent Council members are expected to return.

Mrs. McCullough urged more rapid action on the budget and recommended Feb. 2, a week earlier. She said it was likely that Fisher would be able to attend a meeting on that date and stressed the importance of resolving the budget deficit quickly. Each day the city operates on an uncut budget, she said, the more drastic the eventual reductions will have to be.

Council member James Ward echoed similar sentiments. He said that while he would prefer having all Council members present for such a meeting, he thought it was more important that Council reach agreement on the matter as soon as possible.

Council member John Morris, however, said the budget question was too immense for consideration by less than a full complement of the city's legislators. He said he would be unable to attend any work session until Cook and Fisher were available.

Council member Billie Wilson said the matter could be handled in a regular Council session and added that he was considering a boycott of any "special" meetings on the topic.

The possibility of a morning meeting was suggested by Ward. He noted that two other meetings had been approximately two hours each, and Council was still far from completing its task. The first-term Council member recommended an early start and adjournment only after some method of meeting the budget deficit of approximately $130,000 had been rectified.

Since it was apparent that a quorum of City Council was unlikely on any date prior to Feb. 9, that date obtained reluctant consent from Ward and Mrs. McCullough. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m., "and (let's) work on through," said the finance chairman.

Council chairman Joseph O'Brien noted that Cook might not be back in time for the meeting and it might have to be shifted to the following day.

THE ORDINANCE placed on its first reading appropriates $197,539 of general fund and sewer grant monies for payment of bills which are due. Almost all of that amount, $195,012, has been received by the city from the federal government for payment to the C.F. Bird and R. J. Bull, Ltd., engineering firm of Worthington for work on the first phase of the sewer project.

The remainder of the money includes payment of $1,027 to the state of Ohio as reimbursement of unemployment compensation paid to a former city

Businesses nix gas payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Businesses vetoed a proposal Wednesday that they begin paying for special purchases of natural gas, while billing of residential customers were deferred pending a decision whether homeowners should pay at all.

The proposal by Columbia Gas of Ohio was turned down at an emergency hearing of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Firms including General Motors Corp., Owens Corning Fiberglas Corp., J.C. Penney Co. and Sears Roebuck & Co. rejected the idea, James Fullin, attorney for Columbia, said.

Attorneys for the firms said they declined because other gas companies were involved and because they did not want to pit classes of consumers against each other.

Columbia must have a decision Feb. 10 on who should pay because that is the last day higher fuel bills can be stopped from going out to residential consumers, Fullin said.

"We'll try to meet that deadline," PUCO Chairman C. Luther Heckman said.

Faced with a shortage of natural gas, Ohio utilities bought about 27 billion cubic feet of gas from markets in southwestern states this winter. The direct purchases were exempt from interstate price controls, so the utilities paid about $62 million or twice the normal cost of that much gas.

Since under state guidelines residential customers never were faced with supply cutbacks, consumer groups have argued homeowners should not have to help pay for the extra gas.

Industries contend the gas helps everyone because it means continuing production, jobs and services, so everyone should pay.

Columbia said its extra cost was about $17 million and that it would translate into a monthly increase of about 75 cents in the average homeowners fuel bill.

Columbia has said it is anxious to begin recovering some of the extra cost to help ease the company's cash flow.

After announcement that the compromise effort had failed, former U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum asked the commission to implement the plan by its own order. Heckman replied the commission was not ready for that step.

The chairman said the hearing probably would have continued anyway.

The commission heard mayors of at least four Ohio towns tell of the hardships the rising cost of fuel is working on residents, especially those on fixed incomes.

The PUCO has scheduled a meeting Feb. 17 to make final any temporary decisions reached at the emergency hearing. On March 10, the commission is to begin setting longrange policy on pricing of emergency gas purchases.

Paul L. Johns

Paul L. Johns, 55, of 624 Grace St., died Thursday morning in Veterans Administration Hospital, Cincinnati, where he had been a patient two weeks. A retired truck driver, he had been ill for one year. He was a World War II U.S. Army veteran, a member of the Homer Lawson Post, American Legion, and the Disabled American Veterans.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eleanor Haithcock; two sons, Ronald Eugene of 310 Bereman St., and David L., at home; two grandchildren; three brothers, Robert, William and Jackie Johns, all of Washington C. H.; and four sisters, Mrs. Mary Jo Tyree, 1028 E. Paint St., Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Delaware St., Mrs. Patricia Lawson of Englewood, Calif., and Mrs. Martha Franklin of Columbus.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in the Gertsner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. H. Porter of Dayton officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 9 p.m. Sunday.

Harold E. Acton

FRANKFORT — Services for Harold E. Acton, 77, of Frankfort, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Frankfort United Methodist Church with the Rev. David White officiating. Burial will be in Greenlawn Cemetery, Frankfort, under the direction of the Fisher Funeral Home, Frankfort.

Mr. Acton, a retired employee of the record department at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute, died at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in Fort Meyers, Fla. He was born at Frankfort, and was a member of the United Methodist Church, Frankfort Lodge No. 309, F&AM, and Concord Chapter No. 520, Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, the former Irene Miller; two sisters, Mrs. Everett (Lulu) Baird, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., and Mrs. Walter (Helen) Schweitzer of Chillicothe; and a brother, Roger C. Acton of Gahanna. He was preceded in death by two brothers and a sister.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 9 p.m. and until noon on Saturday, then at the United Methodist Church until time for the service. Friends, if they wish, may contribute to the church or to their favorite charity.

Masonic services will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

J. Willard Harley

CHILLICOTHE — J. Willard (Bill) Harley, 65, Rt. 1, Chillicothe, died at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe, following an extended illness.

A native of Washington C. H., Mr. Harley had been employed as a nursing aide in Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital for 29 years prior to his retirement in 1972. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, the former Opal Wilson, whom he married in 1945; three brothers, Howard of Washington C. H., Robert of Gelina, and Otis of Cucamonga, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Jack (Ruth) Ferree of Columbus and Mrs. Evelyn Wilson of Chillicothe. One sister preceded him in death.

Private services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Fawcett-Oliver-Glass Funeral Home, Chillicothe. Burial will be in Twin Township Cemetery, and there will be no calling hours.

J. Robert Murphy

COLUMBUS — Mass will be sung at 10 a.m. Friday in Immaculate Conception Church, Columbus, for J. Robert Murphy, 85, of 76 W. Pacemont Road, Columbus, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Riverside Hospital Tuesday of smoke inhalation. His home was gutted from flames, Columbus firemen said.

Mr. Murphy, the brother-in-law of Miss Mary Francis Snider and Mrs. Stella Murphy, both of Washington C. H., was a former employee of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and Cudahy's in Washington C. H., and also a retired electrical engineer of Children's Hospital. He was a member of Immaculate Conception Church.

He is survived by two sons, Frank Murphy of Columbus, and Joseph Murphy of Delaware; and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Van Dusen of Michigan and Mrs. John Bacus of Columbus; 11 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Southwick Funeral Chapel, 3100 N. High St., from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in St. Colman Cemetery, Washington C.H.

Westinghouse recalls workers

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Westinghouse has recalled 90 workers at its small motors plant here, bringing the number of hourly employees to 600, with another 35 workers yet to be called back from furloughs.

I would like to thank all my many friends and neighbors for all their kindness and concern during our loss of loved ones, Jeffery and James Rinehart.

Especially Martha and Ned Kinzer, the ambulance drivers for their kindness shown to us at our time of need. Also, Rev. Toler, Rev. Orihood, Dean Manns, the pallbearers, Dr. Gebhart and Dr. Shaw, Fayette Memorial Hospital and the nurses in the 400 wing.

May God bless you all.

City Manager George H. Shapter pointed out that the city might be held liable if someone was injured in an intersection. The city manager will attempt to research possible funding as well as city liability and report at the next Council meeting.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT plans were also presented by Conley. These plans are essentially unchanged from 1975 when they were prepared by another engineering firm for submission with an application for federal community development funds. The application was rejected last year.

The application had sought approximately $300,000 in federal funds to make community improvements in 11 different categories. The thrust of the project administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is to assist the elderly, the handicapped and low-income groups. No city funds of any kind would be required because HUD funds approved programs 100 per cent.

Among the projects proposed in the community development plan are establishing a revolving fund for demolition of condemned housing, cutting of curbs in the downtown area to assist the handicapped and elderly, curb and gutter construction in low-income areas, a study of urban traffic flow, creation of a new park and improvement of parks along Paint Creek, residential cleanup, and a study of the financial status of city residents as well as the tax base.

Conley stated that the plans appeared sound, and indicated the reason for the previous rejection may have been that copies were sent to the wrong places. He stated that the plans, with minor revisions, had already been approved by the state clearing house. This means that they are not in violation of any state guidelines or regulations, he explained. The next step is to submit them to HUD, and he hoped Council would give its approval.

After Conley answered a few questions on the proposal, Council voted quickly to have the plans submitted.

As the discussions came to a close, Conley said that if the community development grant was approved, some of the monies might be used to pay costs connected with the traffic lighting project. One of the areas for which a grant is sought is traffic control.

He added that any part or parts of the proposal could be rejected by HUD without having the entire application dismissed. Any part or parts of the plan could be approved on its own merit.

Program tied to Ohio's tax income

Unvoted bond issues eyed in General Assembly plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unvoted bond issues for capital improvements projects would be allowed under the terms of a constitutional amendment recommended for passage by a House committee on Wednesday.

The House Ways and Means Committee gave its blessings to a bill drafted by the Constitutional Revision Commission setting a floating ceiling on state debt.

The ceiling would be determined by the amount of tax revenues the state collects.

Rep. Marcus Roberto, D-62 Ravenna, House sponsor said the measure would allow a more orderly and responsible method of financing state projects.

"It is intended to provide a more rational capital improvements program based on a state plan, on a basis of need rather than depending entirely on the political climate for voting on economic issues," Roberto said.

Under the constitution, multimillion dollar bond issues for construction projects must be approved by a vote of the people.

The proposed amendment would alter that provision, substituting a ceiling based on a percentage of the average tax revenues available for appropriation.

Debt could be used only for capital improvements. Any bond issues above the limit still would require a vote of the people.

The ceiling would change from year to year depending on tax revenues. But a rough figure of $300 million is usually taken as representative.

The limit would be either six per cent of tax revenues, for debt service, or eight per cent of tax revenues, for outstanding principal, whichever is lower.

Roberto said he does not plan to push for quick consideration of the proposal on the House floor.

"The only hope the resolution has is for bipartisan support of legislators who are interested in resolving the capital improvements problems we face biannually," he said.

He said he will try to explain the measure thoroughly to House members before bringing it to a vote.

If approved by the House and Senate, the measure would have to be approved by a vote of the people before it became effective.

employe and $1,500 to Ralph Woolpert and Co. of Cincinnati for work completed on an application for federal community development grant in 1975. The latter bill which was due last year was misplaced by both the city and the engineering firm and was never paid.

A resolution appointing Mrs. Helen Reed, 619 Fairway Drive, to the Carnegie Public Library board of trustees was approved by City Council. It was noted at the same time that Paul A. Hays, another member of the board of trustees, had submitted his resignation, and Council will have to make another appointment.

Council members passed a resolution of cooperation which will enable the city to apply for free painting of street markings. The Ohio Department of Transportation would provide all materials and labor for painting streets with thermal plastic markings if application is approved.

City officials are optimistic that such approval will be granted. Similar programs have been utilized to replace signs, sign posts, and to repair railroad crossings in the city during the past several years.

It was noted that a great deal of time and effort on the project had been spent by city inspector Glenn Tatman in preparing required diagrams of the existing street markings.

Separate resolutions recognizing outstanding service to the city on the part of Capt. Charles Foster and Sgt. Virgil Harris of the Washington C. H. Police Dept. were unanimously approved by Council. The two officers who served in local law enforcement for a total of more than 50 years.

They will be honored at a retirement party at the Terrace Lounge tonight.

Stock list edges up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged upward today, struggling to regain its upward momentum after two sessions dominated by profit taking.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was just slightly ahead of its closing level Wednesday, and gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market was getting some support from a continued downtrend in short term money rates.

But they noted that it still seemed to be caught between the opposing forces of profit taking and buying to join in the dramatic rally of the past several weeks.

Today's early prices included Kennecott Copper, up 1/4 at 32 1/4; Ryder System, ahead 3/4 at 10 3/4; Caterpillar Tractor, 3/4 higher at 80, and Ford Motor, down 3/4 at 48 3/4.

Windshield spree proves costly

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati high school students told police they went on a car damaging rampage out of frustration because girls would not dance with them in bars they frequented.

Police said 27 cars were involved for an estimated total of $5,000. Police said most of the car windshields were smashed with a baseball bat extended from a moving car while others were smashed by thrown bricks.

A hearing for William L. Crawford, 18, was continued in Criminal Court to Feb. 4. A 16-year-old companion was turned over to juvenile authorities.

79 permits issued

Township building activity reported

Seventy-nine building permits were issued in Union Township during 1975, and another 30 permits were issued in Fayette County's other four zoned townships.

The estimated construction cost of the projects for which Union Township permits were approved is $1,184,320. They include the construction of 40 new homes, the moving of one home into the county, five storage buildings, seven garages, three mobile homes, four two-room additions to homes, six patios, a new office building built by Hartley Oil Co., an addition to Dr. D. R. Junk's office, a covered loading dock by Sagar Dairy, Inc., and a bleacher building constructed at Roszmann Field by Armo Steel Corp., Metal Products Division.

The five-member Union Township Zoning Commission reviews each permit application. Seated on the commission are Richard Keiser, who was elected chairman for 1976; Ralph Michaels, vice chairman; Joe White, Roger Bonham and Jess Streitenberger.

The township zoning board of appeals hears all disputes. Its members are John Feters, 1976 chairman; Wayne Boyer, vice chairman; Maryon Yeoman, Joe Campbell and Robert Willis.

County building inspector Alfred Lininger serves as secretary to both boards, and compiled the data for the annual report.

Only Wayne, Concord, Marion and Paint townships are also zoned. Thirty permits with an estimated construction cost of $400,400 were issued in those townships. They included construction of 11 new homes, six garages, four mobile homes, five storage buildings and four room additions, Lininger reported.

Oklahoma loss could sideline Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's Democratic presidential campaign is facing a crucial test in Oklahoma in nine days and a poor showing there could force him out of the national race, according to sources close to the senator.

The Texas Democrat was fourth in a field of five candidates in the Mississippi caucuses last week with less than 2 per cent of the delegates. He needs a respectable finish in Oklahoma's Feb. 7 caucuses to prove he has support in his own region of the country.

One source close to Bentsen said if the senator comes in a weak third in Oklahoma, trailing former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter and the state's former senator, Fred Harris, he may have to drop out.

"It would be pretty tough" to overcome such a poor showing, the source said. "He'd have to slide out or say it ain't possible. That's his neighboring state. He's got to run strong."

Meanwhile, busing to achieve school desegregation was brought up as an issue in campaigning Wednesday. Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, campaigning in New Hampshire, said he opposes busing but "the law is the law." And Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a Democratic candidate touring Massachusetts, called for a constitutional amendment that would make busing voluntary.

The Bentsen source said that after talking with Oklahoma politicians he believes that in a statewide, popular ballot "Bentsen would win hands down." But in party caucuses, moderate candidates have difficulty persuading supporters to participate.

Campaign director Robert Healy refused to predict how Bentsen would finish in Oklahoma, saying only, "I think Oklahoma is going to be important for us."

Until the poor showing in Mississippi, Oklahoma was important to the Bentsen campaign, but it was just one in a series of states where Bentsen hoped to show he could attract support while some of his competition was eliminated in the early primaries.

The loss in Mississippi, where he finished behind Wallace, Carter and former Ambassador Sargent Shriver, forced him to view Oklahoma as a crucial contest before any of his opponents had suffered damage in the first primaries.

There were these other political developments on Wednesday:

—Reagan, trying to wrest the GOP nomination from President Ford, said in New Hampshire he would enforce court busing orders because "the law is the law." But he opposed busing "as a social experiment" and "would do everything in my power as president to eliminate and make unlawful the forced busing of school children."

He said he prefers alternatives to busing and suggested realigning local school districts to make them racially balanced, allowing open enrollment in all schools.

—Wallace said at Chicopee, Mass., that he favors a "freedom of choice" amendment to the Constitution that would make busing voluntary. Wallace said busing causes too much social ferment and is making policemen patrol schools instead of streets and subways.

—Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said in Oklahoma City he supports Arizona Rep. Morris Udall over Harris for the Democratic nomination because "Fred has been more remote recently from the mainstream of political power." He said Udall "has voted the public interest consistently."

—Bentsen said in Washington that Ford's proposal to cut business taxes to encourage new investment in high unemployment areas would be ineffective and would cost $300 million next year. "Long-term certainty in the tax law is what businesses need to plan investments," he said. "A much more effective and less expensive way of creating new jobs would be to enact an employment tax credit."

No-till pasture clinic scheduled in Frankfort

Farmers in Fayette, Pickaway and Ross counties are invited to participate in a no-till pasture improvement meeting scheduled to be held from 9:45 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 2 in the Corner Restaurant in Frankfort.

According to John Gruber, Fayette County Agriculture extension agent, the meeting is being co-sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Chevron Chemical Co. to provide tips for improving production from permanent pasture in the three-county area.

The meeting will start with a discussion of the need for improvement of permanent pastures. Other topics will include ten steps to improved pastures with no-tillage; herbicides for no-till pastures; species and rates of pasture seedings, and no-till pasture seeding equipment.

Lunch will be provided at noon, compliments of the Chevron Chemical Co.

All farmers in the three-county area who are using pasture in a livestock production program are invited to attend.

August Willich, born Nov. 19, 1810, in Prussia, and who commanded the Army of Revolution in Germany in 1849, is buried in St. Marys, Ohio, where he died in 1878. He came to the United States in 1853 and was a general in the Union Army.

zgerald, who plays Oscar Nelson. In this particular scene Bob has confessed his undying love to his ex-wife, Mary who is readying herself to leave with Bob's best friend Dirk, while Tiffany realizes her engagement with Bob is now off and Bob, himself, has passed out because he mistakenly took three sleeping pills thinking they were vitamins. If all that sounds confusing, you'd better see the play.

Now playing at La Comedia:

"Mary, Mary"- a must to see!

Editor's note: Today's arts page features a guest writer, Norma Lynn Matthews, who is an actress in the Cleveland area. I met her in a gas station in 1969 and hadn't really seen her since - until she blew into town over the weekend for a visit. I figured it would be good to take an actress along to help me do a play review and then decided to make her write-up the whole thing. Below is her interpretation of "Mary, Mary" now playing at La Comedia Dinner Theater in Springboro through Feb. 28. She liked it: I did too. Try and see it!

by Norma Lynn Matthews

What a great introduction to southern Ohio and what it has to offer I've had this weekend. Being from Cleveland, a real city in every sense of the word, I can really enjoy the relative peacefulness of this part of the state. It's nice to be here and I feel very excited about writing this article for you, my readers.

Friday night, Mark invited me to go with him to see "Mary, Mary" at the La Comedia dinner theatre in Springboro—the opening night of the show. What a fine performance it was! Written by Jean Kerr, an author of novels by fame and directed by Dorothy Robinson, the play was hilariously funny. The show is produced by Joseph B. Mitchell and Mark Halpin designed the set.

The story is about Bob McKellaway (played by Ray Lloyd, a recently-divorced publisher in New York City and his ex-wife Mary, (played by Ivett Ashley) a bouyant, saucy woman who you like immediately. Bob is now engaged to a wealthy socialite named Tiffany Richards, (played by Kate Schaefer) while Mary is being wooed by one of Bob's movie star clients, Dirk Winston (Logan Pope). Old loves and renewed jealousies weave into the tangled relationships as Attorney and friend Oscar Nelson (John L. Fitzgerald), arrives to clear up Bob's financial matters. The government says he owes $6,000 in back taxes! When by coincidence, these five characters are thrown together for one long, winter weekend, hilarious situations develop and numerous complications arise.

The actors emitted incredible energy onstage and I grew to love their characters as the play went on. From the audience reaction, I'd say I wasn't alone—they loved it too.

COMMUNICATION — That was the main problem in Mary and Bob McKellaway's marriage which eventually led to their divorce. Brought together by their tax lawyer to work on the books right before the marriage is dissolved, the couple realizes they've never really communicated and begin to - after five years of marriage! The McKellaway's, portrayed by Ivett Ashley and Ray Lloyd (pictured), appear in the comedy "Mary, Mary" at La Comedia Dinner Theater.

After the show, we were able to meet the cast, the director and actually talk with them in person. I understand this is a common event at La Comedia—it's great! How lucky you are to have a chance to meet the performers of each show—they're beautiful people and they love talking personally to the audience.

Even in Cleveland the chance is rare the audience gets to meet the actors, but at La Comedia the atmosphere is so warm and friendly that it feels good to be able to walk up to an actor and say, "Hey, you were really good," or "It's too bad you didn't get the girl, in the end" or just talk to them and find they are real people after all, pretty much like you and me. It's a good feeling.

Living in Cleveland, where there are so many major and minor theaters performing and being in theatre myself, I have experienced many plays and performers. I was really excited to find such a good show this far from a major theatrical center. You are fortunate to have La Comedia so close.

This all-New York cast did such a fine job and were such great people to talk to afterwards that you really should see this show. Of course, the fantastic dinner menu by Chef Dan Daniels also helps make the evening very special, along with his wife, Frieda's organ playing.

I'm glad I had the chance to come and visit Washington Court House and to see this fine show. I will come again—for sure—and I'll be certain to tell everyone in Cleveland what a lovely area you have here.

And in honor of La Comedia's first anniversary this month, if your birthday falls on any evening in January or February (except Saturdays, previews and matinees), you will receive one-half off the regular price. The theater is located one-half mile from I-75 on Route 73. Call 513-746-4554 for reservations.

FIRST KISS — First kiss of a new relationship, that is. Mary McKellaway (played by Ivett Ashley) and husband Bob are finalizing their divorce in the play "Mary, Mary" at La Comedia Dinner Theater and Bob's friend, Dirk Winston (played by Logan Pope) seems to have hit it off with Mary — judging from the photo.... However, the ending is different than what you'd expect and makes for good comedy!

A nasty song for a nice friend

AP Newsfeatures Writer

A new Simon and Garfunkel single, "My Little Town," is on the charts — jumping on at No. 69 on the best-selling list the very week it was released. It's the first Simon and Garfunkel single in five years, since "Bridge over Troubled Water." By its second week it was No. 36.

However, it doesn't mean the old team is back together. It means that Paul Simon wrote a song for Art Garfunkel and Garfunkel suggested they both sing on it.

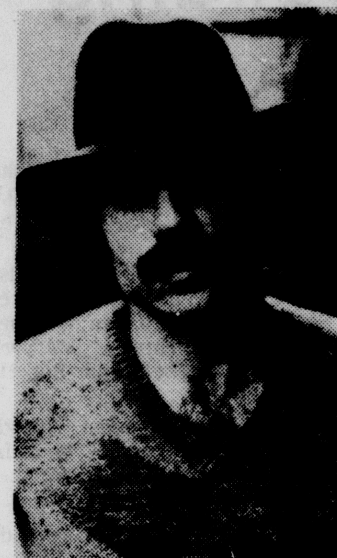

Simon says: "He was singing a lot of very sweet songs. I said to him, 'I'm going to write a really nasty song for you so you will have something nasty to say.' That's this song. It's about somebody who hates the town he grew up in. It's in no sense autobiographical. The town I grew up in is New York City, which hardly qualifies as a little town, and I don't hate it.

"When we sang the song together, it came out so good and we thought of the attention a Simon and Garfunkel record would get, so we thought it would be better to put it on both albums." It's on Garfunkel's new "Breakaway" and Simon's new "Still Crazy after All These Years," both of which are on Columbia.

The last Paul Simon single, "Gone at Last," which was on the best-selling charts in September and October, getting to 20 on Sept. 27, he sings with Phoebe Snow and the Jessy Dixon Singers. He started writing that song about two years ago for a tour he was to do with Aretha Franklin, which never came off, then thought he'd sing it with Bette Midler, but that couldn't be worked out between their two record companies. He met Phoebe Snow when Phil Ramone, his record's coproducer, was producing an LP by her and they were alternating use of the same recording studio. "I made the last changes on the song with Phoebe in the studio. I would prefer to do it with her than either of the other two. I think she's a great singer."

Simon agreed to be the host of the second "Saturday Night Live" TV show, on Oct. 18, because he knew the producer. "I haven't been on TV in years. I don't want to be a regular TV host; I'm not a TV personality." He filmed a one-on-one basketball game with Tommy Hawkins of the Atlanta Hawks who is 6 feet 8 and for the rest of the show invited Garfunkel, Miss Snow and Randy Newman.

"Randy I'd never met. I just admire his work and called him up and asked him to come on the show. He lives in Los Angeles and is very happy there and that's how I am about New York. I don't hang out too much and he doesn't hang out too much. Our paths just never crossed."

PAUL SIMON

At present Simon is getting ready to tour, from late October to the middle of December. "I'm going to end up the tour in England. My passport has run out. That's how long it has been since I was there."

"I'm taking most of the musicians who played on the album and Jessy and the group with me, altogether about 11 musicians and four singers. I've never done anything this big before. I always did everything with solo guitar. I'm trying to make a departure for the sake of interest — to do something different. Now I'm rehearsing for the first time, really."

"It used to be, all I had to do was sit down and review my songs with myself. Now I have to come in and work every night for three weeks in rehearsal."

Simon has developed calcium deposits on his guitar-playing index finger so he no longer takes lessons in classical guitar. "I have to be very sparing on how much I play guitar. I use it to compose. I have to get cortisone shots when it gets bad. At one point, until they discovered what was wrong, I couldn't bend my finger and couldn't play, period. It was a really terrible time. Now, if that happens, I know how to fix it. Eventually, the doctor says, I'm going to lose mobility in the finger. Hopefully that won't be for 20 or 30 or 40 years from now."

Simon says he's going to study piano, partly because he is curious about learning it and partly to see if he can learn to compose on it. "It is very good for arranging; you can voice things better on a piano than a guitar. But I play the guitar so easily now — I do what I want so easily on it. I don't know if I could learn to play piano with enough skill to compose on it. I started playing guitar when I was 13; that's 20 years."

He has been reading some poetry lately, Simon says, the first he has read since college. "I think there are some songs on the new album that are closer to poetry than what I've done previously. I think good poetry is based on sharp and startling and revealing imagery. A few songs on the album use good images. 'Night Games' is about a baseball player who died in a game. It comes out of the thought that in the Roman days they had gladiators and brought in lions and people were killed, which had a cathartic effect upon viewers. It occurred to me that sports spectacles today are derived from that. Nobody gets killed but there's a winner and loser and it's supposed to have the same effect. The audience is vicariously involved in a struggle. Here in this song I made the loser really lose. It is really a song about death."

After he tours, Simon says he would like to take a couple of months for reading — "My escapism fantasies are what will I read"—then embark on another show project of some kind. The movie "The Graduate," for which he did the songs, came out in 1967. He is thinking that he'd like to write the songs for an off-Broadway show, learning the ropes before trying to write a Broadway musical.

When it's time to make another album, Simon says, he writes 10 songs. "This is my 11th album. When I started, I never thought I would ever get up to 11 albums. Maybe writing a show isn't too dissimilar to writing a theme album. I feel all my albums are loosely theme albums. One of them was created to be a theme album, 'Bookends.' I don't know if that was the most effective. They're usually a collection of songs about what I've been thinking in the last year; sometimes it takes me a few months to realize what that was."

Writing songs, he says, "is always a challenge that you set yourself. You can always call off the struggle any time you want and settle. It depends on how you want to raise your standards. It is as tough as you want to make it. 'I try to keep my standards just below the point of total frustration.'"

DOBIE GRAY

Just about the time you think you've got Dobie Gray pegged into a musical niche, he rears back, busts out, and springs forward.

In the mid Sixties, Dobie was the one person who managed to encapsulate those terrible teen longings and peer ambitions in song: "I'm in with the in crowd; I go where the in crowd goes . . ."

Then in the early Seventies, amidst some magical albums that sadly were overlooked in the madness of the record industry, Dobie Gray struck again. This time giving us what may well be remembered as a classic piece of rock, perhaps the quintessential song on the subject: "Give me the beat boys and free my soul. I want to get lost in your rock and roll . . ."

And now, with help from his co-writer-co-producer Troy Seals and the best of Nashville's session men and backup singers, Dobie Gray makes his debut on Capricorn Records, the Georgia-based wonderchild of the business.

Dobie Gray, a tall man with a quick sense of humor, an unsarcastic wit and warm, laughing eyes, strives to be the complete performer, a singer, a comedian, an actor, a showman.

During a recent tour of Australia, Dobie secured old fans and gained new believers by offering a different brand of concert. He had the good humor and the good ear for what would please the crowd when he did the Aussie favorite

"Waltzing Matilda" in pantomime, fully-rigged in a costume. The crowd loved it every place he played.

"I've often wanted to do something like that," he'll tell you, briefly mentioning that he has done some acting.

That's an understatement. For almost two years, Dobie was one of the leading characters in the highly acclaimed Los Angeles production of "Hair."

Dobie's music is as outgoing and positive as he is. Even at the end of a long day of over-dubbing and interviews and meetings, he keeps his mood pleasant, warm and always-curious.

He appears to be delighted at joining the Capricorn family. "I think for the first time, I'm going to get the kind of personalized attention that it takes to make the kind of artist I'd like to be. I think it's going to be a good association."

By 1963, Dobie was a fledgling performer, finding the breaks slow in coming. It was in 1967 that he moved further West — all the way to California (he now lives in L.A.) and by 1968, he had established himself as a musical heavyweight.

Ironically, his first gold record came before full-scale national attention. A single called "Look At Me" bounced from market to market, gaining hit status despite a dearth of promotion. It first broke in 1965. Within a few years, it topped the million-seller mark.

That likelihood of many million-sellers looms in front of Dobie now. Asked how his family feels about the prodigal son, Dobie smiles quietly and says: "They're elated. They're very happy now."

And judging by his attitude and his music and his positive feelings about his new label, so is Dobie Gray.

Women's Interests

Thursday, January 29, 1976

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 6

'Blue Jacket-Shawnee War Chief' topic at BPW Club meeting

Mrs. Richard Rankin was guest speaker for the January dinner-meeting of the Washington C. H. Business and Professional Women's Club when they met in the Washington Country Club. Mrs. Rankin spoke about "Blue Jacket — War Chief of the Shawnees." By relating stories and tracing genealogical facts about the famous Indian war chief, who was actually a white man, Mrs. Rankin told his life story from the time he was taken captive by the Shawnees as a child, through his adult life. Her commentary was most interesting.

Special music for the evening was furnished by the Harmony Seekers of Washington Senior High School, under the direction of Emily Rowe King. They sang several numbers from musical shows and ended their program with a group of songs from "Fiddler on the Roof."

Mrs. Nathan Bolton opened the meeting with all repeating the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Club Collect. Mrs. Donald Long gave the invocation preceding the dinner.

A Bicentennial theme of red, white and blue was used in table decorations and throughout the club room. Many members carried the theme further by wearing old-fashioned dresses.

The two "girls-of-the-month," seniors from Miami Trace High School, were introduced by Mrs. Robert Lewis. They were Tammy West and Diane Burke. Each girl gave a resume of her school activities and plans for the future.

Mrs. Bolton presided during the business meeting, when reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, and standing committee chairmen. A special report was given by Mrs. Mary Lou Joseph of the Bicentennial committee. Two donations of $200 were given to assist the Jaycees parade fund and the project to restore the fountain at the Washington Cemetery. Further plans were made to participate in Bicentennial projects.

Guests present were Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, Mrs. Ben Pitzer and Shirley Frieschman. The meeting was planned by the public relations committee with Mrs. Mildred Rogers and Miss Mary Sauer, co-chairmen, along with Mrs. Lewis Elliott, Miss Norma Dodd, Mrs. Donald Long, Mrs. Lowell Miller, Mrs. Russell Oberschlake and Miss Helen Slavens.

Dance queen to be named at Feb. 7 dance

The Xi Iota Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Jim Aleshire.

The Sweetheart Dance, with the theme "Let Heritage Ring," to be held Feb. 7 at Mahan Hall was discussed. The dance is a joint project with Zeta Upsilon Chapter.

Members voted on the chapter queen, who will be announced at the dance. Mrs. B. Chaney presented the program, "This Is Our Country."

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Dawne Warner on Jan. 29.

Maple Grove Women hold all-day meeting

Maple Grove United Methodist Women met Wednesday for an all-day meeting with Mrs. John Louis. Dr. Louis gave the invocation preceding the carry-in dinner. Mrs. Neil Rowland, the new president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Harold Craven gave devotions with a prayer for the New Year. She also told all to share their bread and Bible more in 1976.

Mrs. Roy Gilmerr gave a prayer for missionaries having birthdays within the month. Miss Jacquie Craven showed slides of young teenagers when they attended a Retreat at Camp Miami, near Dayton, last July. She is the youth leader and counselor. Rev. Mr. Earl J. Russell is the pastor-teacher. This year, they will attend a Retreat in February at Lancaster Campgrounds.

Prayer partners of the past year were revealed and new ones chosen. Reports were interesting, and for roll call, all responded with an answer for "How do you think our New Year's outlook compares to that of the Pilgrim?"

Mrs. Louis explained the worship table which had a Bicentennial theme of "In God We Trust." The table held an open Bible to Psalm 37-3, and a pamphlet which contained Faith of our Fathers and This is an American.

Members spent the remainder of the time knitting comforts. Those present were Mrs. Quinn Clarke, Mrs. Gilmerr, Mrs. Clyde Carman, Mrs. Harold Craven, Miss Jacquie Craven, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. Ottie Huff, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Marion Dawson, Mrs. Rowland, and Dr. and Mrs. John Louis.

Marriage announced

Miss Phillis Marie Thomas became the bride of Gary Lee Jackson Tuesday evening in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, 1310 N. North St. The Rev. Luther McCarty performed the ceremony.

Mrs. C. Jackson, mother of the groom of New Martinsburg, his sister, and the bride's sister, Lisa, along with Mrs. Luther McCarty were present also for the marriage ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SCHILLER

50th wedding anniversary observed by Schillers

Mr. and Mrs. John Schiller of 412 W. Elm St., were honored at a family get-together and dinner at their home recently, the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Schiller is a retired employee of the State Highway Department.

Mr. Schiller and the former Florence Robinett were married in Fayette

County. They are the parents of Mrs. Francis Morrison (Marjorie) of Circleville; Mrs. Edwin Elliott (Virginia), Mrs. Argus Holbrook (Mildred), Willard Schiller, Mrs. Ronald (Barbara) Palmer, and Mrs. Ed. (Marilyn) Knisley all of Washington C. H., and they have 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

AFS Dominique Blancke tells DKG more about Belgium

Delta Kappa Gamma members assembled Monday evening at the Terrace Lounge for a dinner meeting. Mrs. Roger Miller gave the invocation for the 43 present.

The guest speaker was Dominique Blancke, American foreign exchange student at Miami Trace High School this year. She was introduced by Leora Burdge, her American sister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Burdge of New Holland. Miss Blancke is the 18 year-old daughter of Simone and Andre Blancke. Her family lives in a suburb of Brussels, Belgium and her father works for the state unemployment agency.

Dominique showed beautiful slides of her homeland, and described and compared her country with Ohio which she says is three and half times as large as Belgium. She attended the Institute des Dames De Marie in Belgium, an all-girls' Catholic school, where about 700 students are enrolled. The students are grouped into classes of about 25 or 30. She thinks the schools in Belgium are more difficult than at MTHS, and much depends on their exam results as to their future education, she said.

They wear blue uniforms at the schools there.

Dominique says she really likes school here, and her favorite classes are gymnastics and swimming. She enjoys people. There are no extra curricular activities in schools in Belgium.

When asked about her first impressions of America, she said the vastness, the big cars, and the school spirit at sport events. When asked about her favorite foods, she stated she liked cake and hamburgers. She hopes to attend college upon her return home to study architecture and learn more about the history of art.

Dominique was accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Dowler who is the AFS adviser for student chapters. Mrs. Dowler is also Guidance Counselor at MTHS.

Mrs. Karl Harper, president of Delta Kappa Gamma, conducted a short business meeting, when reports were presented. Mrs. Leonard Watts made the membership report, and Mrs. Keith Rex, chairman of Professional Affairs, presented each member with a copy of her committee's report.

Dear Abby:

Teenage farmhand old smoking's unfeminine

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 14. Almost 15. My parents won't let me smoke. My brother got to smoke when he was 15, but when I ask my parents if I can smoke, they say, "No, it's not feminine."

Abby, I milk cows, bale hay and even clean cow gutters, and you sure can't say THAT'S feminine.

All my girl friends get to smoke in front of their parents, so why don't they let me run my own life?

MYSELF

DEAR MYSELF: Because they don't want you to run it in a way that may be damaging to your health. I'm with them. The best advice I can give nonsmokers is DON'T START!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a dinner party at the home of a very high-class, prominent society leader who has a reputation for entertaining beautifully.

My husband's widowed sister came to town unexpectedly, so I phoned my hostess and asked if we could bring our houseguest.

She asked, "Is your houseguest a male or female?"

I said, "She's my husband's sister." And would you believe this so-called high-class society lady replied, "That's too bad. We already have three extra women. If you could bring a man, I'd be delighted, but we don't need any more women."

Have you ever heard of anything to top this?

SPEECHLESS
DEAR SPEECHLESS: No. And I thought I'd heard everything.

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't help but smile when I read your comment about people who run ads in the classified section to meet a partner. Agreed, they must be desperately lonely, and they do run a risk of meeting some creepy characters that way, but did you know that this practice is entirely accepted in Europe, specifically in Germany?

Believe me, I have run into creepy characters in the U.S.A. and Canada in distinguished public places where a lady would think she is safe from creeps. I also know that many Europeans have found decent companions by placing ads in newspapers or going through a marriage agency. The adage "different countries, different customs" still holds true, so please don't condemn that custom altogether. For some, it works.

T.L.K.

DEAR T.L.K.: Many wrote to defend the practice of advertising in a newspaper for companionship, and even marriage. But those who wrote were invariably winners. I'd like to hear from some losers.

Paint Valley C F Council

The Paint Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., met in the Camp Fire Office with Charles Tye, first vice president, presiding. The executive secretary, Mrs. Allen McClung, reported that final appointment had been received. The camp site improvement chairman, Mrs. Rollo Marchant, requested that priority be given to erection of two cooking shelters and repair of the barn. She also requested that groups plant a total of 200 trees in honor of the Bicentennial.

Camp Fire Girls will be represented in the Bicentennial Parade by a float and marching unit. Mrs. Earl McDaniel, program chairman, announced the theme for the Potlatches will be "It's a New Day", in keeping with the reorganizational theme of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. and also with the Bicentennial. Her request for prizes to be awarded for best table decorations at each Potlatch was approved.

Bills were paid and other routine business was handled. Present were: Mr. Tye, Mrs. McClung, Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. Fred James, Robert Simpson, Chester Hamulak, Mrs. Don Wood, Mrs. Jack Ferguson, Mrs. David Shepler, Mrs. Bert Yarger, Jr., Mrs. Charles Harris and Mrs. Gerald Wheat.

Ohio Perspective

Conflict of interest seen possible

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One-tenth of the state's legislators have a direct financial interest in state utilities as a bill is considered to change the way telephone, gas and electric rates are set.

Most own stock in utility firms or their parent companies. Two, however, work for utilities and two others own part of gas wells which sell products to utilities.

Legislative committees are considering a bill to replace the present Reconstruction Cost New (RCN) formula, under which utilities base their rates partly on what it would cost to rebuild their physical plant today, minus depreciation.

Financial disclosure statements filed under the 1973 ethics law and examined by the Akron Beacon-Journal show 13 of Ohio's 132 legislators have financial interests in Ohio utilities. One of the 13 said he might abstain from voting on the issue.

"If I see a conflict of interest, I might ask the president of the Senate for permission not to vote," said Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus. Woodland is area development representative for Columbia Gas Distribution Systems.

The other utility employee, Rep. Lawrence E. Hughes, R-66 Columbus, said he would be "inclined to do what is fair for the public, not necessarily the company." Hughes is manager of the southwestern area directory department of Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

"I'm not that kind of legislator," replied Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-79

Judge's gag rule lifted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An order by a Portage County judge that limited the reporting of testimony in a murder trial was lifted Wednesday by the Supreme Court.

At the request of the Akron Beacon-Journal, the court voided a gag rule by Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph Kainrad. The vote was 6-1, with Justice Paul W. Brown dissenting.

"I'm not anxious to violate anyone's constitutional rights," Kainrad explained to the justices as he represented himself. "But the primary responsibility for a fair and impartial trial rests with the trial judge.

"There is no order that I know of that can be more limited than this one," he said.

Norman S. Carr, representing the Akron Beacon Journal which asked to void the order, said, "There is no single authority anywhere in any of the 50 states that allows a court to prohibit discussion of what goes on there."

Kainrad, who will hear the Feb. 9 trial of Ralph Garduno, 38, of Youngstown on charges of murder and attempted murder, banned publication by attorneys, witnesses and news media representatives of certain testimony about Garduno in another trial.

Old silent film star Warner Baxter was born in Columbus; star Paul Muni, born in Austria, lived as a boy in Cleveland under his true name of Muni Weisenfreund.

Bryan, when asked whether his thinking might be swayed by his financial holdings. His interests are in Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. and American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., parent of Ohio Bell.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, thought it was insulting when asked about payments of from $30 to $50 a month he receives from Columbia Gas Transmission Co. for gas from a well on his farm. Speck noted he was chief sponsor of a strip-mining reclamation bill strongly opposed by Ohio Power Co. and other utilities.

Several legislators have suggested that the political muscle of utility lobbyists likely will have more impact on the bill's future than legislators' holdings.

Other legislators and investments they listed in disclosure filings were Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., D-25 Cleveland, slightly more than 100 shares of Ohio Bell; Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, about $5,000 in the parent of Canton's Ohio Power Co.; Rep. Scribner L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria, AT&T debentures earning a family trust about $500 a year; Rep. Robert E. Freeman, D-29 Canton, about $1,100 in a Tuscarawas County well supplying East Ohio Gas Co.; Rep. Irma L. Karmol, R-44 Toledo, and her husband, 100 shares Toledo Edison; Rep. A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, a portfolio containing shares of Columbia Gas and Dayton Power & Light; Rep. Mack Pemberton, R-33 Columbus, investments in Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric and Dayton Power and Light; Rep. Robert A. Nader, D-55 Warren, less than 100 shares of Ohio Edison; an Rep. Iene B. Smart, D-49 Canton, whose husband owns about 25 shares of AT&T.

In his report to Washington C. H. City Council Wednesday night, City Manager George H. Shapter discussed U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approval of a 45-unit apartment complex on Glenn Avenue, the annual fire department report, progress on the community development project and several other matters.

Shapter noted that Council had earlier received four proposals for housing projects in Washington C. H. which sought to comply with federal Housing and Urban Development rent assistance guidelines. These had been referred by Council to the City Planning Commission for review.

He stated that a letter had been received from HUD announcing that one of the projects proposed by the Wallick Construction Co., Columbus, had been approved. The plans call for construction of a 45-unit apartment complex to be located on Glenn Avenue. The new facility will be built adjacent to an existing 45-unit complex.

The city manager called attention to the annual report of activities submitted by fire chief Maynard (Joe) Denen. It showed that 45 of 176 fire runs during 1975 were made to properties located in Union Township, not the city of Washington C. H. This represents 25.6 per cent of all department responses.

He noted that Union Township has contracted with the city for fire protection at a cost of $36,000 per year (which is only 18 per cent of the city's operating budget for 1976). If the township were paying 25 per cent of the fire department operating costs, he said, the contract figure should be approximately $50,000 per year. Even this amount would not include a percentage of the equipment purchase prices, and he suggested Council consider these facts when discussing its next contract with the township.

Shapter called on engineer Donald L. Conley to discuss progress on the preparation of materials for a community development federal grant and a complete revamping of the downtown business district traffic signal system. Conley's presentation is discussed in detail on page one of today's edition.

At a previous Council meeting, some concern was expressed over the obstruction of traffic along W. Elm Street by trucks loading and unloading at Batjak, Inc., docks. The trucks frequently impede traffic in the westbound lane of the road, creating a hazard.

The city manager said he had discussed the problem with Lyle Ranson, company president, who has agreed to place warning flashers near the trucks when they block the traffic lane.

Council considered the action adequate at least temporarily. The city manager and city solicitor Gary Smith will investigate the legal obligations which the action might create for Council or the firm if an accident were to result from the obstruction of traffic. Their findings will be aired at the next meeting.

Council members noted that while they did not want to injure any businessman, they were concerned about the possible hazards. The question of how an action would be applied to other businesses which utilize public thoroughfares will also be an important consideration.

Fleet insurance quotes on city vehicles were received from three firms. The lowest bid was more than $800 less than the next lowest bid, and Council voted to accept it. The bid accepted was $3,219.50, and it was submitted by Sheridan Insurance, the city's present agent.

The city manager noted that an ordinance presented late last year which proposed regulations for persons licensed to make sewer taps has never been voted upon. Council members had recommended that the bill be reviewed by local contractors for their evaluation, and Shapter suggested that a revised ordinance be presented in the near future.

Also available to Council members was the annual report from Washington C. H. Municipal Court. The city manager pointed out the high volume of cases (largest in the court's history) and noted that each case required a great deal of paperwork. His comments were apparently prompted by questions presented by Council members at earlier meeting about the number of clerks working for the court.

Receipt of an award from the Fayette County Automobile Club was acknowledged by the city manager. It lauded the city for having had no pedestrian traffic fatalities for six consecutive years. Shapter said the city should be proud of this accomplishment and strive to add several more years without such a fatality.

It was noted that two changes in personnel had taken place within the Citizens Study Committee since the last regular Council meeting. He said James R. Wilson, who moved from the city after 35 years of residence, had submitted his resignation from the panel. The city manager had named Jack Balahtsis, 238 Kathryn Court, to serve on the committee. He also noted that one of the persons contracted as a potential member had declined because "... Members of Council are the elected officials of this community and as such are charged with the responsibility of running the city of Washington. I will both respect and support their programs ..."

Although there was some objection to the application of Sounds Unlimited, 131 S. Fayette St., for a D-5 (liquor by the glass until 2:30 a.m.) permit, Council concluded it was futile to seek a hearing on the matter. Councilmember John Morris summarized the heart of Council's feeling when he stated that "The state is in the liquor business, and you can't beat 'em."

Shapter read a letter from students in the Washington Senior High School government class which thanked city officials who graciously gave of their time to assist the students. As part of a "We the People" government project, the students attempted to learn more of how their local government functions.

The city manager apologized before-the-fact for any current legislation concerning city government with which he was unacquainted. He said the U.S. Department of Commerce projects that in the coming year nearly 60,000 new publications will be presented by some 350 federal agencies. Shapter said, "Pardon me if you come across an item with which I am not familiar, I can't read that fast."

Proctor & Gamble earnings increase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Proctor & Gamble Co. reported a 10 per cent gain in net earnings for the second quarter compared to the same period last year and an 11 per cent increase for the first six months of the fiscal year.

Sales were up $18.5 million to $191.9 million for the six month period. Earnings per share were $2.33 compared to $2.11 for the previous period.

Worldwide company sales were $3.1 billion, an increase of five per cent for the six month period.

Between City Council, township officials

Cemetery trustees named at joint meeting

A brief joint meeting of Washington C. H. City Council members and the Union Township Board of Trustees preceded the regular Council meeting Wednesday.

The purpose of the meeting was to appoint a Washington Cemetery board of trustees. Research by City Manager George H. Shapter had disclosed that the appointment of former board members had been conducted in compliance with Ohio law. However, the same individuals who had been serving on the three-person board were reappointed.

The cemetery board is responsible for establishing rates for plots and related work, preparing the budget and overseeing all cemetery operations.

According to the Ohio Revised Code, one member of the cemetery board is to be appointed each May to begin serving a three-year term the following January. The board was composed of Council member Joseph O'Brien and Union Township trustee Jack Cabbage, who were both appointed in February, 1974, and Sam Parrett, whose term had apparently expired Dec. 31, 1975. Annual meetings had not been held each May.

Rhodes makes appointments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced appointments to various positions. They were:

—Charles O. Hosterman, an attorney in Circleville, as judge of the Circleville Municipal Court. He replaces Sterling M. Lamb, who died Jan. 13.

—Charles E. Call, 54, Stow; Norma O. Jacob, 52, Marion, and Robert N. Switalski, 56, Portsmouth, to new terms of the Ohio Parks and Recreation Council.

—Gordon L. Pataky, 39, Upper Arlington, to the Development Financing Commission.

—Theodore A. Rice, 29, Grove City, to the War Orphans Scholarship Board.

—Richard E. Moseley Jr., 34, Columbus, to the Ohio Historical Site Preservation Advisory Board.

Grants awarded to OU college

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Osteopathic Foundation has awarded two grants totalling $103,000 to the new Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine.

The grants include $53,000 for the purchase of laboratory equipment and $50,000 for the purchase of scientific books, journals and reference publications for the university library. The Foundation also has established a scholarship program.

In order to correct the apparent difficulty, the joint panel appointed one member whose term would end Dec. 31, 1976, another whose term would end the last day of 1977, and another who would serve through 1978.

One member was to be chosen from the ranks of City Council, one from the board of trustees and the other at-large. The city manager noted the at-large representative is usually someone who is not a member of either legislative body.

A member of the cemetery board for more years than he is likely to want to recall, Parrett was named as the at-large trustee. He was named to the term expiring in 1978.

The township representative chosen was Cabbage, who will serve through 1977.

Council's voice on the cemetery board will be O'Brien. He will serve the remainder of this year.

The three cemetery trustees will convene for their regular meeting Feb. 11 in the cemetery office to select a chairman.

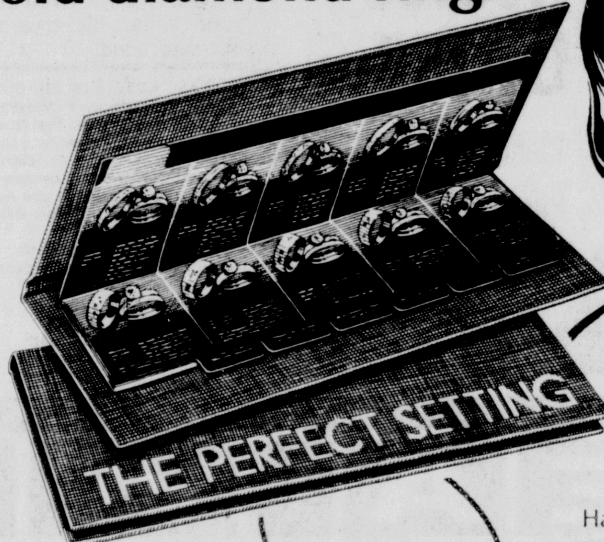

Council and the Union Township trustees will gather for a joint meeting in May to select an appointee to succeed O'Brien. Their choice will begin serving in January, 1977, and meetings will then be held each May to choose a successor for the trustee who retires at the conclusion of the year.

It was noted that any appointee may succeed himself, and any member of a legislative body whose term on that body expires must resign his post on the cemetery board. In such a case, a replacement will be named from the same legislative body to fulfill the unexpired cemetery board term of the former member.

Council members attending the joint meeting were O'Brien, Mrs. Bertha McCullough, James Ward and John Morris. All three township trustees were present. They are Cabbage, Ronald Campbell and Delbert Haines.

CAC reviews various programs at meeting

The Fayette County Community Action Commission board of trustees held its monthly meeting on Tuesday to review the balance of accounts statement and program progress reports.

The remaining funds in the Headstart program and elderly supporting services were $4,556.92 and $2,741.67 respectively. Both amounts are sufficient to see the particular programs through February, the end of the program year, officials said. The Comprehensive Employment Training Act fund, which has a balance of $4197.82, is to be extended by the federal government from February to June during which time additional money will be granted.

Funds for the administration of Community Action Commission were $6,345 while outreach and job development areas listed $14,947 as their combined current balance. Both departments also begin a new program year after February, with additional funds being granted.

Family planning, a service administered by the Fayette County Health Department, and funded in monthly amounts shows a balance of $2,343. The two manpower job training programs for school age youths and adults have $8,000 and $23,000 in their respective accounts. The manpower project is currently funded only until June 30, but is expected to be extended.

The Community Action Commission's home winterization program which currently has a balance of $2,300, has been helping to insulate homes of the elderly or handicapped in the area, but has not been able to provide such services to about 20 residences. These particular homes are rented, and the funds may only be used to help homeowners maintain their own residences.

A total of $1,750 has been obtained from the Eymann Fund for the purpose of sending area children to summer camp. This amount will be twice matched by equal monies from the Community Action Commission and community groups.

The senior nutrition program has just started a new calendar year, which began on Jan. 1. Currently there is $15,672 in the account to serve the program for the rest of the year.

Concerning the question of the sources of revenue for various community service organizations, chairman Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said that the Meals on Wheels program receives no federal support, though the senior nutrition program held at the First Presbyterian Church does. A recent article in the Record-Herald had mistakenly stated that the Meals on Wheels program was a recipient of federal funds.

In the program progress sector, two matters pertaining to the instigation of the hoped-for project of housing for persons of low income are under consideration. A site for the renovation or building of intended housing must be decided upon, as well as from what source the necessary funds will come. A special Community Action Commission group will be going to Columbus soon to confer with a builder, determine the feasibility of seeking funds from HUD and FHA, and then make a report on their findings with suggestions for approval by the commission.

Director Jack Hagerty noted two problems that the commission has faced concerning the manpower program's attempt to find jobs for youths who dropped out of high school. The objectives are to find proper training for each individual, and to motivate the particular person into leaving the community to undertake training in the region that offers the necessary teaching facilities. Starting next week, the approximately 15 youths will be contacted and encouraged to participate in upcoming training efforts.

The nomination of officers for the positions of chairman, vice-chairman, treasurer, and secretary were made, with elections being scheduled for next month's meeting.

New business included the recognition of Mrs. Irene Grim, recently appointed by Bloomingburg Mayor Max E. Grim to represent the village on the commission.

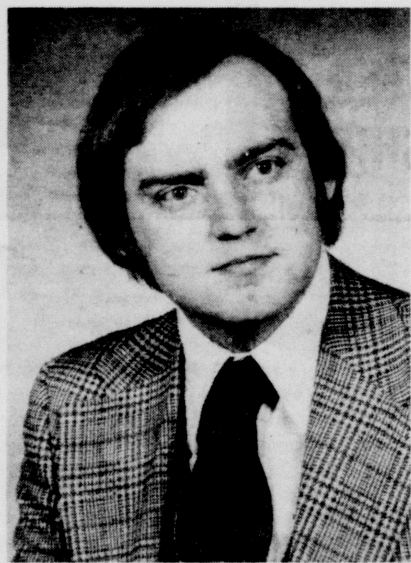

Waverly Republican seeks seat on state committee

WAVERLY — A Waverly area Republican has announced his intention to seek the Sixth Congressional District committee seat on the Ohio Republican Central Committee.

James A. Murray, 25, of Waverly, states his qualifications of the office as experience in party organizational matters, past activity as a campaigner and a past candidate for elective office.

The young Republican is proud of his showing in the 1972 campaign. His opponent in the 1972 campaign was Vernal G. Fife Jr., of New Boston, who has since become the speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives. Murray said he drew a larger percentage of votes against the veteran Democrat than any prior Republican candidate.

He has served on the Pike County Central Committee, is a past state officer of the Ohio Young Republicans and has worked as an aide in the office of Congressman William H. Harsha. Murray plans to enter the Republican primaries in Fayette, Adams, Brown, Clermont, Clinton, Highland Pickaway, Pick, Ross and Scioto counties.

Bridge open at Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two-lane traffic has been opened over the $22 million I-471 Ohio River Bridge connecting Cincinnati to Newport, Ky., and officials are hopeful the move will help ease congestion during morning and evening rush hours on other area bridges.

Transportation officials said an adjacent three-lane span upstream will be opened later. It will carry northbound traffic only while the downstream span will be southbound only.

Construction on the bridge began in 1970.

Traffic using the I-471 span will enter from Cincinnati from Fort Washington Way eastbound or Eggleston Avenue, exiting on Eggleston Avenue. In Newport, traffic will enter from Riverside Drive (Ky. 8) and exit at Third Street and Park Avenue.

The average wage of farm hands per month, with board, in Ohio in 1987 was $15.75; without board, $21.35.

Legionnaires attend meet

Charles Harris and John D. Jackson of Homer Lawson American Legion Post 653, were among the 1500 Legionnaires and auxiliary members who attended the Ohio American Legion's annual mid-winter conference at the Rhodes Center in Columbus recently.

During the meeting American Legion National Commander Harry G. Wiles of Topeka, Kan. spoke on the programs and policies of the American Legion which have national significance.

Other speakers at the conference included Joe Lis of the Cleveland Indians, Ohio Highway Patrol Superintendent Frank R. Blackstone and John S. Ely, vice president of the Ohio American Cancer Society.

The Worthington Legion Post 239 baseball team was honored at the conference. The team won the Ohio American Legion state and regional tournaments last year.

Chess played via phone

CLEVELAND (AP) — Knowing the right telephone area code will be an essential factor in chess as played by the new National Chess League.

The teams in the league plan to telephone their chess moves to their opponents.

The Cleveland Knights matched wits with Boston Wednesday night and team members said the phone bill will be about $600. "That's cheaper than the cost of transporting an entire team of six players to Boston," said Sri Srikantia, a team organizer.

"Another big advantage is that players won't be able to argue with opponents. Sometimes when you play a man face-to-face you get the idea that he's trying to destroy your concentration by coughing too much or by shaking his leg," he added.

Srikantia said the United States Chess Federation will pay for the phone tabs for the teams in the nine-city league that also has teams in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Miami, Houston and Washington.

League officials say the telephone-chess concept has never been tried before.

Improved services stressed

Fayette County Bank holds annual meeting

Improved banking services was keynoted in a report issued by Fayette County Bank president James R. Wilson at the annual shareholders meeting held Wednesday in the Fayette Center office.

"Prospects for 1976 are unpredictable, but the economy appears to be swinging upward," Wilson said. "I'm in hopes that the inflation rate will level and that we can continue to keep earnings on the increase."

"I believe with continued effort and support of our shareholders we can keep our individuality as an independent bank and continue to serve the citizens of Fayette County in our own distinct way," he noted.

"We are emphasizing serving our customers in a personal manner and provide the community with the best possible banking services and continue to treat each of our customers as individuals so that they may retain their personal identity with us," the bank president said.

"I feel the trend in the banking industry for many years has been an over concern with the size of the bank. The 'biggest is the best' theory is no longer the case. I feel the best bank is one that performs best in maximizing earnings and minimizing losses."

"I feel the Fayette County Bank is putting its best effort forth in this direction," Wilson added. The report presented to the shareholders by Wilson disclosed $5.96 per share earnings for 1975. It also showed an increase of undivided profits of $148,965.59 which is equal to $5.96 per share.

During the reorganizational meeting, all directors were re-elected.

Frank B. Sollars, a Fayette County farmer and a member of the board of directors of the Nationwide Insurance Co., was re-elected to chairman or one board of the Fayette County Bank. Dr. Joseph M. Herbert, a Washington C.H. physician, was re-elected secretary.

Other directors re-elected were Howard R. Burnett, owner of the Colonial Stair Co. in Jeffersonville; Dr. Ned D. Abbott, a Washington C.H. area veterinarian; Elroy Bourgraf, president of Ferno-Washington, Inc., in Wilmington; and Wilson, president and chief executive officer.

Two promotions of officers were announced during the meeting. L. Lester Bower was promoted from assistant vice president to vice president, and Ernest D. Wilson was promoted from cashier to vice president and cashier.

Other officers are Gary McMurray, vice president and security officer; Helen Porter, assistant cashier, and Roberta Bowers, assistant cashier.

Four committee appointments were also made during the meeting.

Sollars, Dr. Herbert and James Wilson were appointed to the executive committee; Burnett, Bourgraf and Dr. Abbott to the auditing committee; Burnett, Dr. Herbert, Bourgraf and Wilson to the employee benefit committee; and James Wilson, McMurray, Ernest Wilson, Bower and Mrs. Bowers to the loan management advisory committee.

Solving arithmetic problems

'Dear teacher, dear class'

By LEWIS PARRETT
City Elementary Coordinator
Featured this week in "Dear Teacher — Dear Class" is Miss Mary Blazer and her class of 23 third graders at Belle Aire Elementary School.

Miss Blazer has lived in many different places which adds depth to her teaching. She was born in Johnson City, Tennessee and grew up in various places in Ohio including Alexandria, Findlay, suburban Cleveland and Chillicothe.

She graduated from Chillicothe High School and then earned her bachelor of arts degree at Marion College in Indiana. Her post graduate credits have been from Miami University. While at Marion College, she was in their traveling choir and the Messiah choir. Each Easter the choir went on tour to various places in North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Kentucky. Her entire five years of teaching experience have been with the third grade at both Eastside and Belle Aire elementary schools.

Miss Blazer resides at 704 Yeoman

Street with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Blazer, and her sister who is now in college.

Her hobbies include sewing, cooking, playing the piano and autoharp, reading, traveling, making her own clothes, and formulating new recipes with vegetables and meat.

Her favorite colors are blue and red. Her favorite food is not limited to one thing but to all foods, and her favorite place is Canada where she hopes to visit this summer. Each summer she enjoys camping and relaxing. In addition, she likes to visit interesting places such as the Western Natural Museum at Phoenix, Arizona.

During the remainder of the school year, the class will find their time highlighted with patriotic songs, reading various books, learning about air and sound, letter writing, doing a play entitled "Benjamin Franklin," and sending a birthday card to America. The class has on its bulletin board a reply from President Ford in recognition of its participation in our bicentennial.

Next week, during visitation, the class will be studying sound and will be singing on WCHO on Wednesday, February 4 at 1 p.m.

Miss Blazer commented about her class: "Children bring me great pleasure and great responsibility." Billy Ward, one of the members of the class, summed up his feelings and those of his friends by saying, "This is a good classroom."

The host will be Ronnie Sever and the hostess will be Kathy Sparkman. Miss Blazer and her class invite you to visit their classroom during the coming week and enjoy becoming a part of their third grade class. Any day of the week except Friday afternoon is a fine time to come.

Senior citizen show, sale set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The largest all-senior citizen art show and sale ever held in Ohio runs March 2-March 7 in the rotunda of the Statehouse, said Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Between 1,000 and 1,500 paintings, all by Ohio artists over age 60 are expected to be shown.

NOTICE TO OWNER OF LAND AFFECTED BY THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENT, OF DATE OF FINAL HEARING AND OF FILING CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION OR DAMAGES
Office of County Commissioners, Fayette County, Ohio.

December 30, 1975
In the Matter of the R. C. Hunt Single County Ditch.

Petition for by John A. Bryant, agent for the Lowell Kaufman Trust and Anna Kaufman Trust and others.

TO LAND OWNERS AFFECTED
You are hereby notified that the County Engineer filed in this office on the 29th day of December, 1975 the maps, profiles, plans, schedules and reports in the above named improvement, and that the assessment on each tract of land owned by you, as estimated and described in said schedule, is as follows:

PER ENGINEER'S SCHEDULE and you are further notified that the Board of County Commissioners of said County has fixed the 17th day of February, 1976, at 1:30 o'clock p.m., at the office of said Board, as the time and place of the final hearing by the Commissioners on the report of the Engineer, and on the proceedings for the improvement, and that all claims for compensation or damages must be filed with the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners before that date; and that if bonds are to be issued for said improvement, you must give notice within ten days after said final hearing of your intention to pay in cash and if you do not give such notice of your intention to pay in cash within ten days the installments will be payable with interest added at the same rate that bonds bear interest.

Fire loss $500,000

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — Firemen battled for seven hours Wednesday to contain a blaze that damaged a dozen major waterfront buildings in the downtown area of this Ohio River community of 3,000.

Three structures were gutted and the rest damaged by fire, smoke or water. Fire Chief Charles Legar estimated damage at at least $500,000.

The main road through the county seat was blocked by firefighting equipment that came from eight towns, including Nelsonville 50 miles away and Ripley, W. Va., 20 miles away.

One fireman was treated for smoke inhalation.

The fire began near dawn in the basement of a three-story department store on the main route through the city, authorities said. It spread to adjacent structures which stretch a block wide.

Letters from readers of The Record-Herald

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I want to make some constructive comments regarding the reluctance of the Fayette County Commissioners to accept money from the federal government (Record-Herald, Jan. 27, 1976, "Commissioners Express Reluctance Over Accepting Federal Funding" by George Malek).

I can understand Mr. J. Herbert Perrill's opposition to federal handouts, Mr. Robert Mace's cautious approach, and Mr. Ray Warner's comment regarding the eventual curtailment of many of the federal programs, also Mr. Perrill's concern about the burden being placed on the citizen who is bearing the tax burden. Consider, the elderly are taxpayers. They have probably paid more taxes than the rest of us who are still working. It is their money also. Denying the elderly this opportunity is not a direct way to change the system.

We should tell elected representatives. The money has been authorized for the program. It is too late to say we are against it. What will happen if we persist? The money will be spent elsewhere. Certainly the elderly deserve help. The elderly are the least likely to be asking for help, while generally they deserve it the most.

The county did not want to accept CETA money, and as I recall, the reason was given that the county did not have the people to administer the CETA-PSE program. Could not unemployed people have been hired as CETA workers to administer the program?

Well, that is under the bridge now. The city is doing the job of administering the CETA program. The tax money for this program for the elderly doesn't come out of the commissioners' pockets any more so than it does mine or yours.

Would it not be logical to have the program administered by one of your tax paid agencies trained for such a program and staffed with trained professionals? Exactly what kind of help would be possible? The main point that I would like to make is that the taxes have been paid by all of us.

The federal government made the money available to help the elderly. If we don't like federal programs, it seems unfair and discriminatory to react by refusing to participate. I empathize with the county commissioners. They could be placed in a position to be criticized for participation in a program they find disagreeable due to the method of funding. They can be criticized for being too frugal, or for spending too much.

I think most of us would agree that we often tend to ignore the elderly. They have much to contribute to our community. It would be good for them and certainly good for us if they were more actively involved. Could not we more actively solicit their help with our current problems?

The pendulum has swung to excessive concern for youth. Let's put it back in perspective and be concerned for all people. Elderly people don't want pity or charity. They are in need of knowing they can participate.

They would need fewer pills if they were made to feel welcome in our total community affairs. They could help each other. They could administer the program. They could know of every person living alone. They could enrich their lives and ours by their organizing and our cooperation.

Who checks on people living alone to see if they need help? Who offers to help them with a multitude of simple problems that we enjoy, transportation, eating, etc.? Each generation feels that their problems are unique. We feel that older people cannot cope with our problems and are best ignored.

They have weathered more storms than we have. The problem is ours, not theirs. We are successful to the extent that we involve all our citizens in the total affairs of our community. No one segment is so self sufficient that they cannot benefit from interaction with all people. Our local retired elderly could organize with a director and work miracles. They just might do that. We would be blessed.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

As many of us are aware, there has been a conclave of the World Council of Churches in Nairobi, Kenya in Africa.

The thing about it all that might have puzzled you is the lack of anti-western hostility and, especially, invective against our own country which has failed to come forth from this meeting. In the first part of this letter, I want to tell you why.

In a most brazen and, as far as I know, completely unauthorized manner a U.S. clergyman, Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown stood before the

Pros enter bingo world

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A constitutional amendment, aimed at clarifying the legality of legitimate charitable bingo games, has encouraged professional gamblers to enter the market, legislators have been told.

The amendment, approved by voters in November, authorized the General Assembly to define what is charitable, and set guidelines for regulation of bingo games.

Three bills, designed to accomplish that task, were considered Wednesday by a joint House-Senate judiciary subcommittee.

In the meantime, according to David J. Young of the Catholic Conference of Ohio, the amendment, standing alone, has "invited more professionals to come in."

Snow flurries will continue over the northeastern section of Ohio tonight, with partial clearing elsewhere and lows in the teens.

Another low pressure system is moving southeastward from the Canadian plains and could produce snow Friday over much of Ohio.

A cold front moving through Ohio was expected to produce light snow or flurries over much of the state today, with up to an inch of new snow likely over northeastern counties. Morning temperatures ranged mostly in the 30s, with little change likely this afternoon because of colder air behind the front.

A chance of snow flurries Saturday through Monday. Highs in the 20s and 30s. Lows mostly in the teens.

Enjoy fast, economical cooking at a surprisingly low price with this Frigidaire Microwave Oven.

You can warm leftovers, cook snacks or prepare many complete meals in up to 75% less time with 50-75% less energy than conventional cooking. For example, a beef roast takes just minutes instead of hours; hot party canapés are done in about a minute. And the oven, oven walls and your kitchen stay cooler, thanks to the fact that microwaves heat only the food and eliminate heat buildup.

Baschnagel to speak at annual pork fete

Brian Baschnagel, co-captain of the 1975 Ohio State University football team, will be the featured speaker at the Fayette County Pork Producers Association's annual meeting and banquet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 5 in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

A pre-law honor student from Pittsburgh, Pa., Baschnagel has been the recipient of several honors as an outstanding scholar-athlete. He received a National Football Foundation Hall of Fame scholarship award to the top 11 student athletes in the nation, was a Rhodes Scholar finalist and received the NCAA's $1,500 scholarship for post graduate study.

Characterized by head coach Woody Hayes as the most versatile running back to ever play at Ohio State, Baschnagel was the team's leading receiver, had an average of 7.2 yards per carry, and held for field goals and returned punts and kickoffs. Baschnagel was a three-year starter for the Buckeyes and was instrumental in the team's Big Ten championship this past fall.

Baschnagel will talk on his experiences as a member of the highly-publicized team and will answer questions from the audience.

BRIAN BASCHNAGEL

Tickets for the banquet, priced at $4 per person, can be purchased from any member of the Fayette County Pork Producers Association or at the Fayette County Extension Service office on S. Fayette Street.

Business news

Dye named one of Mead's top salesmen during 1975

Douglas Dye, 510 Damon Drive, has been named one of the top salesmen of Mead Containers Corp. in 1975 and will join Dyna-MMO, Mead's sales recognition program. He will receive a vacation of his choice and will be honored at a dinner on February 16 in Cincinnati.

The Dyna-MMO program rates salesmen against each other on a point system in three major areas. The areas are dollar amount, volume of sales, and the extent to which those sales contribute to making the plant profitable.

Dye has been with Mead Containers, Corp. for 10 years. He started as personnel manager at the Cincinnati plant. A year later he became sales service manager at the Washington C. H. plant. Five years ago he was promoted to salesman.

Dye has a bachelor of science degree in business from Ohio State University. He and his wife, Karen, have two children, David and Kimberly.

Revenue bonds OK'd by agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Energy and Resource Development Agency trustees have voted to authorize the issuance of revenue bonds to Anchor Hocking Corp. of Lancaster.

Proceeds from the bonds are to be used to finance the drilling of 12 natural gas wells in northern Ohio.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Consolidate your financial position: Expand where it is warranted, retrench where necessary. Evaluate others' opinions carefully.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

You will do well to follow your own schedule and not become involved in affairs which do not essentially concern you. This is no time to go off on tangents.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Weighty matters will require much thought now; also a great deal of patience. Don't try to rush things through. Neither fear failure. Stress your innate optimism.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

A thoughtful review before beginning a day's program will speed up its fine potentialities for success. Especially favored: teachers, students, all engaged in the medical professions.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Careful deliberation will keep you from making unwise decisions, moves. Varied opinions on the same subject indicate a need for more study, investigation of facts.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not be upset by criticism. If constructive, it could actually show you new ways to capitalize on your inventiveness and skills.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

If you do not understand a situation, seek counsel from more experienced heads. Do not rely on guesswork. It could only lead to confusion.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mixed influences. In all endeavors, be selective and stress quality rather than quantity of effort. News from afar may surprise - pleasantly.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Consider all new propositions and suggestions carefully before accepting. Some deceptive influences, now prevalent, could lead to unpleasant involvements unless you are alert.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Do not let overoptimism lead you into making dubious investments. In fact, it would be a mistake to make any drastic changes in your financial set-up at the moment.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Do not let yourself be "thrown" by certain distractions. The well-developed Aquarian has unusual ability to concentrate on his objectives, so put it to use NOW.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Mixed influences. Special care needed in handling the affairs of others, in study, science, research, maritime affairs.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually independent, reliable, a striver always - and normally in an intelligent way. You may at times be given to useless ventures, though the whole life's picture of Aquarian shows so much ability and ceaseless energy that important accomplishment easily outweighs the hapless attempts. You may follow someone else's idea that is not quite right for success and eventually mold it into a workable, highly acceptable one.

Wrong man spends 19 days in jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Los Angeles men named Ramon Flores were born the same day, closely resemble each other, have nearly identical Social Security numbers and each is married with five children.

But one of them — the wrong one — spent Christmas and New Year's in jail.

The wrong Flores, 36, a factory worker, was at home napping last Dec. 19 when police knocked on the front door of his modest apartment. He was told a warrant charging him with murder had been issued for his arrest in connection with the death of a 17-year-old boy in Fresno.

He was read his rights, handcuffed and led away just as his pregnant wife and children, aged 2 to 12, were returning from a church function.

Flores told investigators he had never been to Fresno and that on the day of the killing he was at work.

Police said if he was telling the truth, he would soon be released.

But Flores was taken to Fresno on Dec. 22. He was arraigned Christmas

Eve and a public defender was appointed. A preliminary hearing was not scheduled until Jan. 7, and his own attorney did not even interview Flores in depth until New Year's Eve.

On Jan. 6, after witnesses said they did not recognize photos of the man in custody, police compared his fingerprints with those they had on file from the previous arrest record of a man named Ramon Flores. The next day, authorities admitted their error.

After 19 days in jail, one Ramon Flores was free.

Some Demos seeking two jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, Robert C. Byrd, Henry M. Jackson and Rep. Morris K. Udall have something in common besides their desire to be the Democratic presidential nominee: all are up for re-election to Congress this year.

All have said they expect to seek re-election to their current seats should they fail to win the nomination. For some it may be more difficult than others.

Byrd, according to campaign aides, is even considering erecting split billboards in his home state of West Virginia — one side urging voters to return him to the Senate, the other urging them to send him to the White House.

And Bentsen spent several days last week traveling around his home state of Texas holding news conferences announcing his decision to seek re-election.

In both West Virginia and Texas, the presidential primary falls on the same day as the Senate primary (May 1 for Texas, May 11 for West Virginia).

"It has become a logistical problem," said Bentsen press secretary Jack Devore. "It's been hard to get everything organized and to keep the campaigns separated."

A Federal Election Commission ruling requires candidates in such dual campaigns to set up separate finance committees and to maintain separate accounts.

"Sometimes, it's impossible to separate the two campaigns when he's physically in Texas campaigning," Devore conceded.

Bentsen has one Democratic opponent in his re-election bid, Texas A&M University economics professor Philip Gramm. As might be expected, Gramm has made the fact that Bentsen is campaigning for two offices at the same time a campaign issue.

Byrd thus far has no primary opposition in his re-election bid, although the filing deadline for West Virginia is not until Feb. 7.

"We don't anticipate there will be any serious opposition," said Allen Montgomery, Byrd's presidential campaign coordinator. "And after all, Bob Byrd is a pretty popular candidate in West Virginia."

Neither Jackson nor Udall has to file for re-election until after the July Democratic primaries, although both have indicated they plan to seek re-election should they fail to win the presidential nomination.

"Right now Udall is running for the presidency and the presidency alone," said Udall aide Bob Neuman. "He thinks he'll win the nomination, and that will make the question moot." Udall is from Arizona.

Would you like to earn $10,000 to $25,000 a year (and more) as a salesman? You can do it here in your own hometown. No overnight travel is required. We offer a comprehensive three year training program. You will receive excellent fringe benefits. There is an opportunity for rapid advancement.

Of the 20 individuals in sales positions in our various Ohio offices for two or more years, 8 earn in excess of $25,000 a year and 9 others earn between $10,000 and $25,000 a year. In recent years our top salespersons and their spouses have qualified for all expenses paid meetings in Caracas, Venezuela; Honolulu, Hawaii; the Costa del Sol, Spain; Rome, Italy; and Acapulco, Mexico.

We pay a starting income of up to $1,000 a month. A bonus plan makes it possible to earn in excess of $18,000 in your first year and in excess of $25,000 in the second year. We can prove this has been done. After the initial three year training period, our men and women are self-employed and completely independent.

A sales background and a college degree are desirable, but certainly not essential. Twelve of our salespersons are college graduates of whom 6 have Master's degrees. Others are high school graduates. We have successful individuals under 30 years of age. Other successful persons in our organization are grandparents.

We have no particular requirements — we are looking for honest, hard-working men and women who meet people well and who will work very hard and follow our proved sales system exactly.

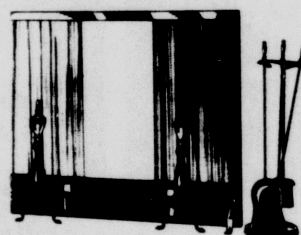

Take five minutes to investigate this challenging and rewarding career with a 65-year-old organization. Call our central office in Columbus (614) 224-1291 on Friday, January 30, between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m. and on Saturday morning, January 31, between 9:00 and 12:00 and ask for Mr. Richard Tice.

Blue Lions set for McClain rematch

BY MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

The Washington C.H. Blue Lions and the Greenfield McClain Tigers are making their way toward each other from opposite paths.

Last week, the Tigers spent their time trying to corral the Circleville Tigers and didn't have any success as they lost 58-52. Circleville was, and still is, in first place in the SCOL.

Last week, the Lions completely wasted a hapless Unioto team while improving everybody's scoring averages and crushing them 117-45.

Unioto was, and still is, in last place in the SCOL.

When they meet at McClain's new gym Friday night, Washington C.H. has everything to gain or lose and Greenfield has nothing to gain or lose. Court House, at 6-3 in the league, still has a remote chance at the crown chasing Circleville's 8-1 mark. The Tigers will have to wait until next year with their 4-5 record.

Nevertheless, this game will not be an easy win for either team. Greenfield, as well as Washington, has men who can put the ball through the hoop and men who can rebound.

Senior Steve Harvey, the mainstay of the Tiger offense for the past three years, anchors the scoring with a hefty 15.7 average. He also leads the team in rebounding by a large margin. Comparing statistics, it would seem that Harvey is almost all Greenfield has to offer in the way of talent. However, there are others who help in the offensive departments.

Chris Nelson, a 6-1 senior, averages 11.9 points a game. Eric Dunson, a junior guard with a good out-side shot, scores 10.3 points a game. Also starting for Greenfield will be guards Tim Dreher and Jim Jones. Dreher averages 8.8 a game while Jones throws in 6.6 every game and scored 14 against Circleville.

While McClain has only Harvey in scoring and rebounding, Washington C.H. offers two players that complement each other. Sophomore and senior sensations John Denen and Doug Phillips constantly score in double figures and bring down the rebounds in double figures to match.

Denen averages 15.2 points a game and Phillips carries a 15.1 average with him. A team can consider that they have had a victory when they limit Phillips and Denen to under 10 rebounds each.

Senior Chuck Byrd, the 5-10 playmaker, also averages in double figures for the Lions with a 13-2 mean. Ken Upthegrove will be in the pivot once again for the Blue Lions and he carries an average near eight points. Also starting will be Dee Hart Foster who averages nearly five tallies a game.

Sizing up the game, Harvey and Denen should counteract each other. But even if that should happen, McClain will still have to contend with Phillips and Byrd in the scoring department and Phillips and Upthegrove in the rebounding department. Although only playing one game last year and the league preview this year, Washington C.H. has never won on the Tigers' new multi-purpose floor.

There are a lot of question marks in this game and whoever gets the breaks will probably come out ahead.

Sparky's clubhouse meeting lit fire under champion Reds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sparky Anderson says he's not the type of baseball manager who thrives on clubhouse meetings.

But it was such a session, described by the easy-going Cincinnati Reds skipper as volatile, that turned the Reds around in 1975 and propelled them to baseball's World Series championship.

"I was hostile that night. And I don't like to do it. I have maybe one clubhouse meeting all season," said Anderson of an early season session with his players in Montreal.

The Reds, favored to win the National League West, had fallen 5½ games behind Los Angeles.

"We went 41-9 after that," said a chuckling Anderson during Cincinnati's winter press caravan Wednesday night.

"The Dodgers just disappeared. They had hit a bad streak at the same time. They won't be that way this year. They'll start strong. Tommy John is back," said the Reds' manager.

Anderson forecasts no Cincinnati weaknesses in 1976, but is concerned about getting hardhitting reserve Danny Driessen playing time.

"Danny's not happy. I don't blame him. He's probably the third best hitter on our club. But Tony (Perez) is a pretty hard guy to move out of there at first base," he said.

Early in the season, with a sprinkling of open dates, Anderson will use a pitching Big Four of right-handers Jack Billingham and Gary Nolan and lefties Don Gullett and Fred Norman.

"When we start playing every day," he said, "I'll go with five starting pitchers. Pat Darcy right now is the fifth starter. But he's got to hold that in spring training."

The switch of Pete Rose from left field to third base will remain permanent in 1976. Anderson moved the peppery Rose to the infield after the season started last year and the strategy helped turn the Reds into runaway division winners.

And the bullpen, anchored by youngsters Rawly Eastwick and Will McEnaney, remains one of the club's strong points despite the trade of veteran mainstay Clay Carroll to the Chicago White Sox.

"The Reds started training Will and me for this," Eastwick said of his relief specialty. "Nobody else was doing that in the minor leagues. They deserve the credit for the innovation."

The two bullpen stars combined for a 10-5 record. McEnaney, a free-spirited lefthander, posted a 2.47 earned run average. Eastwick, a hardthrowing right-hander, owned a 2.60 ERA after his recall from Indianapolis.

North Carolina tops Deacons

Wake Forest in tailspin

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Will the real Wake Forest basketball team please stand up?

At the beginning of the season, the Demon Deacons couldn't lose for winning. Now they can't win for losing.

"Right now, we just need a victory more than anything else to bring out the best in the team and get us back where we were in the beginning," Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy said Wednesday night following an 88-85 overtime loss to fourth-ranked North Carolina.

The loss was the fifth straight and sixth in the last seven games for Wake Forest, an enigmatic team that at one time had a 10-0 record and a place in the nation's Top Ten.

The Demon Deacons included North Carolina, North Carolina State and Maryland, three formidable Atlantic Coast Conference colleagues, among their victims earlier in the year.

But unfortunately two of the games did not count in the league standings and as a result, the onetime giant killers are saddled with a 1-5 ACC record and a dismal outlook for the near future.

"I think when you're in a winning rather than a losing streak like we've been in, you have a better chance of pulling out a game like we had tonight," Tacy said. "I think the team gave it everything they had and played well."

In other games involving ranked teams, seventh-ranked Maryland beat eighth-ranked North Carolina State 102-84; 10th-ranked Notre Dame routed DePaul 89-68 and No. 2 Virginia Tech crushed William and Mary 105-79.

Mitch Kupchak scored 26 points and Tom LaGarde added 19 to help North Carolina squeeze the life out of Wake Forest. Kupchak and LaGarde combined for five vital points in the overtime period as the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons 11-8.

The regulation game ended with the

Elk hoop shoot to continue

The Washington C. H. Elks Club will continue with its hoop shoot contest this Saturday for Fayette County youths.

Last Saturday, 8 and 9-year-olds competed at the Washington Middle School, and winners from two schools were announced. Jeff Shaw, who hit 14 of 25 freethrows, Rod Morgan and Jeff Cooper finished in the top three for Rose Avenue School while Phil Carter, Steve Leach and Roy Mustine were the top three shooters from Belle Aire School.

These six boys along with winners from Eastside and other area elementary schools will compete in the hoop shoot finals next month as Washington Senior High School.

This Saturday, boys and girls between 10-11 years of age will have a chance to qualify at the Middle School. Contestants, who have not signed up at their schools, can register before the hoop shoot at 9 a.m.

score tied at 77 as Wake Forest's Skip Brown missed what could have been the winning basket in the last two seconds. The victory gave North Carolina an ACC-leading 6-1 record and a 14-2 record overall.

Guards John Lucas and Mo Howard combined for 59 points, with Lucas equaling his career high with 34, as Maryland beat North Carolina State.

"This is a particular good win for us coming off two straight losses," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driessel. "I think it proves we still have an excellent team."

Adrian Dantley moved into second place on the all-time Notre Dame scoring list with 31 points to lead the Fighting Irish past DePaul. Russell Davis converted 19 free throws and scored 27 points to pace Virginia Tech past William and Mary.

Celtic pride tops Atlanta

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics have won 12 National Basketball Association championships with a basketful of talent, but their biggest asset through the years has been something intangible.

It's called "pride" — and that's what the Celtics used to beat the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night, according to Cotton Fitzsimmons.

"Celtics pride turned it around," said the Atlanta coach after losing a 110-99 decision at the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

"They were ripe for a beating. We had a tough game in New York Tuesday night, but I felt if we could control the tempo we had a good chance. We did — right up to the third period."

"They broke our patterns with their pushing and shoving. The difference in the game was Celtics' pride. They won. It's no reflection on our team. We are young and don't have a history like the Celtics."

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn was less romantic in his assessment of the game.

Western Michigan perfect in MAC

Miller's Broncos glide by Miami

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan Coach Eldon Miller says a change in strategy in the second half was a key to the Bronco's surprisingly easy 82-68 basketball triumph over Miami Wednesday night.

The victory gave Western undisputed possession of first place in the Mid-American Conference with a 7-0 record and was the team's 15th straight this season.

"We went to last year's offense—going to the middle first," Miller said. That opened up the corner offense. We also got more out of (Tom) Cutter and (Paul) Griffin that way."

Cutter scored 20 points and pulled down 11 rebounds while Griffin tallied 10 points and blocked five Miami shots as the Broncos handed Miami its first loss in seven league games.

In other Mid-American Conference action, Toledo defeated Ohio University 79-75, Central Michigan edged Ball State 66-64 and Eastern Michigan whipped Northern Illinois 83-70.

Playing outside the league, Bowling Green trounced Cleveland State 101-66 and Kent State was victimized by South Carolina 75-61.

Western Michigan led Miami nearly the entire game and held a 39-32 advantage at halftime. The Redskins never got closer than five points in the second period.

"Our defense played very well," Miller said. "We went to a lot of people in the first half who played exceptionally well. We couldn't afford to go into the second half with people having a lot of fouls, especially with Miami's depth."

Miami, led by Paul Shoemaker with 20 points, managed to hit only 38 per cent of its shots from the field, while Western scored on a respectable 57 per cent.

Toledo took over third place in the MAC standings with a 5-2 record by beating the Bobcats, who dropped to fourth at 4-2. The Rockets shot a hot 61 per cent from the field and were paced by Larry Cole with 22 points.

Central Michigan fought back from a 13-point deficit in the second half and beat Ball State on Denny Parks' layup with 16 seconds remaining in the game. Central now is 3-4 in the conference, while Ball State recorded its sixth loss in seven games.

Eastern Michigan, paced by Bill Weaver, went on a 14-point scoring spree in the second half for a come-from-behind conquest of Northern Illinois. Weaver led all scorers with 20 points as Eastern notched its first MAC triumph in seven games. Northern is 0-7.

Bowling Green racked up its biggest score of the season in beating Cleveland State—but it was a costly victory. Starting junior guard Dan Hipsher suffered a broken bone in his left foot and team officials said he will be out of action for four to six weeks.

Guard Tommy Harris scored 26 points for the Falcons.

Kent State rallied late in the game,

closing to within four points of South Carolina, but its top scorer, Cortez Brown, with 20 points, fouled out and South Carolina extended its lead again.

In other major Ohio college basketball action, Dayton fell to Louisville 83-74 after having led almost the entire first half and holding a 38-36 margin at intermission. Louisville had a slim 75-74 lead with 3:02 remaining before it scored the final eight points of the game.

In Ohio Conference play, Ohio Northern took over sole possession of the Northern Division lead with a 64-63 victory over Heidelberg, while Otterbein tightened its grip on first place in the Southern Division by beating Ohio Wesleyan 92-83.

Northern and Heidelberg had shared the North lead with 4-1 records going into their game, won with two seconds to play on Al Donhoff's jump shot.

Otterbein improved its record in the South to 6-0 as Dave Bromley led the attack with 25 points.

Marietta trimmed Capital 61-60 in another Ohio Conference contest as Jeff Faloba poured in 28 points and hit the winning basket with 11 seconds remaining on the clock.

Bluffton sailed to a 92-77 victory over Hanover in a Hoosier-Buckeye Conference game.

Trace Biddy cage league underway

The seven-team Miami Trace Biddy Basketball League completed its second week of action Saturday.

Wilson leads the league with a perfect 2-0 mark and Madison Mills, which drew a bye last Saturday, is in second with a 1-0 mark.

Wayne, New Holland and Bloomingburg all sport 1-1 records and the Jeffersonville Sixth Grade and Fifth Grade team are both winless.

For Presidential Classroom program

WSHS seniors Washington-bound

Have you ever watched one of those news conferences on television and wished that you could be there to ask the question nobody else dared to ask?

Three Washington Senior High School seniors will have the opportunity in just a couple of weeks and as they have been selected to go to Washington, D.C., joining other high school students from throughout the nation in the week-long "Presidential Classroom for Young Americans."

Washington Senior High School Principal Fred Jones announced that Sue A. Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Moore, 178 Eastview Drive, Daniel C. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester V. Dean, 507 Frank St., and Thomas U. Anderson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert U. Anderson, 16 Hali Drive, will be participating the "Presidential Classroom for Young Americans" during the month of February.

Miss Moore will be attending Feb. 21-28; Dean, Feb. 7-14 and Anderson, Feb. 14-21.

Since its inception in 1968, the non-profit, non-partisan Presidential Classroom has hosted over 11,000 students in the nation's capital. The classroom program is designed to promote a greater understanding of the federal government through personal contact with its institutions and leaders. Students live in a Washington area hotel, and attend seminars and discussions led by key Washington officials.

The three Washington Senior High School students will have the opportunity to study all three branches of the federal government, in depth, and to gain an increased understanding of the issues and personalities which directly influence the conduct of political affairs on the national level.

But, says Presidential Classroom executive director Angie Whitaker, that's not all as "the meetings with prominent people in the Washington-community are only part of the classroom experience. According to the students themselves, equally important is the opportunity to exchange ideas and points of view with their peers from distant areas of the country."

Ms. Whitaker also stresses that a student's participation will often involve not only the student and his school, but the entire community as well. Upon their return home, many students are asked to be guest speakers before local community organizations, and share their Washington experience with others.

Enrollment for the 1976 high school program has already closed; all available spaces have been filled. However, classroom officials recently announced that applications for the Presidential classroom summer program are now being accepted. The summer program is designed to meet the specific needs of a different population — educators, administrators, government employees, employees of government-related programs, graduate students and undergraduates majoring in political science or government.

While the summer program's curriculum format closely parallels that of the high school program, there are some basic differences. First, each of three classes in the summer program runs for two weeks instead of one; second, participants may elect to enroll in the program for three hours of either graduate or undergraduate credit from the University of Virginia; and third, workshops are added to the daily schedule to complement the regular seminar sessions.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

The State of Ohio, Fayette County, Harold A. Hise, Treasurer of Fayette County, Ohio Plaintiff

Charles Blanton, et al. Defendants No. C1-75-197

In pursuance of an Order of Sale in the above entitled action, I will offer for sale at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Washington C. H., Ohio, in the above named County, on Friday, the 5th day of March, 1976, at 2:30 o'clock P.M., the following described real estate, situate in the Township of Union, County of Fayette and State of Ohio, V.M.S. 9076 to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the centerline of U. S. Route 22 at northeast corner of the 2.03 acre tract conveyed to Pearl Blanton by deed recorded in Deed Book 86, page 376, Fayette County Recorder's Office, said point bears north 79 deg. 59' W. a distance of 361.35 feet from the intersection of the center line of U. S. Route 22 and the north right-of-way line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Thence S. 5 deg. 14' along the east line of said 2.04 acre tract, a distance of 114.70 feet to an iron pipe in the north right-of-way line of the Pennsylvania Railroad; thence S. 82 deg. W. along the north right-of-way line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a distance of 147.59 feet to an iron pipe.

Thence N. 5 deg. W. along a new line through said 2.04 acre tract and parallel to the east line of said 2.04 acre tract a distance of 160.51 feet to a point in the centerline of U. S. Rt. 22.

Thence S. 79 deg. 59' E. along the centerline of U. S. Rt. 22 a distance of 144.35 feet to the place of beginning, containing .4543 acres and subject to all legal highways.

Said Premises Located at 4602 U. S. Rt. 22, South East, Rt. 1, New Holland, Ohio 43145.

Said premises to be sold to the highest bidder.

TERMS OF SALE: 10 per cent down on day of sale and balance on delivery of deed within 30 days.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

AWARDED TO SCHOOLS
NEW YORK (AP) — Four U. S. colleges and conservatories have been selected to receive $8,000 in the 1975 Raymond Hubbell Scholarships, according to Stanley Adams, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The institutions, to receive $2,000 each to assist young composers, performers and future teachers, are Appalachia State University, Boone, N.C., the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music of the University of Cincinnati in Ohio, the University of Nevada in Las Vegas and Middle Tennessee State University at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The scholarships draw their income from the estates of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hubbell. Hubbell, who died in 1954, was a founding member of ASCAP in 1914 and composed "Poor Butterfly."

Whalen running for 6th term

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, has announced he will seek reelection to a sixth term in the House.

Whalen, who was unopposed in 1974, was re-elected in each of his last three contested races by approximately 75 per cent of the vote.

The Whalen for Congress Committee will limit itself to contributions no larger than $100, he said.

Family loses contents of home in rural fire

A Fayette County family lost the contents of their Miami Trace Road home in an early morning fire Thursday.

The blaze broke out at 6:20 a.m. around a wood burning stove and spread to the rest of the house occupied by the Robert Taylor family located on the Robert Coffman farm. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies on the scene reported Taylor attempted to subdue the fire with water but it had too much of a head start. Concord-Green Township firefighters were summoned but by the time the fire was put out, the home's contents had been consumed and the home itself severely gutted.

Sheriff's deputies reported no insurance on the contents and no injuries to Taylor, his wife, nor their five children.

A gas explosion rocked Clark's Cardinal food store, 747 W. Elm St. at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday. Washington C.H. Fire Lt. William Smith and fireman Ronnie Cox were dispatched to the scene, but found no fire. Lt. Smith stated they were able to locate the gas leak and Dayton Power and Light Co. workers were contacted to shut the gas off until repairs could be made. There was no fire and apparently little damage from the explosion.

Team candidacy plan slated for June 6 ballot in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans probably will be asked on the June 8 ballot if they want to elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team, instead of under the existing system that elected men of opposite political parties.

The House revived Wednesday an embattled constitutional resolution that had languished in a joint conference committee for months. It was approved 61-36—just one vote more than the three-fifths majority required in the 99-member House.

Although the Senate still must act on the conference committee report, the six-member panel agreed on it unanimously, indicating Senate approval is likely. If approved by voters, the first governor-lieutenant governor team would appear on the November 1978 ballot.

In other action, the Senate added its approval to a House measure that creates 28 new judgeships in Ohio—including three each in the 1st and 8th District Courts of Appeals, in Cincinnati and Cleveland, respectively.

The other 20 judgeships would be created in existing courts of common pleas in the following manner: Geauga, Hancock, Lawrence, Marion, Ross, and Trumbull Counties would get one new judge each. Cuyahoga would get six new judges, Franklin, three; Montgomery, three, and Lucas, two.

Sponsors predicted the House will go along with Senate changes in the measure, sending it to Gov. James A. Rhodes. It carries an emergency clause, giving it immediate effect.

In other developments, the Democratic chairmen of the legislature's two finance committees introduced a revised budget for the commerce department.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said the bill will increase funding to enable the financially troubled department to carry out inspections and examinations required by the various divisions, including savings and loans and the state fire marshal's office.

However, the chairmen—who want to transfer consumer protection activities into the office of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat, said they will provide no funds to continue the department's consumer protection division for the remainder of the biennium.

Community Ed. report

By HANK SHAFFER
Program Director

We are going to start out this week's article with a couple of statements on what the Community Education advisory council feel are the goals of Community Education here in the Washington C. H. area. Our goals are:

(1) To identify the needs, wants and desires of individuals and groups through communication with them.

(2) To identify the human and physical resources of the community.

(3) To help with the development of community-initiated programs and services by appropriate agencies to provide for unmet needs.

(4) Full utilization of the public schools as well as other public facilities of the community.

(5) The involvement of the total community toward individual and group self-sufficiency, and development of skills to meet that goal.

We feel that these are realistic goals and we will continue to strive toward attaining them.

This past Monday and Tuesday evenings, we held our open house registration for the classes to start next week. More than 220 people signed up for the various classes including cake decorating, knitting, quilting, ceramics, guitar lessons, sewing, crochet, photography, bookkeeping, typing, speed reading, and Fayette County history. These classes will begin this coming week and can still be gotten into by calling us at the Community Education office, 335-6621. Cake decorating, and sewing are the only two classes that are closed at this time. The charge for the classes is between $4.50 and $10 depending upon how many instructional hours are involved.

Last Saturday morning, the local Elks Lodge No. 129 held their "hoop shoot" for eight and nine year olds throughout the county. Many schools are having their own shoot and are sending their winners to the finals on February 14 at the Middle School gym. Those participating at the Middle School last Saturday were from Rose Avenue and Belle Aire. The winners advancing to the finals of that age group were: Rose Avenue — Jeff Shaw, Rod Morgan and Jeff Cooper; and Belle Aire — Phil Carter, Steve Leach and Roy Mustain.

This week at the Middle School gym, the 10 and 11 year olds are eligible to participate. There is no charge for the contest and those interested should meet at the Middle School gym at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

WSHS grad recognized in university's magazine

DELAWARE, O. — William Junk, a senior majoring in politics and government at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, has received recognition in the Student Scholar magazine for his paper on "A Critical Analysis of the G.A.O. as an Effective Arm of Congress." The paper was submitted to the politics and government department as a summary of a term spent in Washington, D. C. for research.

The Student Scholar magazine, an annual compilation of scholarly works by students from every university department, contains papers of superior quality recommended for inclusion by supervising professors.

Junk, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Junk, 107 E. Circle Ave.

G.A.O., Junk points out, is supposed to serve Congress as an auditor and accountant. The four-chapter paper examines the history, organization and work of G.O.A. The final chapter consists of interviews with G.A.O. officials about how G.A.O. could be more effective.

Most officials felt the G.A.O. was used effectively by Congress, but could be used alot more. Junk concludes, "If the G.A.O. could be expanded in the future, it is my belief that Congress would be more efficient."

Driver critically injured

A Dayton man is listed in critical condition at University Hospital in Columbus from a head-on collision he was involved in early Thursday morning.

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported a car driven by Douglas Richardson, 38, Dayton, traveled left of center on U.S. 35 in Paint Township and struck a semi-truck driven by Carl Penwell, 62, of 506 W. Elm St., head-on. Richardson, who was pinned in the wreckage, suffered facial lacerations and other injuries not yet diagnosed. His car was demolished.

Penwell was not injured, but the front of his semi-truck incurred severe damage. The mishap is still under investigation by highway patrol officers.

Democrats override Ford veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats who overrode President Ford's veto of a $45-billion spending bill now are moving toward a new confrontation over a $61-billion public works measure that backers claim would create some 800,000 jobs.

Beside authorizing money for projects designed to create jobs, the public works bill before the House today would grant federal funds during times of high unemployment to state and local governments faced with the alternatives of firing employees or raising taxes.

The Ford administration opposes the measure, and House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona described it as a prime target for a veto if it is passed.

The measure comes up for floor action a day after the Democratic-controlled Congress overrode Ford's veto of a bill funding politically popular health, welfare and job programs at a level almost $1 billion above the President's budget.

Ford lost his first spending battle of the election-year session Wednesday when the Senate voted 70 to 24 to override the veto. The margin was seven more than the two-thirds vote needed to override. The House voted Tuesday to override, 310 to 113.

Ford, in vetoing the measure, said it would "contribute to excessive deficits and needless inflationary pressures." He said the measure would add 8,000 people to the federal payroll, saying, "I find it difficult to believe the majority of the American people favor increasing the number of employees on the federal payroll."

Arrests

POLICE

TUESDAY — Ervin W. Carrier, 75, Hillsboro, failure to yield right of way.

WEDNESDAY — Carter Wilson, 31, of 909 1/2 E. Temple St., warrant from Richland County, Olney, Ill., for indecent solicitation of a child and unlawful restraint; Gregory T. Shirin, 47, Columbus, reckless operation.

THURSDAY — Bennie C. Self, 50, of 305 N. Main St., driving while intoxicated.

SHERIFF

WEDNESDAY — David A. Morgan, 25, Lexington, Ky., speeding; a 16-year-old Greenfield girl, warrant for juvenile delinquency; a 17-year-old Greenfield boy, warrant for juvenile delinquency through probation violation.

Driver cited in city crash

Washington C. H. police cited a Columbus man for recklessness after he was involved in an accident Wednesday and left the scene. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated two traffic mishaps and reported an area girl charged with a traffic offense.

POLICE

WEDNESDAY, 10:33 a.m. — A truck driven by Gregory T. Shirin, 47, Columbus, struck the walk — don't walk sign at the intersection of Fayette and Court streets while pulling into a parking space. Shirin failed to report the accident and was stopped by police at Clark's Cardinal food store, W. Elm Street, at 11:58 a.m. He was charged with reckless operation.

SHERIFF

THURSDAY, 7:30 a.m. — A rear-end collision on U. S. 35-NW, two-tenths of a mile west of Jamison Road involved cars driven by Garel S. Cockerill, 16, Stafford Road, and Don M. Wilson, 38, of 2127 U.S. 35-NW. Sheriff's deputies reported severe damage to both autos and cited Ms. Cockerill for failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

WEDNESDAY, 3:50 p.m. — Cars driven by Opal Jenks, 79, Jamestown, and Charles L. Wilson, 31, Jeffersonville, backed into each other on Main Street in Jeffersonville. Deputies estimated damage as slight.
